40 YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. Colon S. Ober Observe Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Colon S. Ober entertained a large company of friends at an informal reception on Wednesday evening, the occasion being a celebration of the fortieth anniversary of their wedding.

More than 150 friends assembled at their residence on Central street which was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Ober were the recipients of quantities of roses and pink, arranged in bunches, 40 in a bunch.

The living room had large masses of Jack roses and daybreak pinks and in the dining room where refreshments were served, roses and pink were used in pleasing arrangement on the table.

The servers were the Misses Lucy Turner, Irma Richardson, Heloise Kennedy, Helen Baker and Miss Denett.

Among the many remembrances received was a gift from the neighbors, of a beautiful brass mounted mahogany tray with a silver mounted casseroles, silver knives and forks and a pie-server.

Rev. Mr. Phipps of Wellesley, the clergyman who officiated at their wedding forty years ago, was among the guests and read a very interesting original poem; there were also four of Mrs. Ober's school-day friends present.

Mr. and Mrs. Ober received from 7.30 until 9.30 in the reception room, and Miss Mabel Ober and Miss Jessie Peabody assisted about the rooms in the entertainment of the guests.

Included among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Francis N. Peloubet, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Strong, Mr. and Mrs. William Fuller, Miss Margaret Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Chandler and Miss Gladys Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Benedict, Miss Gertrude E. Wightman, Miss Helen M. Crane, Miss Anna M. Farrington, Dr. and Mrs. Chessman, J. Hutchinson, Captain and Mrs. Halsey, Mrs. M. E. Herron, Mrs. M. G. McAllister, Dr. and Mrs. William C. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Gore, Miss Pennington and Mrs. Charles E. Kennedy.

AWARDED PRIZE

The first McLaughlin prize at Yale, consisting of the income of $1100 as a memorial of Edward Tompkins McLaughlin, has been awarded to Richard de Zeng Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Pierce of Walnut street, Newtonville, for his essay on "The Historical Value of Carlyle's French Revolution."

Mr. Pierce was a pupil at the Feeder School, West Newton, for two years, after which he attended Newton High for two years, and last June was graduated from the Berkshire School, Sheffield, Mass. He is now a freshman in the academic department at Yale.

While at Newton High he won the golf championship of the school, and last year won a gold medal for best score in qualifying round of the Inter-scholastic Golf Championship. Last year at Berkshire he was captain of the baseball team, one of the editors of the school paper and leader of the school orchestra.

DISTRICT SCHOOL

Pleasing Entertainment at Newton Methodist Church

A large company assembled in the vestry of the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening to witness the performance of the "District School of Blueberry Corners," which was presented under the direction of the young people of the Epworth League. For two hours merriment reigned supreme, the young people being ably assisted by several of their elders who assumed the roles of school children in a ridiculously funny fashion, causing one continuous ripple of amusement among the audience.

The program opened with a school committee meeting, the members of the committee being Mr. Earl H. Barber and H. H. Hawkins, under the chairmanship of Mr. Elliston H. Bell.

These dignified gentlemen had some difficulty in the selection of a suitable teacher and after several interviews with rather flippant lady applicants, headed by Miss Winona Webster as "Miss Dashaway," Miss Lucy Hawkins as "Bellinda Sharp," and Helen Forsyth as "Sally Simple," who proved themselves very unsuitable for the position to the great amusement of their friends.

Then came Mr. Ralph Barber as "Hezekiah Pendergrass," who made such a good impression on the committee, especially when asked his method of dealing with unruly scholars and he replied that he would "impress upon them the sin of disobedience by use of the rod."

It is needless to say he got the "job" and proceeded at once to become acquainted with his class, and such a class as it was! Nothing in our city schools could compare with it. When the bell rang and the children assembled they presented a very comical sight with their gingham aprons, patched trousers, unkempt hair and funny faces.

Mr. Frank O. Barber, as "Slim Dipsey," always in trouble, was a "scream." "Slim" was a farmer's boy and just at the beginning of the session, "Slim," who had evidently been tending the cows, convulsed the audience by rushing in late and shouting, "Oh, that pesky heifer!" and tumbled head over heels on the platform at the teacher's desk.

The classes in grammar, arithmetic, geography and especially the spelling match, were all very amusing features and it was remarkable to note how well the "crown-ups" could assume the juvenile roles.

Mrs. Vernon B. Skett, Mrs. D. F. Barber, Mr. J. Wesley Barber, and Mr. Charles H. Peterson, primer class scholars, were especially good, and caused no end of amusement among their friends.

Mr. Arthur Flinn as a four-year-old, Mr. George W. Barber, the boy who hesped, and Mr. Ralph Forsyth, the boy who stuttered, contended greatly to the entertainment, and Mr. Wellington Howes, Jr., O. H. Chase, Wallace Cox, E. H. Bell, Mrs. George W. Barber, Mrs. Arthur Flinn, Mrs. H. H. Walley, Florence Barber, Emily Day, Ruth Foote and Elsa Leonard, were simply great and looked and acted their parts to perfection.

THE PLAYERS

The Players are presenting a notable production of Barrie's "The Little Minister" this week at Players Hall, West Newton, with regular performances on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights and a special performance this evening, for the benefit of the Social Service League of the Newton Hospital. The cast includes Miss Margaret Hatfield, Miss Margaret Tapley, Miss Annis Kendall, Miss Ethel Jaynes, and Messrs. E. I. Locke, J. R. Osgood Perkins, Waldo Glidden, William Williams, Leslie C. Perkins, Stuart Chase, G. M. Angier, R. G. Whiting, P. W. Carter, W. F. Herriek, Robert Jowett and Dr. L. H. Naylor. Mrs. Francis Newhall was acting manager and Mr. Arthur G. Hosmer was stage manager.

At the recent annual election these officers were chosen, President, Mr. George R. Pulsifer; vice president, Mr. Waldo F. Glidden; clerk, Mr. Harry L. Burrage; treasurer, Hon. Chas. E. Hatfield; directors, Mrs. Francis Newhall, Miss Margaret Hatfield and Mr. Arthur G. Hosmer.

MRS. AREND ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Frank A. Arend entertained at bridge on Saturday evening at her residence on Windsor road, Waban, the occasion being complimentary to her guest, Miss Edith Butterfield of Chicago.

The game was auction bridge and eight tables were arranged in the parlor, living-room and hall, which were beautifully decorated with pink Killarney roses.

The first prize for ladies was taken by Mrs. A. G. Wellman of Newton Highlands; Mrs. Langley of Brookline took the second and to Miss Phyllis Cleveland of Newton Highlands was awarded the third.

Mr. A. G. Wellman was the winner of the first prize for gentlemen and Mr. Robinson took second prize. The consolation prize was carried off by Mr. Bert Elliott.

NEWTON WINS TWO

Wellesley and Watertown Defeated at Base Ball

Newton High proved the master of the Wellesley H. S. team in every department of the game last Tuesday on Clafin Field, Newtonville, emerging from the contest with 14 tallies, while the visitors were blanked. The day was not the best for a contest, and the crowd, as in each case this season, was small.

Coach Dickinson has uncovered a star performer in Conlon, the former Upper Falls pitcher, who during the seven innings in which he performed, allowed the visitors but two scant hits, and had perfect control at all times. Wellesley connected for a single in the second and another in the third, but in both cases the bases were unoccupied.

With a lead of 14 runs, Coach Dickinson sent Dave Higgins to the slab, but his delivery also fooled the opposing batsmen, striking out the first and last batsmen, and forcing the other to roll an easy grounder to the infielders. Curry was given ragged support by the Wellesley fielders, 12 errors being chalked up against them. Many of these were directly responsible for one or more runs. In the sixth inning Hyatt and Wellman singled, but five errors in a row by the Wellesley players allowed 5 tallies to cross the plate. Five errors were also made in the fourth inning, which also netted the Newton team 5 more runs.

The three pitchers that performed with perfect control, as not a single all had perfect control, as not a single free pass was issued during the game, an incident which is very rare in school boy baseball. Curry's delivery was perplexing to many of the Newton batsmen, as he fanned 8 during the contest, O'Neil falling a victim three times in his five trips to the plate.

Ralph Hyatt has apparently found his batting eye, as he connected for three hits, including a triple to deep center in the fourth, which sent home two runs. Bryson and White also batted well.

Those that witnessed the ball game last Saturday afternoon on Clafin Field between the Newton High and Watertown High nines, were given a rare treat. In watching Jasper Johnston, the one arm fielder on the Watertown team perform in the outer garden. Although the visitors were defeated 10 to 2, there were flashes of good playing, Johnston making two difficult catches, and dropping a third after a long chase.

Higgins was sent into the box for the first time this season and made a very creditable showing, being touched up for four hits, including a double. Newton was credited with 10 hits, but these came at opportune times. Perkins, the leader of the Watertown team, got out of a bad hole in the second, when with the bases full and two out, he forced O'Neil to pop an easy fly, which he corraled.

Capt. Spalding was sent to the box in the sixth inning, and held the visitors entirely at his mercy in the remaining rounds. Out of the eleven men used in the game for Newton, but five were successful in making hits. DeRusha and Spalding each making three, Conlon and Harris were credited with the remaining ones.

ANNUAL MEETING

The 36th Annual Meeting of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association will be held on May 5, at 8 o'clock. The program includes the election of officers, Annual Report, Address by S. M. Snayford, Boys' Orchestra, singing and refreshments.

CHURCH CONSECRATED

Services At St. John's Episcopal Church

A most beautiful and impressive Consecration Service was held Sunday morning at St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville.

Before ten o'clock every available seat was taken and many were disappointed in being unable to gain admission.

The usual consecration service was conducted by Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, Bishop of Massachusetts, assisted by Arch-deacon Babcock, Rev. Mr. Eustis and Rev. Richard T. Loring, rector, and the church was consecrated in the name of St. John.

A Reredos, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Crocker, in memorial of their son, Donald, was put in place for the first time.

consisting of violin, 'cello and organ selections which included a "Serenade" by Widor; Rubinstein's "Melody in F," arranged as a trio; "Andante Religioso" by Thome; "La Ghetto" from the Coronet Quintet, by Mozart. Assisting in the program were Miss Mason, organist, Mrs. Richard T. Loring, violinist, and Mr. Malcolm Ide, cellist. The anthems by the choir were finely rendered.

The session of the International Institute of Agriculture, continuing several days, includes a reception to the American commission by the king and queen of Italy.

At the close of the session the commission will resume its itinerary, which includes Italy, Hungary, Austria, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Holland, Belgium, France, England and Ireland, extending over about seventy days.

MAY QUEEN CROWNED

Miss Catherine Carter of Washington, D. C., was crowned as May Queen yesterday afternoon at Lasell Seminary, with Miss Isabella Collins of Bainbridge, N. Y., as maid of honor, and Marjorie Winslow of Auburndale as the mascot.

Shortly after 4.30 the senior class, in caps and gowns, marched to the campus. Their arrival was received with cheers. Next to arrive on the grounds were the juniors, who came from their dormitory like a band of gypsies. The school wagon was covered by the girls and placed into commission, and this was loaded with students while many walked beside it.

Orange and black, the class colors of the sophomores, made known the appearance of this class. Each member wore a large orange hat, trimmed with black and carried a bouquet of flowers. The freshmen wore pink and white sunbonnets.

The special students also took part in the affair. Their special delegate, Miss Olive Smith, riding horseback, with a green banner flying, paid the tribute from the "specials" to the May Queen.

With the arrival of the classes, the seniors started the festivities going with the singing of the class song. At the conclusion of this Miss Elizabeth Linn of Brookline, vice president of the class, performed the duties of director in place of the president, Miss Georgiana Fankbender, who is ill, and proceeded to one corner of the court and escorted the "May Queen" to the throne, amid much enthusiasm.

The new queen on being crowned thanked the members of the senior class for the high honor which they bestowed upon her, after which the Maypole Dance was started.

After the coronation the seniors performed the annual ceremony of planting the Ivy near the "Crow's" Nest. The first spade of dirt was put about the roots by Miss Elizabeth Linn, after which each member did her share, and the spade was given over to Miss Dora Goodwillie of Chicago, president of the junior class, who will conduct a like ceremony next year. The exercises came to a close with a reception and supper in the dining hall of the school.

NOTED PAINTER DEAD

Mr. Louis K. Harlow, noted for his paintings and etchings, and for many years a well-known resident of Waban, died on Wednesday night at the home of his son, Mr. Arthur B. Harlow, on Kent road, Waban.

He was a native of Wareham, and as a boy studied drawing with an old English artist. He was graduated from Phillips Academy, and soon entered mercantile life. His natural love for painting and drawing induced him when about 30 to give up mercantile work and to engage rooms in the Studio Building. There he started the great career for which nature intended him.

In 1885 he gave his first important exhibition, and his work made an immediate hit with art-loving people. Commissions kept him busy thereafter. He is credited with being one of the best known of the early teachers who have such an impetus to art in the city of Detroit, and there he is especially well remembered and respected.

His work has shown great versatility as he has treated a number of subjects, flowers and figures, architecture, interiors, land and sea scenes, in addition to doing much compiling and illustrating.

Mr. Harlow is survived by a widow, two sons, Arthur B. Harlow of Waban and Ralph L. Harlow of Brookline and one daughter, Mrs. R. M. Bailey, Jr., of Dedham.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the home of his son.

Specialized Banking Service

Many banks look with favor on all classes of legitimate business and endeavor to serve all classes. As competition grows, however, and as related industries gradually center in one locality, banks have begun to specialize in certain lines of commerce.

The Lincoln Trust Company, while it is equipped to handle all classes of financial business, specializes to quite an extent in the banking requirements of wholesalers in the shoe, leather and textile lines, whose business is centered in the section of the city in which this institution is located.

Crawford Ranges

Any iron worker can make a box with a fire in one end and call it a cooking stove.

It may in outward appearance impress you favorably—and—if you want a cooking stove merely to look at it may be satisfactory.

But—if you want a cooking stove that will cook your food perfectly, that banishes toil and trouble, that is so easy to manage and so sure in results that cooking becomes a joy—its name is Crawford.

The Single Damper (patented) regulates better than two dampers; the curved Cup-Joint flues heat the oven in every part alike; there is an Ash Hod instead of the clumsy old ash pan. These are not found in any other range.

EDITORIAL

The situation regarding the recent increase of 25 cents per day verbally authorized by the mayor to be granted the most efficient men in the various city departments, is most unsatisfactory. The heads of departments are not only embarrassed by the responsibility of picking out the men who are worthy of the increase, but are also handicapped by the fact that the appropriations for their departments for 1913 were made on the old basis of wages and any considerable increase would mean a shortage later in the year or the accomplishment of considerable less work. There is also no co-operation as to what grades of men these raises should apply, some officials granting it to men who have been earning as high as $2.75 per day in the past while others believe it should apply only to the lower grades of pay. The matter needs prompt attention and a clear cut, definite program mapped out and followed, so that the men as well as the heads of departments can know what can and what cannot be done.

DUSTLESS ROADS

"The essential principles to be studied in the effort to secure dustless roads are clearly defined. One is that chemically the road, material and the dust-laying preparation must blend so as to form a perfect bond or union.
The necessary information may be gained either by experimenting or by chemical analysis. The latter method costs less, and is likely to be more satisfactory.

"Another principle to be observed is, that the treatment which is successful on a street of light travel may not be successful on one where the traffic is heavy; and, conversely, the treatment which is satisfactory on the main street may be entirely different from that required by the side street, which is less used.

"With any treatment, however adequate it may be under existing conditions, the primary factor for dustlessness in suburban streets is to keep them swept."—Suburban Life Magazine

POLICE NOTES

Sergt. Mullen and Patrolmen Lee-han and Reeves broke up a poker game which was in progress at 30
Ripley street, Newton Centre, shortly after 2 o'clock Monday morning, and placed the four men participating in the game under arrest. In court this morning a fine of $10 was imposed upon each. The front door of the house was left open, and after the officers were inside they lighted the gas jet, when the door in the room upstairs was opened and one of the players made his exit to another room.
Sergt. Mullen went upstairs and into the room, the players not noticing him until he had the pot, containing $13.62 in his hand. The men were taken to headquarters and gave their names as follows: Irving Burns, Stephen Furden, Hugh J. McDonald and Hugh McDonald. Each paid the fine imposed by the court.

TEACHERS' ENTERTAINMENT

The entertainment given Wednesday evening in the hall at the Newton Technical High School, under the auspices of the Newton Teachers' Association, was a gratifying success.

A diverting program of great merit was presented, which included eight numbers and each number was received with the greatest enthusiasm.

The opening number was the play,
"Six Little Grandmothers," by Miss C.
E. Stearns' class of the Stearns School. It was an exceedingly pretty performance and the parts were cleverly taken by Sarah Mellman, Stella Le Feore, Isabel Rahuge, Helen Coughlin, Anna Bennett, Alice Casteau and Alice Paul.

Miss Hannah B. Hunt of the Stearns School played the piano accompaniments.

The selection "Tis Morn," was beautifully rendered by the Teachers' Quartet, composed of Miss Eva E. Sanderson, soprano, and Miss E. Agnes Wallace, alto, of the Rice School, Mr. Frederick R. Hodge, tenor of the Emerson School, and Mr. Frank W. Chase, bass, of the Bigelow School.

The folk-dancing by the pupils of the Roger Wolcott School was very cleverly executed, Miss Grace L. Shepardson of the Newton High School, presiding at the piano.

A vocal solo, "I Hear You Calling," by Miss Eva Sanderson, was greatly admired.

"The Tinker's Chorus," from Robin Hood, composed of eleven little boys from Miss Grace M. McLaughlin's class, Grade III, of Eliot School, was a highly amusing feature of the entertainment, and the little fellows, armed with tin plates and hammers, sang with a dash and vim, to the lively piano accompaniment by Miss Mary E.
Smith, and acquitted themselves most creditably, in what was probably their first public appearance. The little "Tinkers" made such a decided "hit" with the audience, that they were obliged to respond to an encore. The chorus included Arthur Connolly, Wilfred Cormier, Samuel Fried, Joseph Masse, John Russo, William Shriberg, Edward Vachon, Michael Esposito, Thomas Vassilotti, Francis McNeil and John Connors.

About thirty pupils of the Peirce
School gave the operetta "Peggy's Dream" under the skilful direction of Mrs. Attwater and Miss Doran. The characters, which were taken from Mother Goose were taken by Marie
Laffie, Mildred Dolmont, Eleanor Frail,
Vincent Hargeson, Gladys Sullivan,
John Scanzino, Robert Perry, Mary O'Callaghan, Faustina Lichano, Harold Jackson, and Harold and Ella Lalonde. Mary O'Callaghan, also gave the Highland Fling as a solo dance.

The Flower Dance, by Miss Peck-ham's class at the Claflin School, was gracefully performed by eight young ladies robed in white, who were the exemplification of the poetry of motion. The dancers were the Misses Marjorie Soden, Hazel Beckwith, Emily
Mann, Dorothy Wheaton, Elizabeth
Carter, Mollie Westcott, Marjorie Chel-lie and Grace Chellie.

A "Night Song" by the Teachers' Quartet, concluded the program, and many favorable comments were heard concerning the excellence of the training which developed such fine work from the grades of the High School teachers, expressing great surprise, as it gives promise of some good future work in the High School.

At the close of the entertainment the company repaired to the second floor, where dancing was enjoyed by about 40 couples. A program of popular music was furnished by Marie Gosse and her hurdy-gurdy.

BOY SCOUTS

The Fifth Newton Troop of Boy Scouts observed its second annual Tuesday evening at the Baptist Church chapel, Newton Centre. The program included a roll call, the award of first class badges to Scouts Emery Davis and Richard Kimball, followed by the troop yell.

Exhibitions of tent pitching, fire building, signaling, boxing the compass, electric accident and bromine's lift, demonstration of artificial respiration, spear fight, presentation of Arlington medals and refreshments. This troop, which is one of the largest in the state, owes its success in great measure to the efficient leadership of the Scout Master, Mr. Edward R. Kimball, Jr., and his assistants, Mr. E. W.
Varney and Mr. H. C. Bray.

The anniversary of Newton Lodge,
I. O. O. F., was celebrated Monday evening in Odd Fellows Hall, West Newton. The Marldor Trio rendered several instrumental selections, assisted by Miss Dorothy Chaplin, soloist, and Miss Marie Hildet, reader. The guest of the evening was Frank O.
Morgan, D.D.G.M. Following the entertainment refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed. The committee of arrangements comprised Herbert F.
Skilton, Harvey C. Wood, Archie A.
Wilson, James J. Beeley, Archibald H.
Jones, James J. Colligan and Raymond Forte.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Next week will see the club work of Newton at a close for this season. There may be a few board meetings to come preliminary to next year's work, but the public meetings will be over. The year has been a good one. The programs have been of high character with much serious work and goodly spice of amusement. There is probably hardly a club that has not done some sort of philanthropic work. After the strenuous year there is always a feeling of relief when the respite comes. Yet every club member would be sorry indeed if the prospect of another year was not ahead. The club work has become so large a feature in a woman's life that she would feel lost should all these activities be abandoned. But she need have no fear of that happening. The club movement is too well established and too valuable to every community to pass away.

The annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs is set down for the last week of this month and the place is to be Boston with New England Women's Club as hostess. Detailed announcements will be given later.

Local Announcements Newton Federation

On Tuesday morning, May 6, at 10.30 the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its annual meeting at the Technical High School Hall. The morning will be given up to the annual reports of officers and the election, and the reports from the presidents of the different clubs. This feature is always of interest owing to the varied nature of the work. Luncheon will be served at one-thirty by the domestic science department of the school.

The afternoon session begins at 2.45, the program being in charge of the Newtonville Woman's Guild. It will include a piano duet by Mrs. Albert P. Carter and Mrs. Harry Cabot, followed by a short play, "The Kleptomaniac," presented by Guild members. The afternoon will close with a half-hour of music by the New Edison Disc Phonograph, which was heard at one of the sessions of the Council meeting at Washington last week.

Tickets must be secured not later than today, Friday, May 2, from the presidents of the clubs. No tickets will be sold on the day of the meeting.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will hold its annual meeting at the home of Miss Bacall on Monday afternoon, May 6th.

The annual meeting of the Waban Woman's Club will take place on May 5th at the Union Church vestry. Music will be rendered by Mrs. Helen Boyce Wheeler, soloist, and tea will be served.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Mothers' Club will hold its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. F. T. Walsh. Luncheon will be served, followed by the business meeting.

The Social Science Club will hold a short business meeting on Wednesday morning, May 7, after which Mrs. L. S. Drake, president of the club, will give an account of the Council meeting of the General Federation, held at Washington last week.

On Wednesday at one o'clock the Plerian Club will meet at the home of Mrs. H. E. Locke for luncheon, after which the club will hold its annual meeting.

Miss Edith McCann was hostess for the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands at its annual meeting on April 26. A delightful hour was spent with Mrs. W. M. Mick, who contrasted the tragedies of Brutus, Antony, Macbeth, Lear, Timon and Coriolanus, demonstrating that Shakespeare shows us in these tragedies that through death we pass into life and that we are punished in this world for misunderstandings and blunders as well as for crime.

The following were elected as officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. F. S. Keith; vice-president, Mrs. W. M. Mick; secretary, Mrs. W. E. Moore; treasurer, Miss Edith McCann; auditor, Miss Ethel Hall; executive board, Mrs. J. D. Studley, Miss Mary Sweeney, Mrs. H. W. Drew.

The annual meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club was held on April 28 at the home of Mrs. D. W. Bailes of Clark street. The club voted to give $10 to the Newton Playground Association; $5 to the Boston Music School Settlement, and $5 to the Hyde School, Newton Highlands, for lantern slides. Exceptionally fine reports of the work of the State Federation committees were read.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. met at the home of Miss Marian Morse. The topic for the afternoon was Current Events and Music. Mrs. Arthur W. Burnham gave an interesting account of affairs in this country and Miss Ruth Abbott treated foreign matters, dwelling particularly upon the Balkan situation, the militant suffragette movement in England and upon the Cubist artists. Delightful violin music was rendered by Mr. Abbott of Newton Centre with his daughter at the piano. A social hour with refreshments closed a pleasant afternoon.

The Social Science Club held its annual meeting at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday morning. As usual the annual reports of officers and committees were full of interest, showing a very large amount of good work accomplished.

The last bridge whist of the season was held last Friday evening with 14 tables in play. Souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. Howard Norton, Mrs. W. H. Cross, Mrs. M. E. Gleason, and Mrs. Woodward. Mrs. Thomas F. Murray was in charge and was assisted by Mrs. E. P. Tuttle, Mrs. G. H. Snyder, Mrs. Edward R. Utley and Mrs. G. F. Tracy.

completed. The club has contributed nearly $500 for philanthropic work, divided as follows: Stearns Neighborhood House, $275; Newton Hospital, $100; Hampton Scholarship, $70, and $25 for the school gardens. The committee on the gardens is confronted by the serious problem of a place for them. The lot which has been used formerly is about to be sold. About forty children have signified their desire for home gardens.

Considerable time was given to the discussion of next year's program, which the committee proposes to arrange in a group system, rather than having one long course of connected topics. Among the subjects to be considered will be International Peace, the Possibilities of the Moving Pictures, the Constitutional Development of the United States, and Art in Relation to Modern Life.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Louis S. Drake; vice-presidents, Miss Grace Weston, Mrs. Joseph L. Colby, Mrs. Everett E. Kent, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, Mrs. Charles H. Breck, Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller; recording secretary, Mrs. Louis D. Gibbs; corresponding secretary, Miss Ethel Gilman; treasurer, Mrs. Henry K. Hobart; auditor, Mrs. Edward D. Baldwin; directors, Mrs. Henry I. Harriman, chairman, Mrs. Francis W. Dana, Mrs. William H. Drury, Miss Jessie M. Fisher, Mrs. Charles B. Gleason.

ANNUAL MEETING

The thirty second annual meeting of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club was held at Woodland Park Hotel, Auburndale, Friday, Apr. 25, at 10 a. m. The morning session was devoted to business and the election of officers. President, Mrs. George W. St. Amant; vice-presidents, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle, Mrs. George D. Byfield, Mrs. Irving T. Farnum and Mrs. Arthur B. Munroe; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Chas. E. Quinn; recording secretary, Mrs. John R. McLean; treasurer, Mrs. Maurice E. Beardsley; auditor, Mrs. Harry Wells; directors, Mrs. F. B. Young, Mrs. Frederick Sargent, Mrs. Sidney Sargent, Miss Florence B. Sybil, wife.

At 1 P. M. luncheon was served and between the courses toasts were given. Mrs. Harry Wells, the very efficient chairman of the annual meeting, introduced Mrs. Geo. D. Byfield as toast mistress. The first toast, "Our Friends," was ably responded to by Mrs. Samuel L. Eaton. To the toast "Our Neighbors," Mrs. Henry K. Burrison responded in her usual genial manner. One of the Club's most loyal members, Mrs. George McNear, responded to "Loyalty."

Mrs. Henry Chamberlain in a happy vein responded to "The New Woman" and to "The Past of the Club and The Ideal Club Woman." Mrs. Bernard Early gave a delightful pen picture of the former and from her personal knowledge of the latter, a worthy testimonial which met with unanimous applause. Mrs. George D. Byfield gave an address of welcome to the new president, Mrs. St. Amant, in which she discussed the possibilities for the ensuing year. The club has founded a scholarship fund with the hope of increasing it to a permanent endowment to be used for the higher education of a worthy applicant, who will be approved by the scholarship committee. The travel class which is an auxiliary of the club, with a limited membership and a waiting list, has had a most successful year of study and has materially aided the philanthropic work of the club.

Mrs. St. Amant briefly replied accepting the honor in a few choice remarks which inspired her hearers with confidence.

The newly elected officers are among the most popular of the club members, and bring with them ardor and enthusiasm which will mean new life for one of the oldest clubs in the United States; and with the example of its founder, Electa N. L. Walton, ever an inspiration, reclaim its prominence in the club world.

Delightful music was rendered at the close of the meeting by Miss Martha Gifford of Newton.

The annual meeting of the Parliamentary Law Club was held on Tuesday, April 8th, at 45 Boyd street, when these officers were elected: President, Mrs. W. A. Beedle; first vice president, Mrs. J. L. Rice; second vice president, Mrs. E. T. Thresher; third vice president, Mrs. Wm. H. Bliss; secretary, Mrs. Isabella Harlan; treasurer, Mrs. W. D. Tripp; auditor, Mrs. James I. Wingate. The club will resume its sessions on October 21, when Mrs. E. M. Sherman will begin her fourth year as leader.

MR. TYLER'S WILL

The will of the late Warren P. Tyler has been offered for probate by Hon. Henry E. Rothfeld who is named as executor.

Mr. Tyler makes bequests to public institutions amounting to $16,000, including $5,000 to the Newton Hospital, to establish a free bed in memory of the testator's wife; to the endowment fund of the hospital, $3,000; to the Channing Religious Society for the Sunday School, $1,500, and for the church building fund a similar amount; to the American Unitarian Association, of Boston, $2,000; to the Children's Mission of Boston, $1,000; to the Boston Y. M. C. Union, $1,000; and to the Sunday School Association of Boston, $1,000.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The last bridge whist of the season was held last Friday evening with 14 tables in play. Souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. Howard Norton, Mrs. W. H. Cross, Mrs. M. E. Gleason, and Mrs. Woodward. Mrs. Thomas F. Murray was in charge and was assisted by Mrs. E. P. Tuttle, Mrs. G. H. Snyder, Mrs. Edward R. Utley and Mrs. G. F. Tracy.

SONG RECITAL

A song recital that proved to be one of the leading events in the present musical season, now nearing its close, was given at Henney Hall, Waban, last Friday evening by Pauline Curley, soprano; Dorothy Cook, mezzo-soprano, assisted by Blanche Morrill, violinist, and Mrs. Charles A. White, accompanist. Miss Curley sang "Nymphs and Fauns" by Benberg, "Down the Forest" by Landon-Ronald, "Spring" by Henschel, Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me" and Edens' "What's in the Air Today?" Miss Cook sang an arrangement of an Irish love song by McLaughlin, "Daybreak" by Daniels, "Her Rose" by Coombs, "Banjo Song" by Homer, and Tosti's "L'ultima Canzone." There were also these duets: Hilda's "Passage," Bird's "Farewell," Hilda's "Passage," Bird's "Farewell," and the well-known "Barcarolle" from Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman." Miss Morrill played numbers by Cottonet, Barnes, Cui, and Kreisler.

This recital showed the artistic abilities of both singers to the best advantage. Miss Curley possesses a light coloratura soprano of good range and delightfully pleasing tonal quality, and she always sings with artistic perception and charm of manner. Miss Cook, who appeared in recital for the first time is certainly a young singer of great promise. Hers is a dramatic soprano of unusual power and warmth as to tonal quality, she already has that subtle sense of artistic proportion, dramatic power and grasp of conditions, that lead one to confidently predict for her a great career either in concert or opera, whichever she elects to take when she has completed her vocal studies. Both singers created an unusually favorable impression, and the "Barcarolle" was repeated as an extra number.

Miss Morrill is a young violinist of much ability. She played with a light though unusually sympathetic tone, and her technique was apparently equal to all demands. Mrs. White accompanied the singers with rare discrimination and finish. There was an appreciative audience of good size.

MR. HALL DEAD

David Hall, a well-known resident, passed away, after a long illness, on Friday morning at the residence of his brother-in-law, Alexander Blue, on California street, where he had made his home returning from a visit to old friends in England. For many years he had been in the employ of the Bacon family, first working for the late Joseph N. Bacon and later for his son, Hon. William F. Bacon.

He had a host of friends about town and his genial presence will be greatly missed by all who knew him. His funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace Church.

He leaves a widow.

The celebrated White Rock spring is situated in Waukesha, Wisconsin, on an ideal site of about twenty-two acres of land. The geological formation is such that the water, which must pass through hundreds of feet of a natural filter of white rock, emerging cold, pure and limpid, is of such delicious softness and palatability that it is justly termed, "The best of natural waters."

TWO OASES IN THE SAHARA

Third Letter From a Newton Man Travelling In Out of the Way Places

Tozeur, Tunisia, March 5, 1913.

Editor Newton Graphic:—

I left Kairouan at eight in the evening being exceedingly fortunate in having as a travelling companion a gentleman who has lived many years in Tunis and speaks Arabic like a native. Of course there is no such thing as a sleeping-car in this part of Africa, so we got such sleep as we might on the compartment of the Continental railway coach to which we were assigned and as the compartment was filled, it proved not the most comfortable trip imaginable; shortly before daylight we stopped at a small station in a bleak stony desert and were able to get a breakfast of coffee and bread. After an hour we resumed our journey, which lay through a rough country, practically uninhabited, until in the mid-forenoon, after I had been wondering how we were ever to break through the chain of mountains to the south of us, suddenly into the great gorge of the Seldja, this river has worn its way through the sandstone formation making a canyon which must be a thousand feet deep in places and winding a tortuous way through the mountains, forming for six or seven miles a pass which the railroad avails itself of in the main, although occasionally tunnelling through some great opposing cliffs; on each side of the gorge the shapes into which the red sandstone cliffs have been cut are fantastic and in places magnificent; then we suddenly burst through into the desert plain on the further side of which is Metlaoui. Although all this is desert country, there is some herbage to be found along the now dry riverbed of the Seldja and on the way to Metlaoui we saw hundreds of Bedouin tents and many camels and goats, which had been driven up from the sand desert below where there is no green thing. On our return we spent an hour or two at Metlaoui, so I will describe it briefly. It has many of the characteristics of our new mining towns for it is only a few years old. This is the heart of the great phosphate region, the comparatively recent discovery and exploitation of which is having such a tremendous influence on this part of Africa. For nearly a hundred miles these mountains are filled with phosphate rock which is blasted out—spread on the hot plains to dry and partially broken by ploughing up the beds many times; all the railroads—some three hundred miles—are overtopped by great phosphate companies and they all lead to Sfax, from which port was shipped last year about one million tons of phosphate and the profits of the company are said to have been five million dollars. At any rate all passenger traffic down here is subsidiary to the freighting of phosphate and the one little passenger coach is attached to the tail end of a long train of empty or loaded dump cars. In this way we proceeded over the new line of railway, about forty miles to the oasis of Tozeur; we got thru a real enough desert this time; the Djerd, to which we are coming, is a sort of peninsula lying between the great Chotts. On the map of the Sahara these "Chotts" are pictured as lakes and shown as the largest bodies of water in all the desert. Maybe at some time in the year they are lakes but now there is no water and they have the appearance of a dried up sea covered with a glistening crust of salt sand; this crust is thick enough to bear the weight of men and camels, but if you do break through there oozes up a muddy brine, which is under it all. In the Djerd are four beautiful oases with a million palm trees and the date crop is about fifteen thousand tons. Here are grown the Degla dates, the finest known. The Arab taste of a perfect date is that when it is ripe the pulp shall pull from the stone and leave it clinging to the stem. This can only be done with these honey colored—almost transparent dates and only a small per cent of the crop are of that variety.

I only visited the largest of the four oases, although we could see two of the others, El Hamma and El Oudiane from the train. Nefta almost as large as Tozeur is fifteen miles away. We arrived at the R. R. Station of Tozeur in a blazing hot mid-day. It is a quarter of a mile from the town in a plain of burning sand; no carriage, but sinewy Arabs shouldered our luggage and preceded us to the hotel. The railroad was opened only three weeks ago and is still an object of tremendous interest to the Arabs, who flock to the station by hundreds to see a train arrive or depart; even the Bedouins come in with their women, from their camps far out on the desert; they stand poised and alert, ready to break and run if the terrible iron horse should move in their direction. The Grand Hotel Bellevue, the only one in Tozeur is not as imposing as the name might indicate.

It is a one story building of burned mud brick, built around a small square open court; there are only nine sleeping rooms, no sitting room, so that you must write your letters or smoke your after dinner cigar in the open courtyard and as some partial screen from the sun has been provided as well as a few growing palms and blossoming things, it is not so bad. There were any number of birds about the size of an English sparrow flying about the courtyard, even in and out of the rooms; a bird with a beautiful blue neck and upper breast and with a very sweet song. They seemed absolutely without fear. I inquired about them and was told that they were peculiar to the desert oases and that their Arabic name meant "friends of the House." There are ten thousand Arabs in Tozeur—all living in one storied house—built of mud brick and clustered on the edge of not in—the oasis. The better houses are built of burned brick with the front faces laid in curious geometric designs, a style peculiar to the oasis and having some pretension to beauty, but the poorest houses are largely of sun dried mud—"adobe"—and the heavy rains of the wet season wash and melt them until they are but little more than unsightly piles of mud; and you wander through labyrinthine streets lined with such houses, only one door and never a window on the street, you wonder if they can really be the homes of human beings. And yet this oasis has been thickly populated and always of some importance, even since the days of Augustus and perhaps even long before.

The principal mosque had up to recent years a minaret of considerable height, but these mud bricks, the only material available are not any too good a building material and after many years this minaret developed so alarming a list to starboard that the authorities ordered a large part removed; the remaining tower is perhaps eighty feet in height and is the best place, in fact the only place unless you climb a date palm from which to get an idea of the size of the town and extent of the oasis. I shall never forget it, for it was from this minaret that I heard the most wonderful and impressive call to prayer that I have ever heard. It was the last call—the call to evening prayer, about half past nine o'clock. I had been sitting just outside the hotel watching the wonderfully brilliant stars in the blue black velvet of the night sky; even the camels and the donkeys and the children had come still, when out of the space above came that wonderful voice—"There is no God but Allah and Mohammed is his prophet," clear, liquid, resonant the long plaintive cry repeated from each corner of the minaret and then the silence of the desert night.

The oasis is five or six miles in length and perhaps two in breadth, crossed and recrossed by winding paths and everywhere little rivers of pure clear water anywhere from two feet to two yards wide and so arranged that every date palm in the oasis may get its full share, for that is the imperative condition of the date palm: its head must be in the sun and its feet in the water. And there are plenty of people about—women scouring wool and men washing clothes in the clear water and swarms of children everywhere. Just now is the time of that curious and interesting operation which the Arabs call "marrying the palms." I had never thought of the date palm as having sex, but it is true that while the great number of the trees are female and fruit bearers—there are occasional males.

The bearing trees are just now blossoming; the great yellow frond of blossom, some two feet long and growing upright from the top of the trunk is just bursting from the encasing sheath of green leaves. The date growers have found that it is a precarious matter to depend on the real natural fertilization of the birds, bees and other insects that might carry the pollen to the opening flower, so the great branching blossoms of the male tree thickly coated with the yellow pollen dust are cut into small sprays of the size of a child's hand—put into a large loose bag—this bag is slung over the shoulder of the quick and lithe Arab, who with wonderful agility and the help of his almost prehensile toes will climb the trunk of a seventy foot palm almost as quickly as you or I could walk up a flight of steps. He carries with him a peculiar knife, something like a short sickle and when he reaches the top of the tree he first cuts away any leaves that are likely to interfere with the growth and ripening of that great fruit cluster, large enough to fill a bushel basket, which will in a few months be glistening at the top of the tree. Then he carefully splits down the enclosing sheath of the blossom, opens the great flower and from his bag takes a pollen covered spray and carries it with his hand into the very heart of the blossom; then he closes and with some easily broken vegetable fiber ties together the top of the blossom and this holds in the pollen until thorough fertilization has been accomplished and the springing young dates burst the slight bonds and the sun and air and water shall be free to work the miracle of perfect fruitage. As these Arabs work in the tops of the palms they sing in that strange weird minor of only five or six notes. I was curious to know what were the songs they sang and so asked the young Arab who was by my side. "They are words about beautiful women," he answered "and they sing them out of their heads."

This is Tozeur of the rippling waters and the singing Arabs and the sweet cry of the Muezzin in the minaret; but there is another side to the picture, the heat and the flies! They fairly rove me out of Tozeur and up to Gafsa sixty or seventy miles north: an oasis which it seems to me must be the most beautiful oasis in all the world! It is not as large as Tozeur, but altogether different. It had never occurred to me that an oasis could be anything more than a more or less large patch of palms of some wind with wells of water, and desert all about.

Gafsa is a great and splendid garden; not only a hundred thousand date palms, but hundreds of thousands of apricots and figs, peaches, pomegranates, apples, pears, quinces, almonds and here and there lemons and oranges and underneath them carefully kept gardens of every vegetable you can think of. Even the date palms are different. Here they grow in clumps or clusters. I counted one splendid bunch of eleven. Many of the fruit trees are still in full blossom and the air is heavy with the scent of orange and cherry and peach.

Gafsa, too was once Roman and here are still in use the old Roman baths, both hot and cold and I amused myself for a long time in watching naked little Arab boys diving from the high walls into the peculiarly clear water, after which I threw for them. There is one fine mosque here much like and almost as old as the grand mosque at Kairouan. It is almost on the edge of the oasis and from the top of its beautiful minaret one gets a view hard to equal: to the north and east the old Arab town with its glistening domes of zoloula and marabout as white as confections in sugar frosting—to the south and west, almost as far as you can see, the riotous green of the oasis with the splendid deep freshness of the countless great apricots dominating all, and far beyond the whiteness of the desert.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

The Young People's Room

While the whole community is rejoicing over the enlargement and improvement of the Newton Free Library, the children seem to have derived an appreciable share of the benefits therefrom. Out of their crowded and inconvenient quarters the young people have been advanced to the large room down stairs, formerly used by the newspaper and magazine readers. Here there is ample space, good ventilation and abundant light. The fiction, non-fiction and reference books are advantageously placed so that the children or parents may easily do their own selecting if they choose.

There is no age-limit for the borrowers from the Young People's Room. All grades ranging from the kindergarten to the third year in high school are in constant attendance. For the boys, since they have no playground or any neutral place of recreation, the library has become a rendezvous. It was in this connection that about fifteen of Newton's "real boys" banded together and formed the Song-an Library Club. This club meets regularly at the library; but its activities go outside beyond the bounds of things literary into things athletic and things social.

During the month of April the library has been thrown open on Sunday afternoons, and the Young People's Room has been filled almost to overflowing. The immediate attraction has been the "Story Hour." For one hour, old and young have been entertained in the Lecture Hall by the telling of stories.

Outside of the regular exchange of books and supervision of reading, the library aims to actively interest the child. This month is to see an exciting guessing contest with the characters of standard juvenile books as bones of contention.

The Young People's Room is in charge of Miss Caroline E. Aldrich who graduated last June from a four years' course at Simmons College, having received definite training there for library work with children.

Holds Annual Meeting and Elects Officers

The annual meeting of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association was largely attended Monday evening, May 5th. The Boys' Orchestra of the association furnished a very pleasing program.

MR. ALLAN C. EMERY,
President Newton Y. M. C. A.

President Allan C. Emery called the meeting to order at 8.15. After the minutes were read and approved Mr. Frederick D. Fuller, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, placed in nomination C. V. Moore, Clerk, and Directors for three years, Allan C. Emery, Arthur Kendrick, Franklin W. Gansse, N. H. Morton, C. V. Moore, Howard Whitmore. On motion of Wm. E. Lowry, the report of the Nominating Committee was accepted and the Secretary was instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for the six directors mentioned above, who were duly declared elected by the President.

The annual report was given by General Secretary H. W. Bascom and clearly showed that great progress had been made in the association work during the past year. Among other things was the announcement that the first legacy that had ever been given the Association had been received during the year. Some of the needs of the Association pointed out by the Secretary were a permanent camp, another story of dormitories and money for endowments for the various phases of the Association work.

Mr. Wm. Price made a brief address to the young men present which was well received.

Meeting adjourned at 9 o'clock and throughout the Association was open house which was greatly enjoyed by the large number present. Refreshments were served under the direction of the Social Committee.

Immediately following the meeting of the Association the Board of Directors met for organization. The officers were re-elected as follows: Allan C. Emery, President; E. O. Childs, Jr., Vice-President; J. Wm. Blaisdell, Treasurer, and C. V. Moore, Clerk. Frank A. Day and Wm. T. Rich were re-elected Trustees to serve for three years.

The Secretary's report showed a membership of 581 men and 245 boys, a total of 826. The dormitories have been fully occupied, 38 persons at one time rooming in the building. The physical department has an enrollment of 577, with a total attendance in the swimming pool of 12,808.

Newton Highlands, Thursday, May 1. There were two papers read, one by Mrs. George D. Byfield on the "Transatlantic Railway" which since its completion makes the time between Buenos Aires and Valparaiso a matter of thirty-four hours as compared with an eleven day trip round Cape Horn, or an overland journey attended by many discomforts, happily now a thing of the past. Mrs. John R. McLane gave a splendid paper, and talk on the Antarctic regions in which she discussed the geological formations found there, and the scientific work accomplished by the South Sea explorers.

Mrs. Chas. E. Quinn of Newton Centre, the leader of the class for next year, presented the outline of study, subject, India. Mrs. Quinn's analysis of a complex study showed thorough research, and a comprehensive grasp of the details of the work. A social hour followed which closed a happy and successful year.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Mrs. John McArthur, a resident for many years at Lincoln Park, West Newton, but lately of Winnetka, Ill., died after a long and very painful illness at the home of her daughter in Winnetka on the 28th of April. Burial was in the family lot at Oak Hill Cemetery, Woonsocket, R. I. She leaves her husband, and an only daughter, the wife of Rev. Edwin F. Snell.

MEN'S CLUB FORMED

Men of First Church in Newton Decide To Organize

Sixty men connected with the First Church, Newton Centre, met at supper in the dining hall Monday evening to consider the question of forming a Men's Club in the old First Church. The chairman of the committee who presided was Mr. C. M. Goddard. He had invited three members representing other clubs to speak on their own experiences in clubs—Mr. J. B. Martin of the Park Street Church Club, I. F. North, President of the Trinity Club, Newton Centre, and C. S. Luntweller of the Newton Highlands Men's League. All these speakers expressed their confidence in the value of a Men's Club for the First Church. An interesting fact brought out was that there are 215 members in the Newton Highlands Men's League.

The pastor of the First Church, Rev. E. M. Noyes, and a number of members of the congregation expressed their interest in the proposed organization and their desire to sustain it. Before the meeting was concluded it was voted to organize a club then and there and to give the committee in charge of the evening the authority to draw up by-laws.

RECEPTION

A most enjoyable reception was tendered the parish of St. John's Episcopal Church of Newtonville, last Friday evening, by the Men's Club of that church. The affair took place at the Newton Club and about 150 were present. The guests were received in the assembly hall by Rev. Richard T. Loring and Mrs. Loring and by Mr. John H. Eddy, president of the Men's Club, and Mrs. Eddy. The ushers being Messrs. Elisha L. Avery, Chas. S. Dole, John W. Condit, J. Ellis Gammons and W. C. Warren. After the reception, the club held a brief business session, at which these officers were elected: President, John H. Eddy; vice president, Chas. F. Avery; secretary-treasurer, James P. Richardson, and an executive committee of George B. H. Macomber, T. F. Walsh, H. H. Ballard and Edward P. Hatch.

The reception was planned to be in one sense a social celebration of the fact the church debt had been paid, and was a social continuation of the consecration service of the preceding Sunday. Rev. Mr. Loring gave a brief history of the society and the church building, commenting among other matters on the fact that the parish had grown from 28 communicants to 325 in the space of less than fifteen years.

MRS. WAITT DEAD

Mrs. Emma L. Waitt, the widow of the late Henry Waitt, died last Friday night at her home on Vernon street, Newton, after a long illness. Mrs. Waitt was the daughter of the late James Farnsworth and was born in Lancaster, Mass., in 1846. She is survived by one son, Sir. A. H. Waitt of this city. Funeral services were held from her late home on Sunday afternoon, in charge of Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Elliot Church. There were many beautiful flowers. Selections were rendered by the Mendelssohn Quartet and the interment was at Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

MR. BISHOP DEAD

Mr. Robert Roberts Bishop, Jr., of Beacon street, oldest son of the late Judge Robert R. Bishop, died of pneumonia at Mount Clemens, Michigan, Monday evening.

Mr. Bishop left his home in Newton on the evening of April 28th, not feeling very well, and on arriving at Detroit at once went to the Park Hotel at Mt. Clemens. The doctors diagnosed his case pneumonia, and Mr. Elias B. Bishop was notified. He immediately went to Mount Clemens and was with his brother until the end came. Two years ago Mr. Bishop had a serious heart affection, which incapacitated him for a number of months, and the weakened condition of that organ was unable to stand the ravages of the pneumonia.

He was born at Holliston in 1858 and his mother was Mrs. Mary Ellen (Bulard) Bishop. He prepared for college at a Boston private school, and was graduated from Harvard with the class of 1880. Since his graduation he had been active in the affairs of L. C. Chase & Company, and had done much traveling for that concern. He never was married. He is survived by two brothers, Elias B. and Joseph T. Bishop, both residing in Newton Centre.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Newton Cemetery chapel, Rev. Edward M. Noyes, D. D., officiating.

NEWTON BEATEN

High School Defeated By Mechanics Arts Base Ball Team

Newton High tasted defeat for the first time this season last Saturday afternoon on Clifton Field, Newtonville, when Mechanics Arts II, S. nine scored 9 runs to 2 for Newton. The game was the first hard contest on the schedule, and the heavy hitters on the local team were unable to get a single man on first base during the first seven innings, and 12 were retired by the strike out route.

Things appeared to be about even for the first two innings, when only one man reached first base, that being on a single, but with two out the next man popped an easy fly for Wellman. The fireworks began in the third and when the session closed 6 runs had been piled up by the visitors. G. Moulton started the fun going by placing a single to left, and an error by Harris anchored him on second. Cutler sacrificed, advancing Moulton and Shee, and both romped home when Dempsey met one of Capt. Spalding's out shoots for a double. Three more singles in succession and an error by Hyatt netted the visitors four more runs.

Coach Dickinson sent Capt. Spalding to right field after the second, and Dave Higgins took up the pitching work, and in the first inning which he worked the visitors scored two more runs, on two hits which were well scattered and three errors. For the next three innings the visitors went out in order, and scored their last run in the eighth on three hits.

G. Moulton, who earlier in the week forced 23 Medford batemen to fan, appeared in the box against Newton. Every man that faced the pitcher either fanned or rolled an easy grounder to some infielder. With the opening of the eighth Ralph Hyatt cracked out a single and Archie Wellman was unable to step out of the way of an in shoot and he also reached first. Both advanced a base on a passed ball and a nicely placed single by Higgins sent Wyatt home with the first run. Harris rolled a grounder to Cutler who threw him out at first, but Wellman scored on the play. Moulton after the two runs had been scored, got together and forced the next two men to strike out. O'Neill and Hyatt both singled in the ninth, but were unable to get any farther than second base, where they were retired.

ARCHERY NOTES

Fourteen of the Newton Archers took advantage of the fine weather Saturday afternoon, May 3, and appeared on the Archery Range at the Newton Centre Playground to enjoy their favorite recreation.

The men shot the American Round and then started in to shoot the Team Round (36 arrows at 60 yards) but all three of them found both rounds rather too much at the beginning of the season.

The ladies shot the Columbia Round and the National Round and the Juniors shot the Junior Team Round.

The more experienced archers are always glad to coach the novices and show them the fine points of the sport. If there are any persons living in the Newtons who are interested in the sport of archery they will be gladly welcomed on the playground any Saturday afternoon.

The attention of the archers is called to a very interesting collection of Indian arrow heads which are on exhibition in the window of F. W. Woolway, on Union street, Newton Centre. A very interesting comparison between the implements which the Indians used and those which are now used for target practice can be made by studying these arrow heads.

Dr. Chas. F. Painter Appointed Dean of Tufts Medical School

Dr. Charles F. Painter of Farlow road, Newton, was appointed this week to be dean of the Tufts College Medical and Dental Schools.

Dr. Painter was born at Grand Haven, Mich., in 1869, received his A.B. from John Hopkins in 1891, his medical degree from Harvard Medical School in 1895, and was surgical house officer at the Massachusetts General Hospital for 16 months, later house officer at the Children's Hospital, Huntington avenue.

After his service at the Children's Hospital he served a short time as assistant resident physician at the Massachusetts General Hospital. While resident physician he also practiced medicine, specializing as an orthopedic surgeon.

Since Dr. Painter began his practice he has been very successful and is at the present time one of the foremost men in his branch in the country. Soon after he opened his office he became associated with Dr. Joel E. Goldthwaite, with whom he has since practiced.

For some time Dr. Painter was an instructor at Harvard Medical School, but later joined the faculty of Tufts Medical School in the same capacity. He was later made assistant professor and then professor of orthopedics.

Dr. Painter is visiting orthopedic surgeon to Carney Hospital and the House of the Good Samaritan. Last January he was appointed orthopedic surgeon-in-chief to the Robert Brent Brigham Hospital on Parker Hill.

He holds membership in the American Orthopedic Society, Massachusetts Medical Society, Massachusetts General Alumni Association and several social societies. Dr. Painter has contributed numerous articles to medical journals throughout the country.

AFTERNOON TEA

Mrs. Sarah B. Arend entertained a large company of friends at a charming tea on Friday afternoon from 4 until 6, at her residence on Windsor road, Waban, complimentary to her sister, Miss Edith Butterfield of Chicago.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a variety of cut flowers. In the living-room, large quantities of American Beauty roses were used in artistic arrangement, and in the library were pink and white carnations.

The hall was decorated in red, with a profusion of red roses and carnations. In the dining-room where an elaborate menu was served by Paxton, the color-scheme for the decorations was yellow, and the flowers used were yellow roses and marguerites, with a magnificent centre-piece of yellow and white roses on the table, surrounded by yellow shaded candelabra.

The pourers were Mrs. Alfred W. Small, Mrs. Almond M. Tewksbury, Mrs. A. G. Wellman of Newton Highlands and Mrs. Albert W. Elliott of the Brae-Burn Club.

The servers were the Misses Dorothy Winchester, Annie Webster, Helen Eustis, Barbara Wiley, and Ruth Arend. Miss Butterfield wore an exquisite imported gown of gold-satin with colored beaded over-dress, and diamond ornaments and corsage bouquet of yellow roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Arend was charmingly gowned in black silk with jet over-dress and American Beauty colored trimmings.

During the afternoon a delightful program of music was furnished with harp selections.

COMPTROLLER ELECTION VOID

Aldermen Elect New Official Before Mayor Approves Order

At the meeting of the board of aldermen Monday evening the most important business transacted was the acceptance of the act of the Legislature creating the office of comptroller of accounts and the election, subsequently deemed illegal of Mr. John Daboll of Waltham to fill that important office. The act was accepted after a long recess, during which the members of the board conferred together, and Mr. Daboll received 15 votes, with 2 cast by Aldermen Cox and Murphy for ex-alderman William J. Doherty, and 1 vote cast by Alderman Cabot for Mr. George W. Arvansen. The ordinances were perfected to provide for the new official. An attempt was also made to fix the salary of the comptroller at $3000 per year, but was blocked by a charter objection from Alderman Murphy. Since the meeting of the board the city solicitor has given an opinion that the order accepting the act of the Legislature also requires the approval of the mayor, and no election was legal until the mayor had either signed or vetoed the acceptance of the act.

President Blakemore was in the chair and Aldermen Hatch and Pratt were the only members absent.

No one appeared at the hearings on poles for the Edison Co. on Highland avenue and for conduits in Lake avenue, or on the proposed widening of California street at Bridge street.

A hearing was held on petition of the Telephone Company for poles on Bowen street.

Mr. Curtis Abbott stated that the pole location desired was for the purpose of supplying one of his houses. He believed the pole would do no harm but that various ways could be used to reach the property without the erection of any additional poles.

Mr. Edward C. Wyatt, Mr. Walter T. Kelley and Mr. Lester B. Hunter appeared in favor of orders for laying out and acceptance of Upland road and also for a drain and sewer in said street. A communication from Lillian B. Rowell was read by the clerk objecting to laying out of street as planned, claiming that said street would encroach on her property from 18 to 23 feet, reducing the area by 1590 feet.

Alderman Rice stated that in addition to the objection from Mrs. Rowell he had received a similar one from Mrs. Elizabeth A. Tenney. Mr. Edward C. Wyatt stated that he believed the land of Mrs. Tenney was beyond the portion proposed to be laid out. Alderman Blanchard stated that the matter had been under consideration for some time and that if the street was not laid out and accepted three parties who proposed to build there would doubtless give up their plans and the city would then be the loser.

Mr. Anthony G. Sullivan appeared at hearing on granting of junk license to John J. Miskella, 130 Bridge street.

Mr. Sullivan stated that he appeared on behalf of his brothers and sisters who were the owners of the estate directly opposite the property of Mr. Miskella to protest against the granting of this license, claiming that without exception, Mr. Miskella had the most untidy shop he knew of. He said that they had been to considerable expense in improving their own property and that the valuation was kept down low partly on account of the condition of the property of this junk dealer. Mr. Sullivan stated that he had complained to the Board of Health at various times relative to these conditions, but that they did not seem to improve. He had no personal grievance against the petitioner, but that he opposed the license from a real estate standpoint.

late standpoint. He believed that Ward 2 had more than its share of licensees of this character, there being 16 in an area less than a square mile.

Mr. Miskella appeared in favor of his license stating that he had a family to support, that it was his livelihood and he was doing his best. He also said that he could prove that Mr. Sullivan had personal grievances against him.

Alderman Blanchard stated that he had visited the various junk shops in the city, in company with the Chief of Police and that conditions as a whole were fairly satisfactory. He stated that he had talked with the petitioner and that Mr. Miskella was willing to do anything suggested to fix up his premises. At present Alderman Blanchard said that there was no ordinance governing these shops and that holding up the license would not prevent Mr. Miskella from keeping the junk there. He said, however, that the City Solicitor was preparing an ordinance governing the junk shops.

Alderman Early stated that in his experience on the Board of Assessors he found that while the city was receiving $10 for a license, it was losing hundreds in taxes on account of the low valuation of property in the neighborhood of these junk shops. He believed the board should now start to reduce the number of these licensees.

Alderman Murphy agreed that the number of junk licensees should be reduced, but in this case was of the opinion that the board had not sufficient reasons to refuse the same. He stated that Mr. Miskella was a man of good character and had always lived in Newton.

Mr. Sullivan stated that it was not his purpose to try to have this man's livelihood taken away, and that he believed the board should at least defer the granting of the license until his premises were cleaned.

Mr. T. S. Sullivan believed the board should withhold the license and see if Mr. Miskella was really sincere in his promise to clean his premises. It was his opinion that a good part of the stuff gathered by Mr. Miskella was of no use to anyone.

The license was then granted by a rising vote, 12 in favor, 5 opposed.

Alderman Jones moved the granting of the petition of H. Butters for a liquor transportation permit. He said that Mr. Butters had a large express business in Newton, a large part of which he would lose unless he received a permit to transport liquors.

Alderman Cox believed the board should not act too hastily in regard to the granting of these transportation permits, that hearings should be given before the committee on each one, and that they should be advertised. He believed the board should reduce the number of the transportation permits, and that at present Newton was very well supplied in this regard, and there was no danger of a drought.

All business men of Newton are invited to attend, whether members or not.

—Members of the N. N. H. Club were entertained last week on Thursday evening at the home of Miss Mary Burns on Jefferson street. There were about 27 in attendance and a very interesting and amusing program was arranged for the entertainment, including musical selections on the piano by Dr. Stephen Mallett and Dr. Henry Jackson of Newtonville, and Mr. Charles Dunn of Wintthrop gave some readings.

—For many years the church music of Grace Episcopal Church has been greatly enhanced through the efforts of the choir-master and organist, Messrs. Sladen and Hambleton, and no greater compliment could be paid the vested choir than the large audience which assembled Sunday evening at the Ascension service. There was an excellent rendition of Maunders' "Song of Thanksgiving," and the soloists were the Misses Eleanor Harrie, Marie Sladen, Vanessa Denton, Mrs. Armstrong, and Messrs. Hansen, Roope, and Leighton.

—At the annual ball given by the Scotts Charitable Society, not long since among the features of the evening was the appearance of Miss Nellie Ferguson in Highland costume. Her exhibition of dancing was most pleasing, and according to the Boston papers it was the most popular feature of the entire evening. Miss Ferguson will be seen in a variety of dances at the concert to be given in Temple Hall on the evening of May 15, by the choir of the Newtonville Universalist Church. Mr. C. Axel Collins of Jefferson street is the tenor of the choir.

PLAYERS' HALL BENEFIT

A amateur vaudeville performance for the benefit of Players' Hall was given in that edifice on Monday and Tuesday evenings by local talent before large and enthusiastic audiences. The program was arranged by Miss Florence Wyman and Mr. Harold Whitney, the latter taking part in a dance with the Shedd twins.

A short sketch, entitled "A Bachelor's Establishment," in which Philip Carter figured, proved highly amusing. Several songs by J. R. Osgood Perkins and Albert F. Pickernell were also warmly applauded.

An original sketch entitled "The Kamele's Kismet," written by Miss Julia C. Colby, and the plot finished by Miss Amy Beal, was presented by the authors, assisted by E. A. Locke. The plot was laid in India and was creditably acted.

The "Herculean Marvels," Harrington and Whitney—again started the fun going after intermission and were followed by several songs and sketches by J. R. Osgood Perkins and Miss Margaret Hatfield, daughter of Mayor C. E. Hatfield.

Francis A. Wyman gave an excellent performance of magic art and William E. Chamberlain, Jr., after being strapped in a straight-jacket made his escape before the audience, and also was successful in escaping from a mail bag and handcuffs.

A short play "Une Petite de Montmartre" staged under the direction of Miss Julia C. Colby was presented by the following: Miss Julia C. Colby, Miss Ayame Knapp, Miss Evelyn Gorton, Miss Marion Stutson, Miss Florence Wyman, Miss Esther Wing, Mrs. Roy Pushee, Erskine P. Noyes, Henry W. Clarke, Raymond Gorton, Foster Harrington, Louis V. Washburn, Edward K. Merrihue and John Woodfin.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Genaro and Maria G. Blanco to Sherrington Trust Company dated August 16, 1911, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the County of Middlesex, book 3049, page 284, and assigned to Edwin H. Graves on May 6, 1913, for breach of the condition contained in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the premises, on Monday the second day of June 1913 at three o'clock, in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:—

A certain parcel of land with the buildings to be erected thereon situated in that part of Newton in the County of Middlesex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, called Newton Upper Falls, said parcel of land is shown as Lots 6, 6 and 7 on "Plan of Lots belonging to Genaro and Maria G. Blanco" by James Adams, C.E., dated June 1911 and recorded herewith. Said parcel of land is bounded and described as follows: Westerly by Circuit Avenue one hundred and fifty-six feet; Northerly by Lot 8 on said plan, one hundred and sixty and 4-10 (160.4) feet; Northeasterly by land now or formerly of Eugene Sullivan twenty-five feet; Southeasterly by Lots 12 and 13 on said plan one hundred and forty-four and 82-100 (114.2) feet; and Southerly by Lot 4 on said plan one hundred and seventeen and 82-100 (117.8) feet. Or however otherwise said premises may be bounded and described and be all or any of said measurement more or less.

The above premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and municipal assessments.

$500. will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

Don't Wait for the Wood to Show Before You Paint!

Postponing painting is like putting off payment of taxes. You are only piling up expense. The wise man paints often, so that there is always a protecting film of paint between his house and the elements. The more durable the paint, the less often this must be done.

The most durable paint in the world is Red Seal White Lead (Dutch Boy Painter Trade-Mark) and Dutch Boy Linseed Oil

when mixed to suit the conditions of the wood. All good painters do it this way. Make sure that yours does it, too, and that he uses Dutch Boy white lead and linseed oil.

Auburndale

—Mr. Henry Oldys gave an illustrated lecture last evening at Lowell Seminary on the subject, "Bird Notes."
—The whist party for the benefit of the Social Service League will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Norumbega Hall.

—Miss Gertrude E. Wightman of Maple street is entertaining Mrs. Hammond of Brookline and Miss Frances Goodwin of Boston.

—There was a large attendance at the last social of the Christian Endeavor Society which was held Tuesday evening in the Congregational Chapel.

—The Auburndale Brotherhood will give a minstrel show Wednesday evening, May 21st in the chapel at the Congregational Church. Mr. George Shephard will be the interlocutor.

—The S. E. K. Society will give a dancing party on Saturday evening, May 24, at the hall at the Riverside Recreation grounds. The matrons are Mrs. G. A. Drost, Mrs. Richard Patterson and Mrs. M. E. Herron.

—Mrs. May Sleeper Ruggles was the leader at the Mothers' meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Congregational Church. There was an interesting musical program of children's songs by Mrs. Ruggles and her pupils, and songs by the children.

—The classes of the Liederhelm Music School gave a musical entertainment Wednesday evening in the chapel at the Congregational Church. The program included selections by the Boys' Glee Club, Spring Songs and Greg's dramatic "Cloister Gate" by Liederhelm girls, and a trio from La-sell.

—More than 200 people were served at the annual May Breakfast last week at the Centenary Church. The tables were very attractively decorated with May-baskets and Spring flowers. The committee included Mrs. Roblee, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Wright assisted by the ladies of the church.
—The third in the series of concerts by the Christian Endeavor Orchestra will be given Tuesday evening at 7.45 at the Congregational Church. Miss Ruth Fielding a charming and talented young reader and Mr. Charles O'Brien an expert on the xylophone will assist in the program. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the orchestra. Ice cream and cake will be on sale.

The Boston Political Club gave a most enjoyable May Breakfast at Hotel Brunswick, Wednesday at 1 P. M. to the members and guests of the club, among whom are several Newton residents, Mrs. James I. Winstate, Mrs. S. L. Eaton, and Mrs. W. E. Blinnell with her guest Mrs. Robert Danby of New York. During the progress of the breakfast the Edison Disc Machine discoursed sweet music to the diners. After the breakfast was over, Mrs. Roseth Knapp Breed rendered very delightfully two exceedingly witty readings, "A Wedding by Telephone" and "A young girl's first trip in an automobile," which were rewarded by a storm of applause. Miss Caro Flske Colburn as Toastmistress then introduced Secretary of State Mr. Frank J. Donahue who spoke most interestingly regarding his political party and what it meant to women.

Ex-Representative James F. Cavanaugh followed with remarks regarding the Republican Party and its accomplishments. Mr. Wendell Phillips Thore, president of the Mass. Progressive Party Club then addressed the Club regarding the aims and the meaning of the Progressive Party. The afternoon proved not only enjoyable but exceedingly instructive.

MRS. WAITE'S WILL

The will of Mrs. Emma L. Waite of Newton, filed at the Probate Court at East Cambridge, bequeathed $5000 to the Newton Hospital, $1000 to the Rebecca Pomroy Home of Newton, $1000 to the Newton Y. M. C. A., $1000 to the North End Dispensary and Hospital, Boston; $1000 to John Wilson, her coachman, and $200 to Nellie Barry, her servant; the residue at 60 Vernon street, Newton, and $100,000 to her son, Albert Henry Waite. The residue of the estate, the value of which is not stated in the will, is left in trust for the benefit of her son, but eventually to go to his children.

There was provision made in the will for Mrs. Albert H. Waite, who is living apart from her husband by mutual agreement. The executors of the estate are Albert H. Waite, the son, and J. Foster Sherborn.

MRS. WHITAKER DEAD

Mrs. Ella C. Whitaker, the wife of Mr. Nat C. Whitaker of Hunnewell avenue, Newton, died suddenly on Wednesday following an attack of apoplexy. Mrs. Whitaker, who was alone in the house with a maid, complained of not feeling well at lunch and was assisted upstairs by the maid, who later heard her fall on the floor. Every assistance possible was given but she was beyond human aid. Mrs. Whitaker was born in Springfield in 1852 and was the daughter of Mr. Emory Hawes. She was a member of Elliot Church and actively interested in its activities. Besides her husband she is survived by a son, Harry, and a daughter Grace Whitaker.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at her late home, 118 Hunnewell avenue, Newton.

LARGE INCREASE WANTED

School Appropriation Hearing $400,000

The school committee has presented its budget for 1914 to the aldermen. The committee estimates its expenses at $377,233, an increase of $24,800 over the appropriation for the present year. On account of an increase in receipts, of which $21,000 comes from the state, the committee asks for an appropriation of $346,433 or $3800 more than 1913 figures. The committee on schools of the aldermen has considered the matter and has made the following report:

The Committee on Schools recommends for the consideration of the Aldermen the sum of $346,433.00 as the amount to be appropriated for the School Budget for 1914.

The committee says:—Your Committee understands that a copy of the Estimated School Budget has been sent to each member of the Board. It is noticed that apparently the School Board asks for $26,830.00 more than was asked for the current year, and it is natural that the question should be asked, "Why this increase?" In answer to this question we think it not out of place to state:

1. Eight thousand dollars of this increase is due to provisions for taking over the Independent Industrial School at Nonantum, heretofore supported by Mr. Frank A. Day..... $8,000.00
2. $3000 to $5000 more is due to the increased expense of conducting a part of the Technical High School meeting the conditions that the State imposes for reimbursement. We will call it..... 4,000.00
3. The additional expense of conducting the Evening School will be making no allowance for increased attendance over the current year..... 2,000.00
4. Additional cost of conveyance..... 104.00
5. Janitors and Engineers—caused by eight hour law mainly..... 500.00
6. Supplies; Books, Incidentals, etc..... 5,000.00
7. Normal Increase—tendency based upon actual cost per pupil for 1912, 2 per cent to 144 at $47.76..... 6,877.00

$26,481.00

In this manner we have accounted for the apparent increase. As you have seen in the School Budget, the income from the State and other sources amounts to $30,800.00. Deducting this from the estimated expense, we have as the total sum required, $346,433.00, to be raised by taxation; and which is only $3890 more than the sum called for and granted for 1913.

Your committee has been favored with an advance copy of the School Superintendent's report for 1912, and has studied it with as much care as has been possible in the limited time it has had. We hope to give it further and more careful study, and we hope each member of the Board will do the same before a vote on this appropriation is taken. At this time it is the unanimous opinion of the Committee that the sum asked for should be granted. Your Committee would further suggest that a formal invitation be sent to the School Board and to Dr. Spaulding to attend the meeting of the Board of Aldermen when this appropriation is to be voted upon, presumably May 6th.

THE NEW COMPTROLLER

Mr. John Daboll, who was elected comptroller of accounts on Monday night, is a resident of Waltham and about 50 years of age. He graduated from Brown University and has been in the employ of the Thomson-Houston Electric Co., the General Electric Co., assistant superintendent of the Wrought Iron Casting Co., and the Eastern Forge Co. for the past sixteen years he has been private secretary to the president of the Mellin Food Co., and for the past few months has been secretary of the Swedish-British Society of America. Mr. Daboll has the highest reputation for integrity, morals and character.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—It has been years since any attraction in vaudeville has created such a sensation as the beautiful and sensational aquatic spectacle, "Neptune's Garden of Living Statues" at B. F. Keith's Theatre. This remarkable mythological pantomime, which will enter upon its second week next Monday afternoon, has become the talk of the town. The disappearance of the beautiful living marble statues in the enchanted pool, the troupe of Nereids that arise from the water at the command of Amphitrite, the sensational "La Danse Dementie" and the many other novel features of this beautiful water spectacle have attracted wide attention. A really great vaudeville bill will surround this brilliant feature. Owen McGivney, the great Irish protean actor, will appear in his latest novelty, "Bill Sykes," based on Dickens' "Oliver Twist," in which Mr. McGivney plays five different characters. Alexander and Scott make their appearance after a long absence, and other features will be Leon Carrillo with his Chinese stories and impersonations; Nester and Bergman; the Bruce Brumell Trio; Frank Parlane; Edison's Talking Motion Pictures; and several other features yet unannounced.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Miss Elizabeth Apporth McFadden's new play, "The Child," which is now running at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, has had the advantage of production by Harrison Grey Fluke, whose genius in stage direction has been displayed in the magnificent staging of "Kismet" and "The Sign of the Cross." Mr. Fluke and other stars have appeared. The effects in the first act of "The Child," representing a flood of the Ohio River, are immensely impressive. The company is headed by Miss Emily Stevens, who is most favorably known to Boston players, and includes such well-known players as George Probert, Frank Currier, Henry Hull, Robert, and Montez. In accordance with the custom at the Plymouth Theatre, the mid-week matinee is given on Thursday, and the regular matinee on Saturday.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—This is a humorist. This is proved by "The Comedy of Errors," which will be given at the Castle Square next week. The scenes of "The Comedy of Errors" are laid in Ephesus many centuries ago. The scenic and costume display will therefore be strikingly novel, and in order that it may be everything that should be desired, Mr. Craig has engaged the services of Mr. Livingstone Platt, who is well known as an expert in the effective stage presentation of plays. He will design both the scenery and the costumes. The two Dromios, the chief humorous characters in the play, will be acted by Donald Meek and Al Roberts, and their twin masters by Mr. Craig and William P. Carleton.

BOSTON THEATRE

Denman Thompson's "THE OLD HOMESTEAD" Back Home on Monday, May 12. Almost Original Cast, with E. L. Snader, Denman Thompson's Chosen Successor, as "Joshua Whitcomb."

The greatest of all American successes, guaranteed from coast to coast by press, public and manager for 25 years, returns to the home of its infancy, the Boston Theatre, on May 12th. It was in April, 1886, the "Grand Old Man of New England" Idyl, had its initial performance at this famous playhouse and made the most telling success ever scored by a production in Boston. Year after year since then, from one end of the country to the other, it has repeated that success, and it has ever improved with age.

A quarter of a century is a long time, as time goes on the stage. Few players and plays have bridged the gulf from the early 80's to 1913. It may be that "The Old Homestead" brings a bit of a timely lesson in sound values. At any rate, it is a wonder to wonder about the "powerful" and "gripping" dramas of today—the best of them. Will they weather the years like "The Old Homestead"? It's worth thinking over.

With that touch of nature that will live as long as there is an American stage, the grand old masterpiece returns to the Boston Theatre with practically its original cast, and with Mr. Edward L. Snader, Denman Thompson's chosen successor in the role of dear old "Joshua Whitcomb."

The production would no doubt be a revelation to the by-gone friends of a quarter century ago. The art of stagecraft has made rapid strides since then. Such familiar scenes as the old farmyard in the New Hampshire hills, and the equally familiar Grace Church scene, are two of the most striking pictures of stage realism.

Two of the distinct features are the famous double male quartette and the grand choir in the Grace Church scene, that for the engagement here will be augmented with twenty trained voices.

Mr. Frank Thompson, Denman Thompson's son, keeps the tradition of the play well in hand. His attention for many seasons accounts in no small way for the merited success of this famous masterpiece. Summer prices will prevail during its engagement in Boston. Entire orchestra $1.00, first balcony 75c, second balcony 50c and third balcony 25c.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

How many people in Newton know that the Newton Free Library is open each week day from eight A. M. until nine P. M.?

How many know that a cardholder may take one work of fiction and as many of non-fiction as he can carry even if he brings an automobile?

How many know that the Library has been enlarged and made over without closing for one hour?

How many know that the scores of the late operas are there to be taken out, and also lantern slides and photographs of paintings by the great masters?

How many know the Library has nine branches and two delivery stations?

How many know that the Engine Houses, Sunday Schools, Athletic Club and Young Men's Christian Association have deposits of books from the Library, changed every three months?

How many know that ministers, teachers, and clubs may take any number of books and keep them a month?

Come to the Library and see for yourself how attractive it is, and how well the money for improvements has been spent.

Come and ask questions?

LITERARY NOTE

Sherman, French and Company announce for publication toward the end of April "The Book of Job" by Homer B. Sprague, Ph.D., of Newton, formerly Professor in Cornell University, afterwards President of the University of North Dakota, and Lecturer in Drew Theological Seminary. He is widely known as the editor of many annotated masterpieces of Chaucer, Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton, and other classic English writers.

This volume, the fruit of twenty years of study, contains an introductory essay, a new translation of the Hebrew original, and copious explanatory notes. These notes state with the utmost conciseness the views of the most eminent authorities upon almost every disputed point, thus really presenting a variorum edition.

For the land's sake, use Bowker's Fertilizers; they enrich the earth and those who till it. These fertilizers are now sold in Watertown and vicinity by J. Loring & Co., opposite the United States Arsenal on Arsenal Street, Watertown, who will carry them in stock at all times. They will also make a specialty of Bowker's Lawn & Garden Dressing put up in large and small bags. If you have a flower garden or a vegetable garden, or want to make the grass grow luxuriantly on your lawn, be sure to consult Loring & Co., about it. Market gardeners all around Boston have used Bowker's Fertilizers for forty years.

Give the Suppleness of the Unconstrained Figure
Only by the use of flexible bones can a corset give that easy naturalness to the figure which is now demanded by the ultra-luxurious. Because of its perfectly flexible bones, the Spirella Corset is ideally adapted to meet this need. All its lines are long and soft, though adhering snugly to the figure. Spirella bones yield easily in every direction, allowing unobstructed comfort under all conditions. Yet it will not take a permanent bend nor lose its original shape.

Every Spirella Corset is made to individual measure and is adapted to the needs of the wearer as to time and her best lines.

EDITORIAL

One of the most interesting features about the election of Mr. Daboll to the important office of comptroller of accounts last Monday evening, was the fact that politics was not considered in his selection, and it was a great surprise to many of the aldermen to learn later that he was a Democrat in politics. It is also interesting to note that if the members of the board of aldermen desired to play the political game for all it was worth, it would have been good judgment to have given the office to ex-alderman William J. Doherty, who will undoubtedly be the Democratic candidate for mayor next fall, and thus eliminate him as a factor in the coming election. The board, however, absolutely failed to appreciate the political side of the matter, and thereby added new laurels to the fact that the city government is run for business and not for politics.

N. H. S.

Newton won a close game from the Somerville H. S. team last Monday afternoon on Clavin Field, 5 to 4. The visitors were held in check until the ninth, when a batting rally was started, but was stopped when the team was hit by one run of the score. Jack Conlon did the flinging honors, and acquitted himself in grand style, allowing six hits, and forcing 10 men to strike out. In only one inning was more than one hit recorded off his delivery, those being in the ninth, when two errors, followed by a single and double, followed by a sacrifice and error allowed the visitors three runs. Both teams earned one run during the first five innings, when the Newton team on a single by Conlon, followed by an error and a fielder's choice, and another hit gave the Newton team three runs. In the seventh, Newton scored its last tally on two singles and a sacrifice. Newton showed up weakly at the bat, and the fielding in tight places was ragged.

Newton, for the second time within a week was handed a defeat, Malden High winning over the local team yesterday on Clavin Field in one of the most uninteresting games of the season, 9 to 6. Newton out-hit the visitors, but when with men on bases, the best they could do was to roll an easy grounder or lift fly to some infielder. Higgins started in the box, but lasted for four innings, during which time five runs were scored by the visitors, and Conlon was sent in.

The support given both pitchers was very poor, wild throws being a frequent occurrence. Three hits were made off Conlon, but the ragged support sent four runs over the plate. Ralph Hyatt, who during the past two games has been holding down the initial sack, played the best game, accepting nine chances without an error, and his hitting is improving every game.

RECITAL

The pupils of Mrs. Nelson Freeman gave a recital on Saturday evening at her residence on Lexington street, Auburndale. There was a high-class program of thirty-four numbers presented, including works of the well-known composers: Beethoven, Chopin, Schmitt, Sartorio, Spindler and Lange, and each number was received with great enthusiasm by the large audience. The following pupils took part, and acquitted themselves most creditably: Leonard Simonds, Elizabeth Hammond, Alfred Place, Mary Nowers, Stanley Place, Eleanor Lakeman, Chancey Spaulding, Maud Gordon, Lois Clark, Dorothy Grant, Harry Cowdrey, Margaret Maloney, Grace Van Kirk, Helen Brooks, Dean Almy, Edith Wilkey, Natalie Hammond, Elinor Kimball, Frederick Rankett, Heloise Kennedy, Francis Farley, Blanche McPhee, Forest Davidson, Dorothy Wilkey, Jean Simonds, Ethel Hunt, Evelyn Fuller, Corabel Robinson, Ruth St. Amant, Allen Davidson, Ethel Walker, Helen Barker.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

The Newton and West Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union celebrated the birthday of their State President, Mrs. Katherine Lente Stevenson on Thursday afternoon by giving a large reception at Headquarters, in their beautiful new home at 541 Massachusetts avenue, Boston.

Mrs. Eaton, president of the Newton Union, was one of those who had charge of the reception, and presented Mrs. Stevenson with a purse of gold, accompanied by a bouquet of beautiful flowers and good wishes. The spacious rooms were crowded with representatives from the 266 Unions in the state, and Mrs. Stevenson was showered with congratulations from the 10,000 and more members of the organization in the state.

A literary program and music added to the enjoyment and this was followed by dainty refreshments.

BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Preston J. Calley entertained a company of friends at a delightful bridge party on Wednesday afternoon at her residence on Washington park, Newtonville.

Three tables were arranged in the reception room, which was decorated most attractively with sweet peas and pink carnations. The game was auction bridge and there was a prize at each table.

The winner of the first prize was Mrs. Robert Douglas of Washington park; the second was taken by Mrs. Charles A. Boutelle of Newton Centre; and Mrs. Harry L. Tilton of Waban captured the third.

COMPTROLLER ELECTION VOID

With Alderman Jones in the chair, Alderman Blakemore stated that he had heard considerable discussion as to why the board made a distinction between the sixth class liquor licenses and the transportation permits. Personally he was very much in favor of cutting down the number of these permits, especially those doing the largest business. He stated that Alderman Cox was not present at the last meeting of the committee, and therefore he was not surprised at his present sentiment, a sentiment which he had held until the night of the last committee meeting. He stated that these sales of liquor are all made outside of the city, and that the board has no evidence against any of these expressmen, that they are doing a legal business and that there has been no complaints against any of them. He stated that it was not the business of the board to say how much liquor the citizens of Newton should drink. That is not within its province, but it is within its province to say how much liquor shall be sold in the city of Newton, that authority being given in the statutes. The difference between the sale in Boston and in Newton is very clear. The two cannot be placed on the same basis. I have been over this matter and although not much of a mathematician, I find the amount of brandy, whiskey, gin and rum brought in by expressmen is almost exactly the amount the druggists sold. The soft drinks, ale and beer, which they do bring in go mostly to the Italian families who use this as we use tea and coffee. I have conferred with the judge of the police court relative to this matter and his report was very favorable, as there is very little trouble from the Italians, because they are law-abiding citizens. The refusing of these licenses would not stop the liquor from being brought in, as it would be brought in by wholesalers, and not subject to police supervision as under these transportation permits. The wholesalers would come into the city absolutely without a limit at all, and they would bring in this liquor indiscriminately. Those with whom I have talked and found opposed to the granting of the expressmen's licenses are those who appear to be in favor of the druggists' licenses.

In response to question of Alderman Forkall, Alderman Blakemore stated that he was in favor of granting the permit in question, as Mr. Butters was doing a legitimate express business, and had been for a number of years. On the question of granting the permit, 14 in favor, Aldermen Cox, Forkall and Sullivan opposed.

JUDGE RAYMOND PROSTRATED

Hon. Robert F. Raymond, justice of the Superior Court and a resident of Devon road, Newton Centre, was prostrated last Friday, while holding court at Worcester, and was removed at once to the City Hospital. Judge Raymond has been in poor health throughout the March term of court and on two occasions his condition has compelled him to remain away.

Mr. Raymond was able to return to his home on Wednesday.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

All those who attended the annual meeting of the Newton Federation on Tuesday were once more impressed with the good work that is being done by the clubs each year as well as with what the Federation itself accomplishes. The power of the Federation in unifying the city and the interests of the women is more and more being felt and we may look back upon the Clavin Bazaar as one of the potent forces in cementing this union. The past of the Federation is honorable and may the future be still more honorable. Long live the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs.

The annual meeting of the State Federation occurs on May 28 and 29 in Boston. The sessions will be held in the South Congregational Church, Exeter and Newbury streets, this being "Dr. Hale's Church," not the New Old South on Boylston street. Hotel Vendome will be the headquarters for the visiting delegates. The event of the convention will be the presence of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation.

Local Happenings

The members of the New Mothers' Club met at the home of its president, Mrs. F. T. Walsh, on Monday, May 5, for luncheon. After which the business of the annual meeting was transacted and the following list of officers elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. F. T. Walsh; vice-president, Mrs. Hubert L. Carter; secretary, Mrs. E. F. Lovejoy; treasurer, Mrs. W. F. Bartholomew; chairman of the Program committee, Mrs. Henry D. Lloyd.

The annual meeting of the Waban Woman's Club held at the Union Church vestry on Monday terminated a very active and successful year. Various reports were read and it was voted to give money for the benefit of the Social Service League, the Floating Hospital and the Mothers' Rest. Two groups of songs were very pleasantly rendered by Mrs. Helen Boyce Wheeler and a tea and social hour completed the entertainment.

The officers elected for 1913-1914 are as follows: President, Mrs. Emma G. Angier; vice-president, Mrs. Alice W. Isola; recording secretary, Mrs. Edith Virtue; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harriet B. Pingree; treasurer, Mrs. Anna S. Wheeler; entertainment committee, Mrs. Margaret F. Dowd; nominating committee, Mrs. Helen S. Andrews; Mrs. Lucy E. Annable, and Mrs. Emma F. Rice.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning the members of the standing committees for the coming year were approved by the club. The apportionment of the club's finances for next year was discussed and have been arranged with the hope that the club may be able to co-operate more heartily with the work of the State Federation. Mrs. L. S. Drake, the president, gave an interesting account of the Council Meeting at Washington speaking particularly of the things that impressed her.

On Wednesday afternoon twenty members of the Pierian Club met at the home of Mrs. H. E. Locke for luncheon. Carrying out the idea of the winter's study on Ireland, green and white were conspicuous among the vases served and the table decorations. The business of the annual meeting, reports of officers and chairmen of committees and the election of officers followed the luncheon. The officers for next year are: President, Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr.; vice-president, Mrs. C. A. Chadwick; secretary, Mrs. H. E. Locke; treasurer, Mrs. W. C. Willard.

NEWTON FEDERATION

On Tuesday morning at ten-thirty a large number of members of the Newton Federation assembled in the hall of the Technical High School for the annual meeting. After the annual reports of the secretaries and the treasurer came the reports of the standing committees. Mrs. B. E. Taylor reported the work of the Social Service committee for the year. Among the matters considered by the committee have been, police court conditions, market conditions in the city, and the tuberculosis work which has been decreasing owing to increased interest of the city Board of Health and of the State sanitaria. The dental clinic has been the great special care of the committee and is at last an established fact. Six children were treated there last Saturday. Its success is now as sure as for fifteen dentists have pledged a half-day's time a month and there are others who will give time once in two months. Two rooms have been fitted up in the old Clavin School building with the co-operation of the commissioner of public buildings and of the school department. Through the interest of the dentist who formed the purchasing committee the complete outfit has been secured far within the amount first considered necessary for the purpose. The city will provide the heat, light and janitor service. It has been decided to charge every child ten cents for each visit to the clinic and only those children will receive treatment who are recommended by the school nurses. Mrs. Taylor asked for contributions of furniture for the clinic. Already some pieces have been given, but others are needed.

Mrs. F. E. Anderson reported for the social committee the arrangements which have been carried out at each of the meetings during the year. Mrs. L. S. Drake stated for the Education committee concerning the mattern which have been done by them during the year. Among them may be mentioned the fitting up of an emergency room at the Classical High School for the use of the girls, some description of which has already been given in these columns during the year. Early in the fall the committee conferred with the authorities regarding the crowded condition of the care bringing children from Newton Highlands to the high schools and as a result extra cars have been provided. The work done by the committee toward securing members of the school committee was also reported.

Mrs. Eleanor B. Hinckley, chairman of the Nominating committee, presented the ballot and the following women were unanimously elected as officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre; vice-president, Mrs. Charles T. Bartlett, Mrs. C. Frederick Rogers, Jr., Mrs. Charles A. Andrews; recording secretary, Miss Albert J. Crombie; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bernard Early; treasurer, Miss Lilla A. Rider; auditor, Miss Minnie R. Wheeler.

The reports from the presidents of the clubs were as usual of varied interest. Mrs. W. A. Knowlton reported for the Auburndale Review Club, Mrs. G. M. Fluke gave a most interesting account of the work of the Ladies' Home Circle, which next fall will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary, during which time the club has raised $12,000 for charitable work. Mrs. F. T. Walsh spoke for the Mothers' Club, Mrs. W. A. Beedle for the Parliamentary Law Club, Mrs. L. S. Drake for the Social Science Club, Mrs. Frank H. Stewart for the Newton Centre Woman's Club, Mrs. H. E. Williams for the Monday Club, Miss Albert J. Crombie for the Shakespeare Club, Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr., for the Pierian Club, Mrs. I. O. Palmer for the Newtonville Woman's Guild, Mrs. F. H. Putnam for the Waban Woman's Club, and Mrs. Everett S. Jones for the West Newton Women's Educational Club.

Several members who had attended the Council Meeting at Washington gave some account of that meeting. Miss Minnie R. Wheeler told of the program and of the visit to Baltimore. She stated that over 3000 women were in attendance, sixty being from Massachusetts. One other delegation only exceeded it in numbers, that from Maryland being sixty-three. Mrs. L. S. Drake spoke of the pride which she felt in American womanhood, of the wonderful ability of the new president, Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, and of the strong womanliness which pervaded the meeting. She was most deeply impressed than ever before with the value of Federation work, not only for the good which can be done, but also the value to ourselves. Mrs. Irving O. Palmer added some of the things with which she was impressed.

At the close of the morning session Mrs. George H. Wilkins the retiring president, presented Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, the newly-elected president, and Mrs. McIntyre spoke feelingly of her great interest in club work and pledged herself to the best interests of the Federation. A hearty vote of thanks was given the retiring officers. The delicious luncheon prepared and served by members of the Household department of the school was much appreciated by the more than one hundred members who sat down to it. The tables were most attractive with their decorations of pink roses and dainty setting. Never has the Federation partaken of a more appetizing luncheon nor one more daintily served. Great credit is due Miss Flora E. Anderson and the young girls and boys who were given a most hearty vote of thanks.

The women returned to the hall at the close for the afternoon session, which opened with a group of piano duets by Mrs. Harry Cabot and Mrs. Albert P. Carter. Then came a prologue in rhyme given by Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden as an introduction to the presentation of "The Kieftomania" by members of the Newtonville Woman's Guild. The following ladies comprised the cast: Mrs. Sprenger, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Hunt, Miss Bassett and Mrs. Heberd. The parts were all unusually well taken and the play went off with a snap.

The afternoon closed with a half-hour of music by the New Edison Disc Phonograph which was given through the courtesy of Mr. Thomas F. Morris of Newton. The instrument gives a very clear record and with little that is mechanical, so that it was often difficult to realize that the musicians themselves were not being heard.

HOME CIRCLE

A social tea and a musicale will enliven the next meeting on Thursday, May 15, in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville. As this is the last meeting and two most vital questions must be discussed and decided it is hoped every member will be there. Otherwise they will have no voice in the matter.

Our account of the recent annual meeting of the West Newton Educational Club omitted to state that Mrs. Everett S. Jones presided again after the election of officers, was presented by Mrs. Luther B. Woodward with a beautiful basket of roses, the gift of club members.

LODGES

Newton Council, K. of C., entertained a large number of friends last Friday evening at a May party in Temple hall, Newtonville. John J. Flynn, D.D., of Waltham was a guest of the council. The floor was under the direction of John F. Gallagher, assisted by Wm. J. Mullen, James T. Gallagher, Joseph Hargreaves, J. McEvers, Thomas J. Nogue, Joseph A. McCarthy, John G. Gannon, John J. Gannon, Dr. D. F. McCabe, Cornelius Lane, J. A. Hendricks, M. O'Halloran, T. G. Davis, John J. Nolan, Daniel Keasles and John Buckley.

SOUTH MIDDLESEX CONFERENCE

The one hundred and thirty-sixth session of the South Middlesex Conference was held Wednesday at the Channing Unitarian Church, Newton and there was an attendance of about 300.

It was an all-day session and opened at 10.30 with a devotional service, led by Rev. Harold L. Pickett of East Lexington, which was followed by a business session and the annual election of officers with reports of officers and committees.

The officers elected were John G. Brackett of Arlington, president; Rev. John M. Wilson of Lexington, vice-president; Rev. Otto E. Duerr of Melrose, secretary, to take the place of Rev. Mr. Lutz, the retiring secretary, who held the office for five years; and Mr. Charles W. Stone of Watertown, treasurer. Mrs. George Kuhn, clerk, of Cambridge, and Rev. Joseph P. McCarthy of Waltham were also elected to the board of directors.

The opening address was given by Dr. Samuel M. Crothers, of Cambridge, who spoke briefly on Unitarian work in the northwest and the great field for Unitarian work in Western Canada. An address by Rev. Frederic Gill of Arlington followed; Mr. Gill spoke on "A Gospel of the Spirit," and said that Faith is a conviction, or group of convictions, by which we live, which becomes a gospel, when through any channel it is made an inspiration to other people. Henry M. Williams, Esq., of Cambridge, treasurer of the American Unitarian Association, spoke on "A Lesson from the Flood," which was one of the illustrations of practical fellowship.

At the noon session luncheon was served at 12.30, by a committee of ladies of the church, under the chairmanship of Miss Jessie M. Fisher. Covers were laid for 250.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock with an address by Mrs. George H. Root of Winchester, on "Social Service Council of Unitarian Women." Mrs. Root spoke of the work of the Social Service Council, which is trying to stimulate and aid the present organization in social service work. Rev. Florence Buck was unable to attend, and her place was filled by Prof. Edwin D. Starbuck. His subject was "The Child at Worship," and he spoke of how, by prolonging human infancy we get into the habit of learning and adjusting life to the complicated world, and then on to facts beyond our knowledge, and arrive at the conclusion that the end of life is growth, the joy of conquering, and love, the greatest thing in the world.

Rev. Julian C. Jaynes of West Newton, delivered the closing address on "The Cheapening of Religion," and spoke of religion as the highest sentiment of the soul, and whatever cheapens it to make it popular, affects morals; let the church be sociological as it may be at the circumstance, but religious, at the centre; "Better fail facing the right way, than to flourish at the cost of its own soul." All of the addresses were intensely interesting and inspiring and there was a universal feeling that the day had been a most successful one.

The session closed with a devotional service led by Rev. Charles A. Allen of Waverley.

CARTHAGE OF TODAY

Fourth Letter About Travels In Unknown Countries

Tunis, Africa, March 31, 1913.
Editor Newton Graphic:—

What would Dido, daughter of the king of Tyre have thought, if from her palace on the hill of Byrsa she had seen coming from the ancient Thunes, a broom stick train scurrying across the nine miles of sandy plain and stagnant lagoon that lay between, in thirty minutes' time! Thunes—the Tunis of today, was old when Dido made her famous bargain with those bold and canny navigators from Tyre and Sidon who had long before come down across the Tyrranean Sea and seized on all this northeastern corner of Africa. When Dido came with her retinue she proposed that they sell to her land enough for herself and her people; but these men of Tyre did not really want her to stay and yet they could hardly refuse the daughter of their former king—so they agreed that she might purchase as much land as an oxhide would cover; that was their polite way of turning her down. But she must have found the progenitor of the skillful artisan that I saw stripping a sheepskin into incredibly fine threads, in one of the Tunis socks today, for he stripped the oxhide into strings so thin that she was able with them to encircle all the Byrsa hill. And today you step on an electric train almost at the very door of your hotel in Tunis, and land at the foot of the hill that Dido bought twenty-seven hundred years ago.

Your first impression is one of surprise that so great a city could have so utterly disappeared. Can this be Carthage, at her greatest the mistress of the world?

Where are the "palaces and piles stupendous" of which the very ruins should be "tremendous." You see three hills lying in the white sunshine. On the Byrsa hill Cardinal Levett built his cathedral and near it is the monastery and school of the order of the White Fathers which he founded, but to the eastward the hills of Venus and of Neptune are bare. You look for the circular harbor of Carthage, large enough to shelter the galleons of the world and with the island in the middle where Hannibal lived. That muddy lagoon that wouldn't today float a ferry boat, is all there is: for the sea in twenty centuries has made great inroads, and the silt and sand have filled the basin and blotted out the ancient land marks. And yet the historians tell us that on these hills and in the great plains to the north and west were five hundred thousand homes. It seems incredible that so rich an archeological field should not have been explored until very recent years.—I think not at all until after the French occupation.—And yet while so little has been done the wonderful marbles, bronzes and mosaics in the Bardo museum at Tunis attest the richness of the field. The White Fathers have also a museum containing the marvellous results of their own explorations. This museum has been arranged almost entirely by a good old priest, Father Delattre, of great knowledge and attainments. I remember seeing him when I was here two years ago. I saw very little evidence of present exploration; they say the money is not forthcoming to carry it on. And yet for miles square you cannot dig into the earth without uncovering Phoenician tombs, or Roman Villas! When the electric road was extended to Sidi Bou Said three or four years ago, a cutting was made through the hills and hardly a stone was thrown up that did not have the evidence of human hand work on it and some beautiful things were uncovered. Today you can walk along that railway and see in scores of places the lines of the pavements of old houses—and you can with your foot kick away the dirt and break out pieces of beautiful mosaic floors; and there is no one to prevent you taking away as much as you like.

But you would not be the first robber of Carthage: for all these centuries the old city seems to have been a quarry for Tunis and all the smaller places for miles about. The Tunis of today is very largely built of the stones of Carthage. Everywhere, in the mosques—the tombs, the walls of the streets—you will see the apolis: in the dirt and squalor of the poorest part of Tunis there will shine out at you a splendid carved capital of Carthage in its glory. So this is, I suppose, why so little of old Carthage is today standing above ground. But what has been uncovered is interesting.

You are shown any number of Punic tombs and in the same opening perhaps Roman and early Christian graves. The Roman Theatre is pretty well uncovered and the semi-circular seats and parts of the stage building are in perfect enough shape so that within a few years several performances of Greek drama or something of the kind have been given.

There has also been unearthed a great basilica—or early Christian church, about two hundred and twenty-five by one hundred and fifty feet in size—where St. Cypran, the first Bishop of Carthage used to preach; and very likely also St. Augustine, that famous Carthaginian, who lived here until the Vandals under Genseric overthrew Carthage in the early part of the fifth century.

You will be shown the great Amphitheatre, in which thousands of early Christians were thrown to wild beasts. You probably remember the story of Perpetua and Felicitas: it was here they were martyred. Not far away is a cross bearing an inscription stating that here Perpetua was buried. Long after this was erected her real tomb was discovered—several miles away to the north, and with enough remains and relics to establish its authenticity beyond question, but the cross and its misleading inscription are still allowed to stand.

But of all the works that the Carthaginians left behind them to me the most wonderful is the great system of water storage reservoirs. I suppose their existence must have been known before, but it was only twenty-five years ago that Tunis determined to utilize them: there are seventeen great barrel-shaped vaults or cisterns, all running parallel—each a hundred feet long, twenty-five feet wide—and the waters in them thirty feet deep—pure, cool, delicious water, brought from the mountains of Zaguan fifty miles away. These great cisterns are in an underground building one and one-half acres in extent. The cost of reclaiming this old water supply was very little—and I am told by engineers that it would be hard to devise or build today a better system of water storage than is this legacy from an age so remote as to be shrouded in mystery. My picture of Carthage is sombre; but it did not so seem to us. The day was glorious. White sunshine, a perfect sky—the hills clothed in green and dotted with sheep and goats. Flowers blooming riotously everywhere—and to the north and west fields of blossoming flax, making pale blue lakes. Then at a charming little white hotel on the crest of the Byrsa we were served a most delicious meal. From our table by the window we could see the new houses—mostly for summer use—clustering around the old port that once was closed nightly by a great chain stretched across: beyond the beautiful blue waters of the lake of Tunis, and to the northeast glistening on its hill, the white summer city of Sidi Bou Said, crowned by its great light house tower. This is the exclusive and aristocratic resort of wealthy Arabs from Tunis. Up to within a few years no Christian was ever permitted to sleep within its walls. But today the cupid-ity of land owners prompts the sale of building lots to Jew, Christian or Pagan. Then in the late afternoon the electric train back to Tunis along the sandy stretches of the lagoon. We craned our necks and strained our eyes for the flocks of pink flamingos that may sometimes be seen. But all we could see were the black ships loading iron ore at La Goletta: this has become an important port for the shipping of the ore of which there seems an inexhaustible supply in the mountains a hundred miles inland.

And so back to Tunis—the great cafes on the broad avenue just now filling up with gaily dressed people—and the hundreds of outdoor tables on the broad side walks all occupied for it is the hour when the Frenchman slips his absinthe or anisette and listens to the gay music of the bands.

Tunis has also a large and influential Italian contingent—music-loving, as always; they have their Theatre Rossini—and every other night grand opera splendidly done by artists from La Scala at Milan and San Carlo at Naples. Last night we saw Traviata with Lina Cavalieri and a fine support, particularly the tenor lover who sang magnificently; think of it—the very best seats in the house, and unusually comfortable, 70 cents each!

Six years ago there was buried here in Tunis an American who gave to the world what is probably the best known song in the English language, "Home, Sweet Home." It is a somewhat pathetic fact that John Howard Payne should have died here in this strange land five thousand miles from his home. He was our vice consul here for ten years and died in his sixty-first year. For three hundred years the representatives of foreign countries were buried in this plot of ground now in the heart of the poor Jewish quarter, and you see here the grave of the English consul who secured the piece of land for a burial ground early in the sixteenth century. Some time ago a pretty little church of England was built here and the old cemetery became a church yard, beautiful with trees and flowers.

Payne's monument is in a prominent place, and in good repair: his remains after lying here 31 years were taken up and sent to America and are now buried in Washington. I noticed a rather obscure inscription running around the base of the monument which seemed beautiful enough for transcription: here it is

"And when the gentle spirit fled"
"To realms beyond the azure dome"
"With outstretched arms, God's angels said"
"Welcome to Heaven's 'Home, Sweet Home.'"
In the days that Payne lived the city though much smaller, must have been entirely Moslem and practically all Arab. Even today after all the influx of new peoples, the Arab is tremendously on the majority. They are an interesting people to study wherever they are. Here the wealthy Arabs dress with great care in splendid raiment, but you never see an Arab, however poor, that does not carry himself with great dignity. They are simple, kindly and reverent: many a time I had noticed, in the smaller residential streets, some tall Arab stoop and pick from the pavement a scrap of paper and tuck it carefully into a crevice in the wall. I asked why, and was told that no good Moslem ever stepped on a piece of paper that appeared to have written or printed words on it, lest he unwittingly profane the sacred name of Allah by crushing it beneath his feet.

And now the time has come to say good-bye to this country of curious contradictions,—of rivers without water,—forests without trees,—and cows that never give milk; and to this beautiful white city sunning itself by its sapphire and emerald sea.

GLIDDEN-HOPKINS

A notable event of the past week was the wedding of Miss Helen Hopkins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Earl Hopkins of Newtonville and Mr. William Taylor Glidden Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor Glidden of Brookline, which took place Saturday afternoon at the Central Congregational church.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms and white flowers and the ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by Rev. Jay T. Stocking, the pastor.

Wagner's bridal chorus from Lohengrin was rendered as the bridal party assembled at the chancel, the bride being escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage.

The natural attractiveness of the bride was enhanced by an exquisite gown of white chamoisee trimmed with duchess lace and embroidery. She wore a tulle veil and carried a full shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Mildred Forbes of Newton as maid of honor, who was gowned in pale green chamoisee and chiffon with white lace trimmings, and carried Taft roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Dunbar W. Dexter of Milton as best man, and the ushers were Stephen T. Hopkins, brother of the bride, Augustus Cobb, of Boston, H. H. Baldwin Jr., of Belmont, F. Roger Thomas, of West Newton, Rev. Palfrey Perkins of Brookline, Robert Jarvis Leonard of New York, F. H. Warner Jr., of Brookline and N. C. Nash Jr., of Cambridge.

A large and brilliant reception followed the ceremony at the residence of the bride's parents on Newtonville avenue, which was attractively decorated for the occasion with a profusion of cut-flowers.

Refreshments were served in a tent on the lawn, and music was furnished by a three-piece orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Glidden were assisted in receiving by Dr. and Mrs. Edward Earl Hopkins, and Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor Glidden. A large and representative gathering of society was present from New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, Augusta, Me., and the Newtons.

On their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Glidden will be at home after June 1st, at their new residence on Barnstable road, West Newton.

MR. HUNT BURIED

Mr. James E. Hunt, formerly of Newton, and a late resident of Newtonville, was taken to the Newton Hospital Patriots' Day, suffering from heart disease and died on April 23, after a long illness.

The funeral was held at George W. Mills' undertaking parlors at Newtonville, April 25, at 2 o'clock. Members of the lodge of which the deceased was a member, attended the funeral and also held an impressive service at the grave. Mr. Hunt leaves a widow and two children and three unmarried sisters. Funeral at Newton Cemetery.

GOVERNOR VETOES WATER BILL

Disapproves Act To Allow Additional Water From the Charles River Valley

The action of Governor Foss in vetoing the bill to allow the city of Newton to take an additional three million gallons of water daily from the Charles River valley, was a great surprise to those who know all the facts, and the promptness and unanimity with which the Senate by a vote of 28 to 0 passed the bill over the veto, shows that the upper branch thought of the nation.

The facts are that Newton, which is already contributing $96,000 to the metropolitan water district, for which it has received absolutely nothing in return, prefers to obtain its water supply from the Charles River valley, instead of entering the Metropolitan water supply and abandoning our expensive and expensive works in Needham. Not only is the water thus obtained far better than that from Needham lake, but we obtain an annual cost of approximately $20,000, and the lowest estimate of obtaining the same amount of water from the Metropolitan board would be about $3,000. It is understood that action of the governor's veto by the House will not be taken until next week. The governor's reasons for vetoing a bill are as follows:—

In respect to the metropolitan water system, there are now several towns, namely Dedham, Brookline, Newton, Cambridge, and Waltham, which are obtaining from the Charles River watershed for their own use a supply of water independent of the metropolitan service.

These pending bills, if approved, would authorize the town of Brookline and the city of Newton to abstract from the Charles River watershed an additional three million gallons of water a day, in addition to their present supplies of water exclusively from the expense of the Charles River district, at a cost considerably less than that of the metropolitan service.

At the present time Brookline and Newton are obtaining their supply of water exclusively from the metropolitan service, they would not only pay toward the maintenance of that service an assessment of about $3,000 a year; and it is estimated at least $100,000 of this assessment would represent a net gain to the remainder of the district, and would to this extent relieve the assessment throughout the district, inasmuch as the communities are wealthy and the assessment which they would be called upon to pay is based in part upon a relative assessed values of the communities which participate in the metropolitan service.

These bills, therefore, propose to grant to the town of Brookline and the city of Newton special benefits which the remainder of the metropolitan district must pay for through the failure of these communities to participate equitably in the metropolitan assessment.

It can be seen no justification whatever for these proposed bills and others of similar character, by which local communities are authorized to draw from the special benefit from the rivers which are common to the whole metropolitan district.

It would seem as if whatever water supply is properly available from the Charles River should be utilized for the general benefit of the entire metropolitan section and not abstracted for the particular benefit of any one of the local communities.

Again, the metropolitan district has constructed, at great expense, the so-called Charles River Marine Park or Basin, and it is becoming a serious engineering problem to obtain from the Charles River an adequate supply of water to maintain this marine reservation.

At the present time Brookline and Newton possess legislative authority to abstract from the Charles River watershed five million gallons of water each per diem, without the payment of one cent of tribute for this special favor. In each instance the average daily consumption of water abstracted from the Charles River region is in the neighborhood of two and a half million gallons and the bill now in question providing an additional daily supply of three million gallons, is requested only for the purpose of enabling the Town of Brookline to maintain its daily supply of water throughout the summer months, when the daily consumption greatly exceeds the average of the year.

However, in this instance, as in the case of Newton, the extra requirements of the summer months could be met just as well by constructing additional local storage reservoirs, to be filled during the season of abundant flow and utilized through the drier months of the summer.

To avoid this perfectly local expenditure, Brookline is asking the Legislature to make it a further grant of water from the general water sources within the metropolitan district and thus enable it to render itself still more independent of the metropolitan water system.

The actual quantity which is now being drawn from the Charles River region is nearly 12,000,000 gallons per day. I find by referring to the engineers' reports that during certain dry seasons the remaining water in the Charles River, as measured over the dam at Waltham, may fall to 1.3 million gallons per day. While this abstraction of water may not be a serious matter under normal conditions and while in fact it is stated that it does not normally effect the water levels in the lower regions of the Charles River, there can be no question whatever that in a season of drought, when the abstraction of water reaches its maximum, the Charles River bed is far too largely uncovered, and that unwholesome conditions are engendered. In my judgment this practice has now reached dangerous proportions.

The condition of the Charles River above Waltham is very largely controlled by the Boston Manufacturing Company and its subsidiary concerns, this corporation maintaining a dam at Waltham and being enabled at present, under an old mill act, to draw off the water from the upper portions of the river for power purposes and also to furnish a supply of water to the bleachery which it operates further down the stream.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE

Held By Young Women's Club of St. John's Church

Another success was scored by the members of the Young Women's Club of St. John's Church, when they gave the last in the series of popular dancing parties on Saturday evening at the North Gate Club, West Newton.

The hall presented an unusually attractive appearance with its beautiful decorations of palms and greenery and the rose-pink shaded electric lights shed a soft radiance over the dancers, all charmingly gowned, making a scene both brilliant and effective.

The matrons were Mrs. Hubert G. Ripley, Mrs. Wilbur N. Shelton and Mrs. John B. Hebbard, all gowned in white silk. The young ladies who served on the committee, to whose efforts the success of the affair was largely due, included Miss Edith B. Park, Miss Grace Clark, Miss Clara Smith, and Miss Helen Cunningham.

The ushers were Messrs. Howard Brown, Clinton Kyle, George Nicholson and Ellis Gammons. Among the ladies present, all wearing unusually handsome gowns, were Miss Edith Park in light crepe-de-chine with light blue embroidered tunic; Miss Smith, light blue silk, pink trimmings; Miss Dorothy Cunningham, light blue silk; Miss Richardson, white lace; Miss Ethel Gammons, white embroidered silk; Miss Poor, white satin with light blue chiffon trimmings; Miss Wheaton, pink satin; Miss Condit, lavender silk with fur trimmings; Miss Clark, Alice blue silk with white trimmings; Miss Bankart, nile green satin; Miss Helen Cunningham, lavender chiffon; Mrs. Roland F. Gammons 2nd, white silk; Mrs. Harley Lackey, pink satin; Mrs. Marsh, white lace and light blue trimmings; Mrs. Sprague, blue crepe mermaid; Mrs. Blunt, white marquisette with lace trimmings.

MR. SHERMAN DEAD

Mr. Alfred A. Sherman, for many years a resident of this city, where he was born 78 years ago, died at his present home in Boston last Sunday after a long period of poor health. Mr. Sherman was for many years engaged in the provision business in Newton Centre, later removed to Dorchester for a few years and then returned to Newton Highlands. He retired from active business about fifteen years ago. He was a life member of Dalhousie lodge of Masons. He is survived by one son, Mr. U. W. Sherman of Boston, and one daughter, Miss Harriet Sherman of Auburndale. Funeral services in charge of Rev. William H. Hodge of the Newton Highlands Methodist Church were held at Newton Cemetery chapel on Tuesday afternoon.

BUSINESS MEN MEET

The Newton Business Men's Association held its May meeting in the lecture hall of the Library building on Monday night with a fair attendance. A committee consisting of G. A. Aston, J. A. Irving, E. E. Moore, G. C. Campbell and J. B. Melcher was appointed to arrange for a celebration of Fourth of July in the village. Mr. P. S. Cunliff of Watertown then gave an interesting talk on the work and results obtained by the business men of Watertown. Refreshments were served by the Entertainment Committee.

FIREMEN WIN

Defeat Police Men in Base Ball Game

The Newton Police nine, which had grand success on the diamond last season, and started off this year with a victory in the Mass. Police Baseball league, ran up against a snag Tuesday on the West Newton Common, when the newly organized Firemen's team defeated them 21 to 18. The police knew that the game would be close, owing to the fact that the firemen had the pitching of Eichelbeck, who twirled for the Y. M. C. A. nine last season, who is now connected with Engine Three, but they did not figure that eight other men, who proved heavy hitters were behind the pitcher.

Both teams played its hardest to clinch the game, which resulted in numerous errors, each contributing its share. The game looked like a victory of the police at the close of the first inning, when the score stood 5 to 1, but in the third the firemen evened things up by scoring five more tallies. In the last five innings, the firemen scored 15 runs, annexing one or more, mostly more in every inning. With the score 21 to 15 against them, the police started a batting rally, but the most they could score was three, and the game went into the defeat column.

The "Bluecoats" want another game arranged to make amends to their followers, and it is thought that the firemen will give them a chance to annex a victory. The three pitchers used by the police all proved easy prey for the firemen. Clancy starting the game was relieved in the third, Mahoney who followed him, also was hit hard, and Hannon went in and finished the game, neither of them coming out with a blaze of glory. Eichelbeck had the police at his beck and call throughout, allowing them but 10 hits, and had not the team supported him in poor fashion, the police would have been held to a few runs.

D. A. R.

The annual meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the home of Mrs. Frank W. Pray, 77 Kirkstall road, Newtonville, on Monday, May 12th.

Mrs. George R. Pulsifer, Mrs. Dexter R. Puffer and Miss Ella M. Rice were the assisting hostesses. Miss Helen Choate of Brookline sang several songs delightfully, the annual reports of the officers were then read and accepted, and Mrs. Charles D. Meerve, Regent of the Chapter, gave an interesting account of the last D. A. R. Convention.

The social hour which followed was very enjoyable. Mrs. David C. Baker and Mrs. Frederick S. Sherman presided at the table, and delicious refreshments were served to the guests by Miss Wadham, Miss Baker and Miss Chandler.

CARD OF THANKS

The committee in charge of the May Breakfast at the Elliot Church desires to thank the merchants of the village, who so generously donated supplies for that successful event.

GREAT SUCCESS

Universalist Choir Gives Most Enjoyable Entertainment

An audience taxing the seating capacity of Temple hall greeted the choir of the Universalist Church at its concert last evening. The choir sang together for the first time last November, but by patient, painstaking work the standard of the music has been raised to the place where the regular church music has come to be a most delightful part of the service; the choir has surely sung itself into popularity, and in appreciation of their work last evening's concert was tendered the choir by the Trustees of the church. Mr. J. P. Westcott represented the Trustees in the management of the affair, and the great success attending it is very largely due to his untiring efforts.

The choir had the assistance of Miss Beatrice Hacker, a reader of more than ordinary ability, of Miss Nellie Ferguson in solo costume dances; Mr. Everett Lane Westcott, xylophone and trombone soloist, and Mr. Albert Fisher, cornet soloist. Miss Hacker's readings charmed the audience from the start—her interpretations were so true and artistic—we feel safe in saying that so delightful an artist has not been seen in Newton for a long time and we hope she will soon return. Miss Nellie Ferguson gave a delightful exhibition of tarpscorean art. She was seen here a few years ago when great things were predicted of her, which have been fully realized—for she is already the proud possessor of some thirty medals for fancy dancing. Probably there is no xylophone soloist in New England of the reputation of Mr. Ernest Lane Westcott. His services are in constant demand from Maine to New York and we consider ourselves remarkably fortunate to have heard him last night.

His playing of the Mocking Bird Fantasia was a revelation of the possibilities of the instrument in the hands of an artist, and Mr. Westcott certainly is one. Never have we heard the xylophone played with such expression and musically style as Mr. Westcott displayed in his performance. As a trombone soloist he also gave much delight—his duet with Mr. Fisher being one of the most delightful numbers on the program.

Mr. Albert Fisher appeared as a soloist for the first time in Newton. He is acknowledged to be without a peer as a concert soloist, and justly so. Not since the days of Walter Emerson's greatest popularity have we heard the cornet played in such truly artistic manner. Few men are able to produce such a quality of tone, while Mr. Fisher's technique is truly wonderful. As will be seen by the following program he was heard twice once in a solo and once in a duet with Mr. Westcott. The choir opened the program with a delightful rendering of Wilson's "Carmen"—one of the most popular and charming secular quartets of the day, accompanied by Miss Marshall, the organist, and sang an encore, "My Shadow," a very dainty little number, unaccompanied. In short, every number on the program was a gem and was received with much enthusiasm.

The concert was followed by dancing until midnight, music being furnished by the 1st Corps Cadet Orchestra of Boston, consisting of Harry S. Daggett, pianist; Mr. John Fielding, violinist; Mr. Albert Fisher, cornetist; and Mr. Everett L. Westcott, trombone and drums; and from the expressions of pleasure heard on all sides, it is safe to say that no finer dance music was ever heard in Newton.

The choir consists of Miss Olive K. Burrison, soprano; Miss Bessie Bates, contralto; Mr. C. Azel Collins, Mr. Alfred M. Russell, bass; Miss Jessie P. Marshall, organist, and Mr. Wm. A. Hambleton, director.

MAY BREAKFAST

Social Service League Scores a Great Success Last Saturday

Fully 3200 residents of this city were served at the breakfast given last Saturday morning in the six sections of the city, for the benefit of the Social Service League of the Newton Hospital Aid Association. The idea of giving the All-Newton May Breakfast was for the purpose of raising the necessary amount of $1500 to carry on the very charitable work already started by the League.

A much larger sum than the committee had hoped for was raised by this means, many contributing during the course of the meal, while the tips which were given to the attractive waitresses in all the churches, added considerably to the treasury. The banner church proved to be the Elliot Congregational, where more than 800 were served, and besides the amount netted from the breakfast alone, the flower table and candy tables were cleared at the end of the affair.

At this church, each table was presided over by a hostess, who served the coffee, and the remainder of the breakfast, which was the same throughout the city, consisting of fruit, cereals, eggs, beans, doughnuts, rolls, tea, coffee and milk, was set before the people by a large corps of waitresses. While the people were eating their breakfast, those in charge of the flower and candy tables were kept busy, with the result that $41 was collected from the flowers and more than $60 was collected by the candy girls.

During the time which the breakfast was in progress at the First Unitarian Church, West Newton, nearly 700 were served, and every available space was needed to accommodate the large throng. Each table was decorated with a spray of apple blossoms, and the fair waitresses were all dressed alike in white. The special dish of griddle cakes, which were cooked almost before the eyes of the waiting customer were in great demand, and this netted the league a little more than $40. The flower tables, which were attractively arranged before the affair was ushered in were here at the end, and the candy table did a rushing business during the two hours.

The parish house of the Church of the New Jerusalem was the scene of the breakfast for the residents of the Newtonville section, and here 450 were served. The special dishes were bacon and strawberries, and there was a great demand for both dishes. The flower table, which had an ideal location between the two halls netted the treasury more than $40.

Fully 500 were served at Newton Centre Methodist Church, and at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church between 450 and 500 partook of the meal. The flower and candy tables at both places were very successful and the "tips" were generous. At Waban, the smaller territory, more than 250 were served, and the "tips" in this section to the young waitresses were also very generous.

Besides the amount raised by the breakfast, a large sum was contributed from various sources, and the food used was all contributed, an energetic committee being at work on this line for the past month.

The chairmen and hostesses in the various villages were as follows:—

MR. STRONG DEAD

Prominent Waban Resident Dies in New York

Mr. William C. Strong, for many years a resident of Waban, died Wednesday at the home of his son, Dr. Lawrence W. Strong, in New York city, where he has been living for the past year.

Mr. Strong was born at Hardwick, Vt., Aug. 18, 1823, the son of Elnathan S. and Jane (Chamberlain) Strong.

He was educated at Dartmouth College and adopted the profession of law. His love for horticulture was stronger than his taste for law and he soon became well known as a horticulturist. He was the author of works on "Fruit Culture" and "Culture of the Grape." He was an ex-president of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society and vice-president of the American Pomological Society.

He served in the common council from Ward 5 in 1880. During the Civil War he rendered active service in the Christian Commission.

Mr. Strong removed to Waban and established himself on a large farm, when he was a young man, and continued in the nursery business, he was interested in the growth of the place as a village and was instrumental in having the railroad extended through Waban to Riverside completing the Newton Circuit. What was once his farm is today one of the handsome residential sections of Newton.

He was always an active member of the Newton Highlands Congregational church of which he was a deacon, and was also much interested in the Union Church of Waban, which was started in his later years and to which he gave the land on which the church building now stands and made possible the dedication of the Union church last year.

Mr. Strong had planned to be in Waban Thursday at the installation of Rev. Charles H. Cutler, D. D., as pastor of the Union Church, but was stricken with heart trouble which resulted in his sudden death on Wednesday.

Mr. Strong also gave the land on which the Church of the Good Shepherd stands.

In 1848 he married Margaret Breck, and they had one child, Mrs. L. M. Flint, now dead. In 1864 he married Miss Mary J. Davis, and they have had four children, of whom three survive, Miss Margaret L., Miss Isabel L., and Dr. Lawrence W. Strong.

Funeral services will be held at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church tomorrow.

Newton

—Wm. E. Pike, electrician and licensed gas fitter. Telephone, adv.

—Funeral services for the late Ella C. Whitaker, the wife of Mr. Nat C. Whitaker, were held on Saturday afternoon from her late residence on Huntington street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Simpson and Miss Dorothy Simpson, of Huntington street, expect to sail early in June for a summer sojourn in Europe.

—Miss Ruth D. Warren who has been visiting Miss Rebecca Cole of Elmwood street, has returned to Spencer where she has entered the High School.

—Miss Evelyn Converse of Kenrick park and Miss Gretchen Harwood of Waverley avenue, were among the members of the "Rose Dance," one of the beautiful features of the opera, "Dick the Dreamer," which was presented last week in the Boston Opera house.

—Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlain gave the third in his series of addresses on "Some Twentieth Century Christians," Sunday evening at Immanuel Baptist Church, the theme being "Booker T. Washington, the Leader of A Backward Race." The subject for next Sunday evening will be "Jane Adams, the Christian Ideal of a Good Neighbor."

—Mrs. Mahala Gould Dwinell, the wife of Mr. George S. Dwinell of Huntington street, died last week Thursday at Biddeford, Me., where she had been visiting during the past two weeks. Mrs. Dwinell has been in poor health for some time with heart disease and died quite suddenly during Mr. Dwinell's absence on business. Funeral services were held at Biddeford, which was her former home, on Sunday afternoon.

—Residents of Church street and Maple avenue were up in arms Tuesday evening at a hearing given at City Hall on the order recently presented to lease a vacant lot of land on Church street for a playground for small children. The playground was favored by Messrs. E. B. Church, V. B. Sweet, Grosvenor Calkins, Mrs. L. S. Drake, Mrs. Fred H. Tucker and Aldermen Blakemore and Jarvis and opposed by Messrs. S. C. Stevens, C. F. Burbank, S. W. Tucker, J. W. Fisher, Henry Collins, W. H. Cutler, Miss Jessie M. Fisher and Mrs. William Deutschie. The objections were based on the inadequacy of the lot as a playground and to the noise and nuisance of the children at play and passing to and from the playground.

Newtonville

—Members of the S. S. S. Club were entertained Wednesday evening (Amherst Night) at the Pop Concert in Symphony Hall.

—Rev. John Goddard has returned from the South and will occupy his pulpit Sunday morning at the Church of the New Jerusalem.

—The meeting of the Junior League of the Church of the New Jerusalem will be held Sunday evening at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. McLaughlin on Harvard street.

—Dr. and Mrs. George S. Butters of Auburndale were guests at the annual thank-offering services of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, held Thursday afternoon at the Methodist Church. A musical program was arranged which included vocal selections by Mrs. Bruce and refreshments were served.

Lower Falls

—St. Mary's Church will observe next September the centennial anniversary of its present church building and in aid of that event a May Breakfast will be held at the parish house on Saturday morning, May 24, from 6.30 to 9 A. M.

—Anti-Suffrage meeting. Players' Hall, West Newton, Monday evening, May 26, at 8 o'clock. Addresses by Hon. John A. Sullivan of Boston, and Mrs. A. J. George of Brookline.

—"Ladies' Night" was observed Tuesday evening by the Lawrence Club in the parish hall of the Church of the Messiah. A very fine musical entertainment was given, which included vocal selections beautifully rendered by Mrs. Mille L. Beardsley, the Misses Hill and Dexter of the Leiden School of Music, and Mr. Chester Bonney. The rector, Rev. John Matson, entertained with some interesting readings and Mrs. Edith Russell played some piano solos. It was a very delightful social occasion and after the entertainment refreshments were served.

C. E. ENTERTAINMENT

The Christian Endeavor Societies of the Newton Union gave a very enjoyable entertainment on Tuesday evening at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton.

An interesting and varied program was presented which included readings by Miss Margaret Wetherill of Waltham, a tenor solo by Mr. Harvey Barnes, and a reading by Mr. Gordon Van Kirk of West Newton; piano solo by Miss Fanny Moore of Newton; vocal solo by Miss Chamberlain, and an organ selection by Mr. Glenn Burre.

A mock-athletic meet in which six of the colleges were represented, was one of the entertaining features, and it was given under the direction of a committee of young ladies under the chairmanship of Miss Marguerite Schwartz of Auburndale.

At the close of the entertainment refreshments were served under the direction of Miss Mildred Bates and Miss Vida Chase. It was a very pleasant social occasion and there was an attendance of about 200.

SHUKER—HORROCKS

Miss Ella Laura Horrocks, daughter of Mr. Fred Horrocks of Needham Heights, became the bride of Sampson Shuker, Jr., of Newton Upper Falls, on Saturday evening, May 10, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's parents at eight o'clock.

The couple were married on a G. A. R. rug, which her mother was married on 25 years ago, by the Rev. Mr. Wright of the Methodist Church of Needham Heights. The room was tastefully decorated with palms and carnations.

The maid of honor was Miss Lottie Armstrong, and the best man, Thomas Shuker. The Misses Eva and Lillian Armstrong were ushers. The bride was gown in white messaline trimmed with shadow lace and rosebuds and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The maid of honor wore a gown of blue messaline.

After a wedding trip to the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Shuker will reside at 68 Hillside avenue.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Newton Improvement Society will be held at the Hunnewell Club, on Wednesday, May 21, at eight o'clock. Officers will be elected and reports given from the various committees. In addition Mr. William H. Rice, a former president of the Newton Centre Improvement Society and chairman of the Newton school committee, and Mr. Ernest Hermann, Playground Director of the city, will make brief addresses. The public is invited to attend.

LASELL SEMINARY

The program for Commencement week at Lasell includes an exhibition drill, on Saturday, May 31, River day on Monday, June 2, and art and household economics exhibition, Thursday, June 5, the senior reception, Saturday, June 7, sermon to graduating class by Rev. ## EDITORIAL

With an increase in the tax rate of $1.50 starting the city in the face, the request of the school committee for an increase of over $25,000 in its estimates of expenses for 1914 ought to be scanned with the greatest care. Notwithstanding the fact that on account of recent changes in the Technical High School course, the state is to reimburse the city with $21,000, the school committee not only absorb that sum but calmly ask for $3800 in addition. If the school committee has its way, over $27,000 will be appropriated for 1914 expenses, and future years will undoubtedly see substantial additions to that enormous sum, unless a radical change is made in our school system. With the constantly increasing volume of complaints in regard to the educational methods used in the Newton schools, as judged by the results, it is a question whether or not the city is receiving adequate return for the heavy burdens of its taxpayers, and whether a simplification of courses, such as has been recently suggested by the superintendent of schools of Boston, would not produce better results as well as reduce the present high cost of education.

The efforts to provide a playground in Wards 1 and 7 seem to be attended with difficulties which have not been experienced in other places. This is undoubtedly due to the thickly settled condition of the village and the fact that the gathering together of many children in one place will create a nuisance to the neighborhood. This is exactly the fact in the latest suggestion for a playground on Church street and the remonstrants have a remarkably good case, even from the standpoint of a friend of the playground. The lot in question is entirely too small for adequate use as a playground and the idea of caring for 100 children here is really laughable. The only suitable place for a children's playground in this part of the city is a portion of Farlow Park, and notwithstanding the sentimental objections raised and manufactured by those living in its vicinity, it should be used for that purpose. Having yielded to the protests against Farlow Park, however, the city government, must in all consistency and decency, take the same position on the proposed playground on Church street.

It seems rather against the common sense of the situation that the board of aldermen do not have the right of expressing its opinion on such matters as the day wages of city laborers, when the rate of such pay is a strong factor in the amount of appropriations to be made by vote of the board.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The event of the week from the Newton standpoint was the veto by the governor of the bill to enable the city to take more water from the Charles River valley, and the remarkable feat in passing that bill over the veto in the Senate by 28 to 0. Great credit is due the Newton representatives and Senator Hilton for passing the bill over the veto. Incidentally in this connection it might be noted that Senator Hilton is making a fine record this session in the Senate and fully justifies the support which was given him in this city for the nomination and election.

It is also pertinent to say in this connection, and I know that the news will be received with great satisfaction throughout the city, that Representatives Bothfield and Ellis will probably be willing to return next fall for a fifth term in the House. Representative White is still undecided in this respect, but pressure is being brought to bear to induce him to stand again with his colleagues. The record which these Newton representatives have made in the House is a matter of pride of every Newton citizen and they should be returned just as long as they are willing to serve.

The bill to limit and define municipal indebtedness and which will incidentally, as I stated before, make a radical change in the methods of this city in making up its budget, has practically passed both branches. The bill is a beautiful example of what theorists think they know of municipal management, and I predict that after one year of experience under it, radical changes will be demanded. Representative White was one of the five members who voted against the constitutional amendment to allow a referendum to the voters of the entire state. All three of our representatives voted to sustain the veto of the governor of the bill to favor Spanish War Veterans in civil service examinations, which was passed by the House, but later rejected by the Senate. Messrs. Bothfield and White voted against and Mr. Ellis was not recorded on the bill favoring a constitutional amendment in regard to the initiative and the referendum.

Indications now point to prorogation early in June.

MEMORIAL DAY

Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., have made their usual arrangements for the observance of Memorial Day, two weeks from today. Past Commander Wilfred A. Wetherbee will be the chief Marshal, with Col. Winthrop M. Merrill as adjutant general and Col. Robert B. Edes as chief of staff. The parade will form at Newton Centre at 1:30 P. M. and march over Centre, Beacon and Walnut streets to the Newton Cemetery, where Memorial services will be held at the Soldiers' Monument. Dinner will be served later at Temple Hall.

In the morning the usual details will decorate the graves in the various cemeteries and the beautiful ceremony of casting flowers in Charles River in memory of the sailor dead, will take place at Newton Lower Falls.

The Memorial sermon to the post will be delivered on Sunday, May 25, by Rev. J. T. Stocking at Central Church, Newtonville.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

The following business of the meeting of the board of aldermen held last week, Monday evening, was crowded out of our last issue.

Mayor Hatfield sent in the request of the Chief of the Fire Dept. for $3750 for purchase of motor tractor for Truck 1 and the board of health recommended a sewer in Smith avenue.

On recommendation of committees leave to withdraw was granted Elixia W. Howard on matter of sewer assessment on Fairmont avenue, C. H. Spring for damages to automobile and on junk license of Michael Hughes.

Claims of W. B. McMullen of $17.65 for injuries to horse and of C. D. Kleser for $140.46 for work done at City Home were approved, an intelligence office license granted Florence E. Knowles, and a wagon license to Amato Peesovoldi, attachments on Aspen avenue and Cottage street to the Telephone Co., underground conduits to the Edison Co. on Lake avenue, hearings assigned May 19 on taking land for sewer off Beacon street, in Adams avenue, in Ardmore road, in Ardmore terrace, in Smith avenue, and on widening Centre street at Rice street, on establishing a building line on Centre street at Rice street, on laying out of Rockland street under the betterment act, and on concrete sidewalks on Kaposia street and Wadsworth road. Orders were also adopted authorizing street sprinkling during 1913, for purchase of pipe and fittings by the Water Dept., authorizing Street Commissioner to obtain bids for sewer in Boylston and Jackson streets, authorizing transfer of tax title to Thomas H. Binnall, advancing $8900 for Moth Work, advancing $800 for Poor out of Almshouse, advancing $1000 for Tools and Machinery, advancing $2856 for City teams and $386 for city automobiles, making grant of $11,127.88 for city expenses and special grants of $1300 for hay and oats and $3400 for concrete contract.

Orders taking land for sewers and authorizing sewer construction in Rokeby road, Pontiac road, Carlton road, Mossfield road, Waban avenue and Gilbert street and authorizing Mayor to make agreement with Waban relative to sewer in Adams avenue were also adopted.

Orders relative to playground on Church street, Ward 1, for widening Hammond street between Beacon street and Commonwealth avenue, granting Saturday half holiday to city laborers, and relative to claim of Rose Leehan were referred to committee.

Alderman Bemis invited the members to a meeting Thursday evening to discuss the school budget with Dr. Spaulding.

The board then took a recess on the comptroller matter and finally adjourned at 11:12 P. M.

ANNUAL MEETING

Woman's Societies Elect Officers

The three Woman's Societies of the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, held their annual meeting in the chapel last Tuesday. A dainty luncheon was served at 12:30 o'clock. ## MR. SEARS DEAD

Mr. Eben Sears one of the first parishioners of Grace Church, and a well known resident of the city for many years, died Tuesday at his home on Waverly avenue from the effects of old age. He was the son of Eben Sears of Boston, whose home was for many years on Chauncy street and was 83 years of age. Mr. Sears was the last of the old Boston shipping merchants and his firm of Hill and Sears was widely known, having vessels all over the world. He was a graduate of the well known Chauncy Hall school of Boston and was most loyal to his associates in that school. He was also one of the oldest members of the First Corps of Cadets.

He is survived by four children, Mr. E. Warden Sears of Boston, and Mrs. Henry Tolman, Miss Mary Crease Sears and Miss E. Elizabeth Sears of Newton.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at his late home, 155 Waverly avenue.

Artstone Flower Vases

Artstone Vases do not, like iron, become so hot in midsummer as to burn the plants. Artstone is indestructible from exposure, while iron, soon rusts, and marble gradually discolors and decays. Flowers, like gems, require appropriate settings. The artistic beauty of these creations attracts admiration and lends a touch of quiet elegance to the surroundings. They serve to enhance the beauty of the Lawn or Porch wonderfully. Popular also for cemetery decoration. Bird baths and Sun dials made to order. Write for prices.

PROBATE COURT.

To the devisees, legatees, and all other persons interested in the estate of William H. Johnson late of Newton in said County, deceased, to-wit: WHEREAS a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration with the will annexed, on the estate of said deceased not already administered, to J. Oliver Johnson of New York in the State of New York without requiring sureties on his bond or to some other suitable person. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the tenth day of June A. D. 1913, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to said devisees and legatees named in said will, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this thirteenth day of May in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. W. E. ROGERS, Register.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 10, 1913.
The Blair Manufacturing Co.,
Newark, Ohio.

Gentlemen: About October 1st, 1911, I purchased a two and one-half ton truck of the Blair Manufacturing Co., and up to the present writing have never regretted. We have found the truck equal to all that was claimed for it and are more than pleased with the worm drive propulsion, all who have had experience with trucks realize that chains are a noisy and dangerous proposition.

Before purchasing said truck we had given the subject up as a thorough investigation. The point that appealed to us most strongly in the Blair Truck was the fact that it has more load space in front of the rear wheel than any truck we found on the market. Another strong point in our judgment, is the fact that it has two frames, that the work housing has its own individual frame. A recent experience of ours proved this to be, in our judgment, the proper way to construct a truck.

The Blair Manufacturing Co. also have a way of living up to their word that cannot help but appeal to anyone who is in the market for a truck. Yours truly, PER F. H. TILLSON.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

STATE FEDERATION

By invitation of the New England Woman's Club the twenty-first annual meeting of the State Federation will be held in the South Congregational Church, Boston, on May 28 and 29. There will be morning and afternoon sessions on both days, at 10 A. M. and 2 P. M. The business consists of the annual reports of the officers and chairmen of departments and the election of officers. Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation, will be the guest of honor and will address the Federation at the session on Wednesday evening. A reception will be tendered her by the hostess club on the same evening. A portion of the Wednesday afternoon session will be given to the observance of the completion of twenty years of the Federation with addresses by the Past Presidents. The headquarters will be at Hotel Vendome for out of town guests and luncheon will be served there for delegates on both days.

The regular quarterly meeting of the executive board of the Newton Federation will be held on Monday, May 19, at 10:15 A. M. at the New Church parlors, Newtonville.

The members of the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands had a luncheon last week in connection with their annual meeting. Toasts of a humorous nature followed, after which came the business of the annual meeting. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Robert Clark; vice-president, Mrs. Anna Thompson; secretary, Mrs. Hanson B. Rogers; assistant secretary, Mrs. Edward G. Swift; treasurer, Mrs. Philip Sweetser.

BAD ACCIDENT

Miss Irene I. Fogg, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fogg, of Bourne street, Auburndale was struck and seriously injured Wednesday afternoon at Wellesley, while returning from Wellesley college, where she is a sophomore to her home in Auburndale. Miss Fogg was about to board an electric car for Newton and stepped back to allow a wagon to pass, when a large touring car owned by John B. Walcott of Brookline came from behind and struck her, throwing her a considerable distance cutting her face badly and breaking several bones in her body.

She was unconscious when picked up and after treatment by a physician was taken to the Newton Hospital where she is on the dangerous list. An operation was performed yesterday on her mouth which was badly cut, and hope is expressed that she will recover, altho the danger point has not been passed.

West Newton

Anti-Suffrage meeting, Players' Hall, West Newton, Monday evening, May 26, at 8 o'clock. Addresses by Hon. John A. Sullivan of Boston, and Mrs. A. J. George of Brookline.

A pleasant May basket surprise party was tendered Miss Pearl A. Maynard, assistant teacher of the Hopkinton high school, at the home of Miss R. Dempsey of that town, last week.

The alarm from box 35 on Sunday afternoon was for a fire in the home of Charles Williams, on Hicks street, thought to have been caused by a locomotive spark. The damage was about $1000.

The next regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be a mothers' meeting at the home of Mrs. W. H. Rand, 247 Austin street, on Monday evening. The topic will be Child Training and will be presented by Mrs. Ellen Leland.

RECEPTION
Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wise Perin entertained a company of friends at a reception on Wednesday evening, at their residence on Hovey street, Newton.

The house was attractively decorated for the occasion with a profusion of cut flowers, palms, ferns and hydrangeas.

In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Perin were Dr. and Mrs. George L. Perin of Brookline and Captain and Mrs. Albert W. Hersey of Auburndale.

Mrs. Donald Perin wore an exquisite gown of white accordion plaited mesh, with cerise chiffon beaded overdress.

Mrs. Hersey was becomingly gowned in gray silk and Mrs. George Perin wore blue chiffon over black silk.

In the dining room where refreshments were served a green and white color scheme was carried out to perfection in the decorations.

The servers were the Misses Mary Perin, Lola Purdy, Vera Purdy, Helen Connell and Ruth Connell.

The ushers were Messrs. M. Eben Hill, Carl Hatch, James P. Uhlinger, J. Warren Barker, Charles Fry, of the Tech Fraternity of which Mr. Perin is a member, and Porter Smith, Fred Smith and William Dow.

A delightful program of music was rendered during the evening by the Simmons Ladies' Orchestra.

Among the guests were a number of student friends from Lasell Seminary, of which Mrs. Perin is a graduate, also members of society from Brookline, Allston, Boston, Dorchester, Roxbury, Belmont and the Newtons.

—Mr. Stevens has purchased the Bryant house on Windsor road.

—Mr. Newton Stanley and family returned this week to their home at Waterville, Me.

—Mr. Frederick W. Webster has purchased the Butterworth house on Neholdden road.

—Mrs. Nelson H. Marvin of Pine Ridge road has been spending a week in Kingston, Mass.

—George Cuddy and children of Waban avenue are spending a week with friends at Marblehead.

—Dr. Boos of Brookline has purchased the Arend house at 26 Windsor road and will occupy it in June.

—Mr. Wesley F. Butterworth and family, for a number of years residing on Neholdden road, have this week moved to Ashland.

—Miss Jessie Gould of Beacon street left Monday for a few weeks' trip, and will visit friends in Baltimore and Philadelphia.

—Dr. Hetherington and family who have occupied the Burnett house on Waban avenue the past year have moved to St. John, N. B.

—Mr. George Ancier and Mr. Francis Smith of Pine Ridge road have offered handsome silver cups as prizes for the pet stock show to be held on May 30 and these with the numerous other prizes will shortly be on exhibition at Rhodes drug store.

—A meeting of the residents of Waban will be held in Waban Hall this evening at 8 o'clock, to consider building a club house in Waban, and to take such steps as may be deemed advisable to effect a permanent organization, obtain funds, secure a site, procure plans and make arrangements for building.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

The Library has recently added a series of nearly fifty Panama photographs. These pictures are now on exhibition at the Library. They give views of the country about the canal, showing the construction of the locks at Gatun, Pedro, Miguel and Miraflores, the excavations at Mindi and through the Culebra Cut, photographing the working of the steam shovels and various operations along the canal.

An addition has also been made to the lantern slides belonging to the Library. Two hundred and fifty colored slides of Palestine have just been received from England which are now ready for Sunday Schools and for the use of anyone interested. The lantern slides now number about fifteen hundred. The United States, the various countries of Europe, the West Indies and South America are all represented in this collection.

More than five thousand pictures are at the disposal of those wishing to make use of them. Art photographs of painting, sculpture and architecture, showing the history of the development of art, and also views of countries and of the industrial arts are all included. These are drawn and sent out in portfolios and are charged to the borrower just as books are charged.

PIANOFORTE RECITAL

Before a large and enthusiastic audience which included the parents and friends of the pupils, Miss Drake's classes in pianoforte presented a program of varied excellence at the recital on Tuesday evening in the hall at the Newton Club house.

There was a program of twenty-three numbers which comprised works of the well-known composers, Mendelssohn, Mozart, Bartlett, Dennee, Beethoven, Selyette, Rossi, and Schwarzenka, and many of the pieces were given excellent interpretation, reflecting credit on both pupils and instructor.

GOVERNOR VETOES BILL

The power of this corporation is such at present that it is able to secure damages from towns and cities which abstract water from the river; and it would be highly desirable, in judgment, to restore this water power to the Commonwealth under the right of eminent domain.

Such water power as might properly be supplied to this or other companies could then be leased by the Commonwealth, with the stipulation that the water levels in the river should be maintained as required by sanitary conditions. Such leasing of the water supply might also very properly embody provisions prohibiting the pollution of the stream through chemicals or other agencies.

I believe this step should be taken before any further abstraction of water from the river is permitted. The Charles River, like any other stream in the Commonwealth, is primarily a natural resource common to the public and the value of this public resource should not be diminished in favor of any special or particular interest, whether a corporation or a community.

I am strengthened in my conclusion by the declaration of our public authorities concerned, that both Brookline and Newton have ready access at present to the mains of the metropolitan water system; that the water thus obtained is pure; and that no hardship whatever will be occasioned by the requirement that no further abstractions of water from the Charles River shall be permitted.

CAPTAIN HARVARD BASEBALL TEAM

Mr. Henry Nash of Fairmont avenue, Newton, has been elected captain of the Harvard freshman baseball team.

Nash entered Harvard from Newton High School where he played first base for three years. Two years ago he was picked for the Globe's All-Inter-scholastic second team and last year he was chosen by all scholastic writers for the position on the first team.

He is the son of Mr. George M. Nash, a Harvard ball player of the earlier nineties. Coach Frank Sexton of the Varsity team saw him the first day he appeared for Fall practice and picked him as one of the best players in college.

At bridge the prizes were awarded to Mrs. Penney and Miss Olive Nickerson, and at progressive, to Mrs. Sawyer, Miss Helen Russell, Miss May Cahill and Mr. Edwin Thompson.

WHIST PARTY

A very successful whist party was held Saturday evening in Norumbega Hall, Auburndale, under the direction of Miss Ethel Underwood, and Miss Ethel Brewster.

There were twenty-five tables arranged, and the game was straight whist, and auction bridge. There were two handsome prizes, the first prize for ladies was taken by Mrs. Walter L. McCammon of Central street and Mr. H. B. Morse of Wolcott street won the first prize for gentlemen.

During the evening, a pleasing musical program including violin and piano selections, was rendered by local talent.

The proceeds, which amounted to over one hundred dollars, are for the benefit of the Social Service League of the Newton Hospital.

NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT ASSO.

Hold Their Annual Meeting and Election of Officers

At the annual meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Association, held on Monday evening, May 19th, over 200 members and friends gathered for the 10th annual meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Association.

After a short business meeting for the election of officers and reading of reports, Mr. John K. M. L. Farquhar, of Boston, gave a delightful lecture on "Gardens of Japan," illustrated by 150 beautifully colored stereoscopic pictures.

After the lecture, light refreshments were served by a committee of ladies, during the evening a number of members joined the Association, which now has about 250 active members.

President's Report
At the last annual meeting, held in the Army Hall, a small group of interested members met and elected the President and Executive Committee with slight changes from the previous year. This year the nominating committee has wisely recommended a large and several new members will be into closer touch with the work of the Association.

Several subjects suggested at that meeting have been discussed by the Executive Committee with the following results:
Regulars were sent out suggesting of garbage and the control of the street.

The matter of signs at the Boston & Albany Station has at last received a favorable action after several years of delay. The "who runs may read" sign at the station, in large, clear letters on both sides of the Railroad and at the ends of the platforms.

Co-operative buying of coal, ice, etc., suggested, but after consulting dealers in these necessities it was found that very little result could be made.

Two public meetings have been held during the year. One in High School on September 25, 1912, called out over 600 citizens to protest against proposed plan of the Grand Trunk Road cutting Newtonville in two.

Another meeting was in January on only about 150 persons came out. Rev. R. J. Flood of Worcester gave a very interesting and suggestive illustrated lecture describing experiments with street boys and girls. The boy problem, while not vital and important, lacked the serious and imperative demand for attention which the Grand Trunk Road problem presented and consequently made a more remote appeal.

The Executive Committee has held a monthly meeting at which subjects of concern to the city have been discussed. At one meeting Mr. Horton S. Allen, of the Telephone Company, gave interesting information showing difficulties entered by the Company and asserted desire to do whatever is possible to give good service and avoid disfiguring the streets by unsightly poles.

A great enterprise has been put on foot by the Association this last but various small requests have responded to. Bulletin boards and public notices have been made, but still held in cold storage waiting for a suitable place to be found for mounting them. Circulars about insect pests have been distributed and the sprinkling of street-car tracks will be accomplished this summer.

We have paid the subscription for the "American City," a civic magazine which is placed in our Branch Reading-room for the use of the public, and have also provided window ventilators for this room insuring better air for all those who use this increasingly valuable privilege.

Last year we contributed $50.00 from the funds of the Association for incidental expenses of the Playground Commission for 1912 in Ward 2. This year, we have included this object in a special appeal to members and others in our Ward. The Committee voted to pay from this fund $100.00 to increase the salary of our Branch Librarian for 1913 and any balance from the amount collected will be paid to the Playground Commission for its use in 1913.

The Commission states that they can use $100.00 this year and it is hoped that the full amount will be raised.

A plan for purchasing of land near the Horace Mann School for the use of the children was recommended. A special committee looked into the matter, but reported unfavorably, this being a case where it seemed to belong to the city to provide school playgrounds rather than to depend upon the generosity of private citizens.

The Publicity Committee is at work on a very attractive book, illustrating and describing the advantages of Newtonville as a residential center. The object is to continue to attract the best class of suburban residents, making our village a model in its homes and its citizenship. It is planned to show in the book, cuts of many Newtonville homes, and Mr. Prescott who has this work in charge will ask the co-operation of all who can aid in this direction.

This is an eminently practical organization. There is no lack of enthusiasm when a concrete matter is brought up for action, but it is difficult to stir our people to a constant and large-minded interest in the public welfare. The object of the Village Improvement Association is not altogether to do definite jobs, but also to educate our people, young and old, to generous devotion to the interests of the other fellow instead of our own.

G. W. AURYANSEN, President.
These officers were elected: President, Charles D. Cabot; Vice-Presidents, Albert M. Lyon, Albert P. Carter, John R. Prescott; Secretary, Charles R. Lynde; Treasurer, Louis E. G. Green; Executive Committee, the above officers and the following persons: Horton S. Allen, William H. Allen, George W. Auryansen, Wallace C. Bayden, Harlow D. Cabot, Charles W. Davidson, Herbert K. Hallett, John B. Hebbard, Dr. P. B. Howard, George B. H. Macomber, H. G. McKerrrow, Hedley P. Patey, William Price, George R. Puleiser, Lincoln Righter, Alfred M. Russell, Albert G. Seavey, Rev. J. T. Stocking.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

Teach Children To Respect Rights To Private Property

Newtonville, Mass., May 17, 1913.
Letter to the Graphic.
I would like to suggest that before the schools close for the summer vacation, steps be taken to have the teachers of Newton (and Waltham) read to their classes Sections 99, 100 and 101 of the Revised Statutes for the protection of fruit and flower growers.

For years, children have gradually come to understand that they could pick flowers, trample flower beds, steal fruit and commit small depredations generally on private property with impunity. They have been taught so from the fact that judges have let them off, when complained of, or put them on a farcical probation, while the owner of the property, if he has aid hands on them in an effort to stop their destruction of his property, has been fined for assault, often to the extent of $25. Judges claim that one has no right to take the law into his own hands, even if waiting for the assistance of the police means the damaging of or theft in a few minutes of what it has often taken months or years of care to raise. So trespassers come, help themselves with utter bravado, call your names to your face, throw stones and epithets, and leave your place shorn of some of its most valued features. They break down your fences, and tree limbs, take your fruit often before it is ripe, and give you a good modern imitation of the destruction wrought by Hun and Vandals.

The Lord pity those so unfortunate as to live at the end of electric car lines, for out from the city come foreign swarms of all ages, equipped with bag and basket, and devastate many a town whose sole police protection is vested in a single constable. They cheerfully take everything they want in sight, and apparently feel that they are simply "spilling the Egyptians."

With the feeling that such lawlessness had reached an intolerable point, these bills were quietly put through the legislature, but there should be nothing quiet about their being brought to the knowledge of every school child.

Of course, no judge wants to send a boy who breaks a window or steals a little fruit to a prison of any kind, but there are plenty of precedents now for making the punishment fit the crime. Boys have been compelled to earn with their own hands the money to replace what they had injured or taken, and boys who marked a building have been compelled to thoroughly clean off their inscriptions. With regard to flowers and fruit, one wishes that the trespasser might be compelled to start from the beginning in his restoration. Let him buy the seed and cultivate the flowers of the kind he took, or let him buy the young tree, plant it, spray it, prune it, all through the years until it produces the apples or what not of the same kind he stole, and he would realize what it meant for the owner who went through all this to see the products of his labor going off in lawless hands. If the laws are properly enforced, this will no longer be possible, so if trespassers come, quietly slip away to your telephone, call up Newton West 30, and see if Chief Mitchell cannot reach your place in his auto in time to catch the thieves red-handed and bring them to book. Then, if a judge treats the matter as a case of "boys will be boys," and gives you no redress, let us strike for recall, also for a law holding parents responsible for their children's misconduct, as is done so effectively in Colorado, and see if we cannot bring about a state of affairs in which we may have some comfort in the possession of Nature's bounties.

MEMORIAL DAY

Program of Charles Ward Post, No. 62, G. A. R.

Chief Marshal Wilfred A. Wetherbee, in charge of the Memorial Day observances of Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., has issued orders for the formal exercises of the day.
Col. Winthrop M. Merrill, late M. V. M., has been appointed adjutant general and Col. Robert Ball Edes, M. V. M., retired, chief of staff, with the following aides, Col. Walter L. Sanborn, Col. Morton E. Cobb, Col. Albert C. Warren, Col. Frank B. Stevens, Major Robert E. Green, Major Fred P. Barnes, Lieut. Earl E. Davidson, Lieut. Chas. S. Dole, Lieut. Wm. H. Wilson, George M. Fiske, Henry J. McCammon and James H. Wentworth.

The various organizations are instructed to report to Adjutant General Merrill at Willow and Centre streets, Newton Centre at 1 P. M., the line starting at 1.30 o'clock over Centre, Beacon and Walnut streets to the Newton Cemetery, being reviewed by the city government on Centre street. At the Newton Cemetery Charles Ward Post will hold its usual impressive exercises at the Soldiers' monument, and the procession will then march to Temple Hall for the dinner and post prandial exercises.

The parade will consist of Detail of Police, The Chief Marshal, The Adjutant-General, The Chief of Staff, Aides and Associate Members, Clavin Guard, Co. C, Fifth Infantry, M. V. M., 1st Lieut. Philip B. Bruce Commanding, Swift's Band of Waltham, J. Wiley Edmands Camp, No. 31, Sons of Veterans, Albert E. Dubois Commanding, Charles Ward Post, No. 62, Grand Army of the Republic, Joseph O. Perkins Commanding, Thomas Burnett Camp, No. 10, United Spanish War Veterans, Philip Butler Commanding, Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, No. 2, Daughters of Veterans, Leonora Kern, President, Barge of School Children, The City Government in Carriages.

During the morning details from the post will decorate the graves of soldiers in the various cemeteries and a special service will be held at St. Mary's Cemetery, Newton Lower Falls and on the banks of Charles River.

Next Sunday the post will be guests at Central Church, Newtonville, where an appropriate sermon will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. T. Stocking.

Then, if a judge treats the matter as a case of "boys will be boys," and gives you no redress, let us strike for recall, also for a law holding parents responsible for their children's misconduct, as is done so effectively in Colorado, and see if we cannot bring about a state of affairs in which we may have some comfort in the possession of Nature's bounties.

ANNUAL MEETING

Newton Improvement Association Discusses Playground Matters

The playground situation at Newton was freely discussed at the meeting of the Newton Improvement Association last Wednesday night at the Hunnewell Club. The first part of the evening was given over to the annual election of officers, after which Mr. William H. Rice, one of Newton's leaders in civic affairs, and past president of the Newton Centre Improvement Society, spoke very interestingly on the workings of the Newton Centre Society.

Mr. Ernst Hermann, supervisor of the playgrounds of the city, spoke on the work which is being accomplished for the children this year, and also made several suggestions for the Newton Section. Newton is one of the few sections of Newton which has not a playground, which is due chiefly because a suitable site cannot be found. Until a site is selected by the Improvement Association, Mr. Hermann suggested that the grounds around the Bigelow and Underwood Schools be given for the children and also that a part of Farlow Park be given to the younger children for play. To carry on the work which Mr. Hermann has outlined, it would be necessary to have the association contribute a sum of money, such as was given last year, and this matter was referred to the Executive Committee for action.

Just before the meeting was to be adjourned, Mr. C. V. Moore took the floor and spoke on the need of making some arrangements to have "Newton," meaning this section, changed to some other name. Several times the section is being termed "Newton Corner" which he thought should be changed. President Loren D. Towle referred this matter to the newly elected officers.

The newly elected officers for the year are: Mr. Fred H. Tucker, president; Mr. Fred W. Stone, treasurer; Mr. Elliott B. Church, secretary; Mr. William H. Emerson, Mr. Frank A. Day, Mr. Frank H. Howes, Mr. Fred A. Gay, Mr. Charles H. Barney, Mr. D. Fletcher Barber and Mr. J. W. Blaisdel, executive committee.

PUNCH BOWL PRESENTED

An unusual event at the meeting of the Newton Royal Arch Chapter, Tuesday evening at Masonic Hall, Newtonville, was the presentation of a beautiful silver punch bowl to the Most Excellent High Priest William H. Bliss. The presentation was made by Past High Priest Lewis E. Binney in a most appropriate speech and to which Mr. Bliss was hardly able to respond, being visibly affected by the unexpected gift. Mr. Bliss has made an extraordinary record during his year as High Priest of the Chapter and the gift, which was made by the officers of the Chapter, is indicative of the esteem and regard in which he is held by his associates.

LIEDERHEIM MUSICAL

The composer, Mary Turner Salter, will be present at a Presentation of her songs by Liederein, pupils Wednesday, May 28, 7.45 P. M., in the Parish House of the Methodist Church, Auburndale. The Glee Club will sing "Veneria" by Nevin-Spross. No tickets required.

All interested in Lighting Fixtures for their home and public buildings should not fail to see the display of McKenney & Waterbury Co., No. 131 Franklin street, corner Congress, an exhibition of Lighting Fixtures, to meet all decorations, including the new Equalite, the softest and most delicate indirect light known.

ALDERMEN FAVOR SCHOOL BUDGET

Laborers to Have Saturday Half Holiday in July and August

The session of the board of aldermen Monday night was marked by the transaction of important business, considerable debate, and a long private conference with Mayor Hatfield, adjournment not being reached until half past twelve o'clock.

The galleries were filled with laborers and their friends who were interested in the passage of an order granting them a half holiday on Saturday during June, July and August, without loss of pay. The order was not reached until quite late in the evening and was finally passed for the months of July and August only.

Another interesting subject of discussion was the amount to be appropriated next fall for the school budget of 1914, the full request of the school committee being finally approved by the margin of one vote.

The board also elected Mr. John Daboll of Waltham to the recently created office of comptroller of accounts, the first election of Mr. Daboll to this office two weeks ago, having been declared illegal by the city solicitor.

President Blakemore was in the chair and the absentees were Aldermen Cox and Hatch.

No one appeared at hearings held on pole locations asked by the Edison Co. on Norwood avenue and Prospect street, for underground conduits on Lakeview avenue and Commonwealth avenue or on petitions to keep gasoline from W. D. Smith, Highland street, M. E. Beardsley, Crescent street, N. W. Bennett, Winchmore road, H. W. Robinson, Waban Hill road and H. S. Decker, Elmwood street, the gasoline petitions being immediately granted.

At the hearings to establish a building line on Centre street at Rice street and to widen Centre street at the same point, several Newton Centre residents spoke in favor of some action to prevent the proposed erection of a small store on this lot of land. Mr. S. Harold Greene said that this was a most dangerous corner and to erect a building here which would obstruct the view of the cross streets would make it still more dangerous. He said that a count had been kept for four hours in the afternoon of the automobiles passing this point, and 1567 passed on Commonwealth avenue and 252 on Centre street, an average of 7 per minute. Mr. E. L. Rugg called attention to the large number of pedestrians using these streets and to the fact that automobiles were usually at a high speed at this point, reaching 60 miles an hour at night. Mr. W. R. Holt said it would be a grave mistake to allow any obstruction to the present view of the intersection of a small street where there had been some miraculous escapes from accidents already, and that the trolley cars did not improve the situation. Mr. F. E. Bradbury for Mr. Ludwig Gerhard asked for an opportunity to appear before the Public Works committee and the hearing was closed.

Mr. Edward McDonald appeared in favor of laying out of Rockland street under the betterment act, and Messrs. G. S. Peck, L. R. Armstrong, and W. C. Woodfall spoke in favor of laying a sewer to reach Adams avenue, passing thru part of Waltham in order to do so. Mr. Andrew Ward, a resident of Waltham queried as to the matter of assessments in Waltham. A hearing was also held on laying of concrete sidewalks on Kaposia street, and which was subsequently granted. A hearing was also held on sewer construction off Beacon street, Waban, at which no one appeared.

Mayor Hatfield, as a matter of form, sent in a veto of the ordinance relating to the office of comptroller of accounts, recommending that the veto be sustained and the ordinance re-enacted in the same form and this was done.

The mayor also sent in a recommendation of an issue of $215,000 in ten year serial bonds for street improvements, and on this matter held a long private conference with the board in a committee room.

Petitions of E. A. Robinson and D. B. Rich for auctioneer licenses, of the N. & W. Gas Light Co. to open certain streets to lay mains, and of Miss Alice M. Secord for permission for children under 15 years to take part in a piano-forte recital, were granted.

Other petitions were received from Carmine Lochiato for liquor transportation permit, of Sam Najjar for common victualler license, of Lucy T. Sanger for Soldiers relief, of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Hampshire road, Barnstable road, Jackson road and Lake avenue, for relocations on Waterbury street, of the Edison Co. for attachments on Bowers street, of Wood et al for sewer in Adams avenue, of Moir et al for concrete sidewalk on Woodbine street, for street sprinkling on Newtonville avenue, Otis street, Old England road, Kenrick street, Woodman road, and Churchill street, of Bacon et al for concrete sidewalks, Woodward street, Waters et al for sewer in Beacon street, Waban, Eliza D. Howard to suspend sewer assessment of Fairmont avenue, Buckley et al for sewer Champa avenue, Thos. J. Hand for minor's license, Allan McNab for sewer in Elmwood street, Mrs. D. C. Heath for reimbursement of $1000 on account of Lowell avenue, of Wm. Bailey for liquor transportation permit, of the Edison Co. to remove poles on Saxon road.

Bond of Charles Schipone as constable was approved and petition of Henry B. Day to move building on Pine street was granted.

On reports of committees, the Telephone Company was granted attachments on Melrose street, a relocation on Washington street, a pole location on Highland avenue, Frank A. White and L. E. Rechle were granted common victualler licenses, leave to withdraw given C. L. Torre on petition for a common victualler license, Upland road was laid out under the betterment act at a cost of $1810 and a sewer ordered in the same, the matter of sanitariums on playground was transferred to the Playground commission, to erect permanent buildings not to cost over $1000 each (Alderman Bartlett voting no), a sewer was laid in Cottage street, and in Gilbert street, transfers of appropriations made in the Water and Sewer departments, $33,201 granted for city expenses, and $400 ordered for two fire alarm signal boxes.

The matter of an arcade at Nonantum square was reported back with the opinion of the city solicitor that legislation would be required to take this action.

The report of leave to withdraw on matter of abatement of sewer assessment of Sarah F. Ivy and of inexpedient on matter of additional land for school at Waban, were recommended.

An order of $3750 for purchase of a motor tractor for the fire department, part of which it was proposed to bond for ten years was opposed by President Blakemore, who took the floor to speak against the method of payment. He believed it was making a radical change in our financial policy to bond matters of this sort, for fire

"Clincher" Paint

We know a paint which holds to the wood like a driven nail. Seasoned lumber is porous. The pores are the empty sap-cells. White lead paint, which dries on the wood in the form of a solid, elastic film, fastens into these pores, and the whole coat of paint is actually riveted like armor-plate to the surface it decorates and protects.

Red Seal White Lead

(Dutch Boy Painter Trade-Mark)

and Pure Linseed Oil

make the paint that spreads into a solid body. It becomes a part of the wood itself—an outer layer that preserves the life of the lumber.

We sell it as well as other painting requisites. Come in and have a talk with us about painting.

Give the Supremacy of the Unconquered Figure
Only by the use of flexible Spirella can a corset give that perfect contour to the figure which is now demanded by the modern woman. Because of its perfectly flexible lining, the Spirella Corset is ideally adapted to meet the need. All its lines are long and soft, though adhering snugly to the figure. Spirella lacing yields easily in every direction, allowing unobstructed comfort under all conditions. Yet it will not take a permanent bend nor lose its original shape.

Every Spirella Corset is made to individual measure and is adapted to the mode of the wearer so as to bring out her best lines.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The House concurred with the Senate on Monday and passed the bill to allow Newton an additional supply of water from the Charles River valley over the Governor's veto by a vote of 164 to 54 and also passed a similar bill for Brookline over the Governor's veto by a vote of 157 to 67. The House also passed the bill to give laborers in the metropolitan district $2.50 per day over the Governor's veto by a vote of 217 to 7.

All three of our representatives voted against the "pork barrel bill" to improve rivers and harbors at a cost of $5,000,000, but it passed the House by a vote of 129 to 94. Our representatives also voted against the proposed amendment to the constitution relative to submitting certain acts to the people and while the bill had a large majority, it failed of the necessary two-thirds vote. They were also all opposed to the constitutional amendment providing for the initiative and referendum and it failed to receive the required two-thirds vote.

The bill to which I referred last week, which will make radical changes in our method of making appropriations and which will certainly cause great hardship by prohibiting additional appropriations after the tax rate is declared in the summer, is receiving final touches and will soon go to the governor for his action. Let us hope he will write a vigorous veto.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Newton Equal Franchise Association held Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., was a largely-attended one. Announcement of the meeting to be held Wednesday evening, May 28, at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, was made, at which time Rep. Thomas W. White will speak on "Why I Oppose Woman Suffrage." Mrs. Teresa Crowley, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, will answer his objections. Mrs. Henry Pinkham of Colorado will also speak for the suffragists. For the anti-suffragists, Mrs. George of Brookline will speak. The meeting will be in the nature of a Forum, when all sides of this important question will be heard.

At the annual meeting the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. William Lloyd Garrison, Jr.; vice-presidents, Miss Lucy Allen, Mrs. James I. Wingate; recording secretary, Mrs. W. E. Birdsall; corresponding secretary, Miss Margaret Hathfield; treasurer, Mrs. F. B. Young; auditor, Mrs. L. F. Muther. The following were elected directors for the coming year: Mrs. C. Sidney Cook, Miss Grace M. Burt, Mrs. Robert M. Clark, Mrs. Wm. Z. Ripley, Mrs. Sumner Robinson; Mrs. John Leonard. Honorary vice-presidents were elected as follows: Rev. William E. Huntington, Mr. Jesse C. Ivy, Mrs. N. T. Allen, Rev. Alton H. Robinson, Mrs. J. P. Tolman, Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, Mr. Francis Garrison, Mrs. Edward C. Burrage, Mr. Samuel L. Powers, Mrs. Gorham D. Gilman.

BASEBALL

A batting rally, which started in the eighth and continued through the ninth gave Newton High the victory over Medford H. S. nine last Wednesday afternoon at Medford 6 to 5. Medford also made a grave effort to tie the score, but fell short one run. The game developed into a pitchers' battle during the first seven innings, and when Newton went to bat in the eighth the score stood 1 to 0 against them. Two runs were scored in this session and in the ninth the game was won with four runs.

Bradish tallied the first run for Medford in the fifth after knocking a two-bagger to center field. Day's double brought him across the home plate. A double by O'Neill, the Newton short stop, scored Wellman in the eighth and O'Neill also tallied on an error of Noyes in handling De Rusha's infield hit.

In the ninth, two passes, doubles by Wellman and Conlon, and a single by Bryson scored four runs for the visitors and clinched the game.

Medford scored two runs in the eighth, the result of Twombly's home run over the right field fence, which brought Frazier home. Bradish led off with another double in the ninth and scored on Sweetman's single. Twombly brought Sweetman home by knocking a high fly to right field.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 10, 1913.
The Blair Manufacturing Co.,
Newark, Ohio.

Gentlemen:
About October 1st, 1911, we purchased a two and one-half ton truck of the Blair Manufacturing Co., and up to the present writing have never regretted it. We have found the truck equal to all that was claimed for it, and are more than pleased with the worm drive proposition, as all who have had experience with trucks realize that the chains are a noisy and dirty proposition.

Before purchasing said truck we had given the subject quite a thorough investigation. The point that appealed to us most strongly in the Blair Truck was the fact that it has more loading space in front of the rear wheels than any truck we found on the market. Another strong point, in our judgment, is the fact that it has two frames, that the worm housing has its own individual frame. A recent experience of ours proved this to be, in our judgment, the proper way to construct a truck.

The Blair Manufacturing Co. also have a way of living up to their word that cannot help but appeal to anyone who is in the market for a truck. Yours truly

DUST and DIRT PROBLEM SOLVED BY

Aromatic Mist

Brightens and Preserves Finish on Floors, Furniture and Woodwork.

It is a fine finish used on floors. The dry mop dust, but only partly removes it.

Aromatic Mist is a liquid compound used in vapor mists use of an Atomizer so simple that a handful of it, spreads a vapor over the floor, which holds the dust, and prevents the least particle from being raised. A few strokes of a dry mop the dust is quickly leaving the floor sparkling clean, and highly polished.

ES, MOTHS, ROACHES and INSECTS remain in the house where Aromatic Mist is used. It is a use has been adopted by nearly all important Hotels, Clubs, Hospitals, Private Schools, and thousands of the modern homes in Boston and England.

Annual Meeting

The closing event of the club season is the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, May 28 and 29, at the South Congregational Church, Exeter and Newbury streets, Boston. The sessions will open at ten in the morning and at two in the afternoon and will be full of interest, giving as they do a complete review of the year's work. On Wednesday evening the Federation welcomes as special guest, Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation, who will address the meeting. The hostess club tenders her and the Federation members a reception afterwards in the church parlors. On Wednesday afternoon the past presidents will recall the work of the Federation during the twenty years of its history.

On Thursday afternoon, May 15, Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, president of the State Federation, was at home to the members of the Executive Board of the two years of her service and to the chairmen of departments. A large number accepted her invitation and enjoyed a delightful afternoon. A feature of the occasion was the presentation to Mrs. Mulligan of a beautiful pendant set with sapphire surrounded with pearls, the gift of the members of the Executive Board. Frederick G. Smith of Somerville made the presentation speech voicing the members' love for her, their appreciation of her work for the Federation and their great regret at her retirement at this time.

The Executive Board of the Newton Federation held its regular meeting at the New Church parlors, Newtonville, on Monday morning, with Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, the new president in the chair. In opening the meeting Mrs. McIntyre gave a few words of appreciation of Mrs. Wilkins, the retiring president, and expressed the wish that the Federation may prosper as well under her own administration. Mrs. E. Anderson, the executive committee chairman for the past year, spoke appreciatively of the work of the Household Arts department of the Technical High School in providing the luncheon for the annual meeting. The largest number, 158, ever present at one of the luncheons attended the last one. Mrs. B. E. Taylor, who was unable to be present, sent a request for the complete co-operation of the Federation members, that the new clinic may be a success. The chair announced the following chairmen of committees for next year: Social, Mrs. F. E. Anderson; Social Service, Mrs. B. E. Taylor; Nominating, Mrs. E. C. Hinckley; Mrs. L. S. Drake declined the reappointment as chairman of the Education committee and her successor has not yet been secured.

It was decided to hold the Autumn meeting on the second Thursday of November, unless that date should conflict with the State Federation meeting, the Mid-Winter meeting on the fourth Wednesday of February and the Annual meeting as usual on the first Tuesday of May.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

The Library has recently added several volumes to the collection of books for the use of physicians of Newton. Among these are works on surgery, diagnosis, and the treatment of various diseases.

There may be some people who do not yet know of the chance to buy copies of books as they are withdrawn from the Duplicate Pay Collection and not needed in the regular collection. These may be had at twenty-five cents a copy. If they are bought in quantities, a reduction from this price is made.

The regular monthly meeting of the Staff of the Newton Free Library was held May 12. Mr. Thomas of the English department of the Newton High School very kindly read his paper, "An Inquiry in to the Charm of Poetry." It was a rare pleasure to hear this scholarly and delightful paper, which was originally read before the Tuesday Club. The members of the Staff feel greatly indebted to Mr. Thomas for his courtesy and generosity in allowing them a hearing of it.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Very beneficial results are coming to Y. M. C. A., especially in Foreign Work, since Mr. Rugh's visit. He spoke at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening, May 10th, at the "24-Hour-A-Day" Club Supper, also at a breakfast tendered the dormitory men on Sunday morning. Many enjoyed his address in Elliot Church at the Sunday morning service.

Before long we'll be getting the fishing tackle ready for those summer trips out the harbor. The first one comes about June 17th.

The regular schedule for the Two Man Bowling Tournament is finished. There are several postponed games yet to be played. It looks as though the Polino-Barrows combination would be on top. There is a good fight for second place, however.

Mr. Bascom, Mr. Macpherson, Mr. Emery and Mr. Kendrick attended the big convention in Cincinnati, May 15 to 18. Reports show over 1200 delegates present.

New tournaments in tennis and ping-pong are forming which offer ample opportunity for members to show their skill in these lines.

The Senior Team won a rather loosely played but close game from the Waltham Watch Factory team on Saturday afternoon 8 to 7. Newton led the score in the ninth, and doubles by Cobb and Bills won the game in the 11th.

Everybody come to see the game Saturday, May 24th, with Wayland A. A.

All members of teams are urged to be on hand Tuesdays and Saturdays. If you are on a losing team come around and help to make it win. If you are on a winning team come around and help keep it winning.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held next Wednesday evening, and will be Gentlemen's night. After a reception, there will be an entertainment by Mrs. Irving O. Palmer on the subject, "The Sea-Islanders of North Carolina," illustrated by negro songs and violin accompaniment.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Boys' Department

Newton defeats Boston. The Intermediates won from Boston on Franklin Field Saturday, May 24th, by the score of 15 to 12. Newton won out after a handicap at the end of the third inning of eight runs.

This places Newton tie with Chelsea for first place in the league. Saturday the Intermediates play Chelsea at Chelsea. This will be a deciding game as regards to the pennant for Newton.

Standing of the League May 19th.

What They Did for Jenkins

Will be given by the Boys' Dramatic Club of the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening, June 7th. This will be the second play this season and the fifth play that has been given by this group of boys.

"What They Did for Jenkins" is a clever little farce with a lot of life and action. Mr. William E. Fay of the Newton High School is coaching the boys.

The Boys' Orchestra will assist the boys in the production.

ALDERMEN FAVOR BUDGET

apparatus was liable to be damaged at any time. He said that this was an attempt to get by a budget which was admitted was altogether too large. Alderman Bomis said that there was no question but what this was an extraordinary expense. Chief Randlett states that this apparatus will unquestionably last for ten years and the bonding of permanent equipment is recognized in the bill now pending in the Legislature. Alderman Winslow said that there would be no question as to bonding if it was proposed to replace all our fire equipment with motor apparatus, at one time, and he saw no reason why it should not be done in individual cases. The matter was discussed by Aldermen Barker, Alley, Richardson, Murphy and Blanchard, all favoring the purchase of the apparatus but differing as to the method of payment. An amendment charging the entire cost to the tax levy of 1913 was finally adopted, the order being adopted, as amended with one vote, Alderman Richardson in opposition. Orders taking $7000 out of the budget for purchase of motor pumping engine for the Fire department and for issue of $10,000 ten year serial Fire Protection bonds, were recommended by a vote of 9 to 8.

Alderman Murphy opposed the inexpedient recommendation of the Finance committee on the order of allowing city laborers a half holiday on Saturdays in June, July and August, calling attention to the general policy in this respect throughout the state. Alderman Bomis said that the argument for a half holiday in summer might apply to clerks, factory hands and others who worked indoors, but it was not good business to give free time during the six months of the year when outdoor work could be best accomplished. An amendment of Alderman Rice, that the half holiday should be granted during July and August only was adopted and the order as amended passed on a voice vote.

Alderman Murphy said he had made a charter objection to the order establishing the salary of the comptroller of accounts, simply to obtain the opinion of the city solicitor as to the rights of the board to fix salaries and he had the opinion read, to the effect that the board had the right to fix salaries for legislative officers and heads of departments, but not the right to fix the pay of clerks and subordinates. The order establishing the salary of the comptroller of accounts at $3000 a year was then adopted with an amendment appropriating $1857.57 for the balance of the year 1913.

Mr. John D. Bell was then elected comptroller of accounts, receiving 17 votes, Alderman Murphy voting for ex-alderman William J. Doherty.

Orders were adopted laying out Faxon street at cost of $1670, for concrete sidewalks on Kopsia street, transferring $450 to Public Buildings dept. for payment on new automobile, abating sewer assessment on estate Patrick Callinan, Cemetery avenue, and authorizing street sprinkling on Beacon street, North street, Newtonville avenue, Old England and Woodman roads and Otis street.

On the order relative to the school appropriation for 1914, Alderman Bomis offered an amendment reducing the sum recommended by the school committee by $4000, stating that this sum would figure the same as the normal increase in the school population. The amendment was lost 8 to 9. An amendment offered by President Blakemore to reduce the amount by $2000 was also defeated by the same vote.

On the main question Alderman Richardson called attention to the self-inflicted manner in which the school budget had been framed by the superintendent of schools and approved by the school committee. Alderman Jamieson said that boiled down the figures of the school committee would only increase the tax levy by $3800 and he believed that if anything was cut down it would have to be made up later.

President Blakemore said that in making up the school budget the superintendent does not know or take into consideration the other needs of the city and declares that the city ought to spend even more than it does on education. While the schools he believed are doing fine work, the needs of the city in other directions are pressing. The board would not, for one moment, think of taking the estimates of other departments, without question. Alderman Jarvis favored a cut of $4000. The order calling for $377,233 was then adopted by a vote of 9 to 8.

Notice was received from the County Commissioners of a hearing June 18 on altering the B. & A. bridge over Elliot street, Newton Highlands.

A proposed amendment to the ordinances relating to fixing salaries of clerks and subordinates was referred and the board adjourned.

MR. SUMNER DEAD

Well Known Resident of Newton for 45 Years

John S. Sumner, of Newton, died Sunday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry A. Harwood, in Newtonville. He was in his forty-fourth year, and had been a resident of Newton for forty-five years. He was born July 8, 1838, on a farm near Franklin Park, in Boston.

JOHN S. SUMNER

was the son of Job and Sarah Sumner.

Sumner first learned the tin and sheet iron business in connection with that of stoves and furnaces, and followed it for thirteen years. In 1868, he came to Newton, purchased the stove, furnace, and pipe business established by the John Farnum, and conducted the same in his own name for thirty years.

In 1869, he married Mary Abble, daughter of Asa and Jane Pillsbury of Dorchester. Five children were born to them, three of whom are now living.

Sumner retired from business in 1904, on account of a cataract of the eye; an affliction which had troubled him for years, and which the final cause of his death. His "that nerve power and strength" of being an all around handy man, and his affectionate nature, proved to be a help to him in his years of suffering. For the last years, he had the reputation of being an all around handy man, and his affectionate nature, proved to be a help to him in his years of suffering.

STEALING MILK

Newton Policeman Suspended For Peculiar Offense

Patrolman David Neagle, a member of the Newton police force for the past fifteen years, was suspended from duty this week by Chief Mitchell. Neagle, whose beat covers the Lower Falls district at night, was charged by the Wellesley police with stealing milk from a Wellesley storekeeper. This man, who sells milk, was accused by the state inspector with selling milk below the standard, and complained to his milk man. The milkman claimed that his milk was well above the standard and after some investigation it was thought that some one was tampering with the milk between the time it was delivered in the morning and the arrival of the storekeeper. A watch was kept and Neagle was discovered in the act of drinking the cream off the top of an eight gallon can of milk.

NEWTON CHARITIES REMEMBERED.

By the will of Mary E. Eaton of Newton, a number of charities benefit directly to the extent of $34,000. She bequeaths $2000 to the Newton Home for Aged People, $2000 to the Franklin Square House, Boston; $5000 to the Perkins Institution for the Blind, $5000 to the Boston Floating Hospital, $5000 to the Newton Hospital for the establishment of a free bed; $5000 to the American Missionary Association, $5000 to the Congregational Home Missionary Society, and $5000 to the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. The will also includes a number of private bequests, and provides that the residue of the estate shall be divided between the Newton Home for Aged People and the Newton Hospital.

On October 24th, 1908, the last time he visited Walnut Hill, he made a record of forty consecutive shots at the thousand yard range, using peep and globe sights, and a 30 caliber high power rifle shot from the long range position without artificial rest. The score was 190 out of a possible 200, which shows that, although he was then in his seventieth year he still retained his high grade skill as a marksman. Mr. Sumner attended the Elliot Church in Newton, and was one of the earliest pew holders. He was an indulgent father devoted to his family. Modest and retiring by nature, his friendship was prized by all who knew him. Through all the years of suffering he never complained, but was always optimistic. Three children survive him, Mrs. Arthur P. Fiske, of Sharon, Mr. Charles S. Sumner, of Hamburg, Germany, and Mrs. Harry A. Harwood of Newtonville. There are six grandchildren, three of whom are in Germany. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry A. Harwood, on Linwood avenue, Newtonville. They were attended by a large number of friends, who testified to their regard for Mr. Sumner by many beautiful flowers. The services were in charge of Rev. Wolcott Perkins, a former pastor of Elliot Church, and the interment was at Mt. Hope Cemetery, Roxbury.

OPPOSE WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Largely Attended Meeting Held at Players' Hall, West Newton, Under Auspices of Newton Ladies

An audience of men and women, from nearly all wards of the city, filled the Players' Hall, West Newton, to its utmost capacity on Monday evening when Hon. John A. Sullivan of Boston and Mrs. A. J. George of Brookline spoke in opposition to woman suffrage.

Mr. Charles E. Kelsey of Newton Centre, the presiding officer, spoke of the scattered village centers that make up our city, the value of any and all interests that bring people together for unified work, and the more than local interest of the subject for the evening.

The burden of the argument against woman suffrage was assumed by Mr. Sullivan, who took up one by one, the various theories advanced by the advocates of woman suffrage to justify their demand for the ballot.

"The old phrase, 'no taxation without representation,' has a splendid ring," the speaker declared, and then proceeded to show that placed in its historical setting the protest of the Colonists was not an appeal for the ballot. That against which James Otis protested was the taxation of the Colonies by a Parliament over seas, in which they were not represented. The question of votes did not enter the case at all. Further than this, Mr. Sullivan went on, it is well to remind ourselves that the suffrage is not governed by the possession of property in this country, though such conditions which logically allow of plural voting obtain abroad.

The demand of suffrage advocates that women should be given the ballot as a natural right, Mr. Sullivan classed with other exploded political theories. "Nature did not create the ballot," he declared, "it was society that did so."

He then went on to show that woman's present great power in the state is derived from the fact that she is the only citizen who cannot be classed as a partisan.

"If men and women of the same station were to vote the same way, where would be the anticipated gain? And if members of the same family voted differently what would be the result when we know that quarrels over smaller matters agitate families of all degrees?" It is clear, Mr. Sullivan went on, that such a state of affairs postulates a state of society different from that which we now have. A state of society in which the individual rather than the family is the unit, in other words, socialism.

And socialism, Mr. Sullivan observed, looks forward eagerly to the time when it shall be able to control a body of voters to whose emotions its doctrines make an insidious appeal. It is for this reason that the socialist party works earnestly for the initiative and referendum and for this end that it gives "Votes for Women," a prominent position in its political platform. Once the initiative be granted the danger of apathy as regards the question of woman suffrage becomes greatly magnified.

As a member of the Committee on Elections of the National House, Mr. Sullivan said that he had an unusual opportunity to view the workings of woman suffrage in the state of Colorado. Eleven years after the "purifying element" had been added to the electorate of that western state there was a contested election of the representative from the county in which Denver is situated, none other than the well known "Shafroth Case." In the course of the evidence it was clearly shown that there were gross frauds in which men were far from being the sole offenders. Women marshalled their paid cohorts to and from the various polling places, where they voted on the names of respectable women, thus depriving the latter of any opportunity to register an opinion. It was such things as this, the speaker stated, that led him to declare that "if the ballot were given women in Massachusetts, the present ignorant vote would be doubled, and the ignorant vote is what paralyzes all honest attempts at good government." Before the franchise is granted, it should be shown that women as a class, are better fitted to vote than men and that they can handle the ballot with more intelligence and honor than men now do, for, if they can only handle it equally well, nothing at all is gained by an extension to them of the right to vote.

Mrs. George spoke of the great anti-suffrage victory in Michigan, when the scant thousands of votes of last November were turned into 96,000 in April. She called attention to the disagreeable position of women in a political campaign, she herself, because an opponent of suffrage, being declared a paid agent of the American Brewers' Association. The methods employed by the suffragists, and the proof shown the men of the state by the almost universal protest of the women, she called the "reform" movement.

"It is interesting," Mrs. George said, "to note in this connection that out of a total of 80 odd counties, 12 of the 17 that voted for suffrage went wet at the same election, and out of 36 so called dry counties 29 voted against woman suffrage."

She also spoke of the promises recently made to audiences of mill girls by suffrage speakers touring the Connecticut valley, who declared that if these girls had the ballot they would have the same wages as men. "These speakers forget," Mrs. George went on, "that three factors determine wages: the market supply and demand, the degree of skill which is offered, and the organization of the workers into bodies where they can make collective bargaining."

Continuing, Mrs. George said,—"There are three portents which just now loom large on the suffrage horizon. The first of these is the alliance with socialism, and by socialism we mean the platform endorsed by the political party which cast its vote last November for Eugene V. Debs for president of the United States. In the suffrage parade at Washington a banner was carried which read 'One million Socialists work and vote for woman suffrage.' The suffragist who has the intellectual honesty of the socialist and feminist, must come out where the suffrage parade in Washington and New York says that the change (under woman's vote) will most certainly affect the institutions 'in which the sex, as a sex, is most peculiarly and vitally interested. And these institutions, it is hardly necessary to point out, are the home and marriage itself."

If the woman's vote is to do something more than double the number of votes on election day, double the expenditure of energy in political organization and double the burden of election expenses for the taxpayer, the woman's vote must mean a different vote from the man's of her own class, and this means that the feminist ideal of woman's financial and social independence of man must prevail.

The third portent is that of militancy. No American suffrage balance has repudiated the militancy of their English sisters, and many have condoned it. During the inauguration week in Washington the flag floated over the headquarters of the Congressional Committee of the National Woman Suffrage Association was the purple green and white emblem of the militant organization of which Mrs. Pankhurst is president.

We need today in our government calm judgment. Do the American women who endorse the English militants give a promise that if enfranchised they will show us a more excellent way in government? We may well hesitate before we add to the burdens of our democracy this strain of an electorate the majority of whom are acknowledged to be either indifferent or opposed to the exercise of the franchise by women.

Continuing, she said: Upon one thing we are all agreed—the right of woman to that individual development which shall make possible her fullest contribution to the social order. There is honest difference of opinion as to how this contribution is to be made. There are those who believe that only through the vote can the state be moralized and reformed, and there are those who believe that women's votes would be a waste of power because a duplication of effort, and that there would be no compensating gain to women or the state for this economic loss. These hold the conviction that true progress can lie only in guiding Nature in the direction in which she is moving, and not in trying to head her off. They believe that the so-called "reform" is really a retrogressive movement.

If there is one thing which alarms the advocates of woman suffrage it is the suggestion that an opportunity shall be given to the women to register an opinion on the question. The most ardent suffragists are agreed that the enfranchisement of women is the one subject on which men alone are competent to decide. It is no part of their plan to give woman a chance to express their will on this question. They forget that the foundation of a democracy lies in mutual agreement and majority rule.

So convinced are the advocates of votes for women, that theirs is the one method by which woman should contribute her services to the state that they are determined to force legislation which is in strong opposition to the wishes of the great majority of those most concerned. Wherever women have been given an opportunity to express their will in regard to the suffrage a very small proportion have gone on record in favor of it.

It is not a question of aim in which the suffragists and antisuffragists differ. Both parties desire woman's opportunity for her highest social efficiency in order that she may serve the state fully and nobly. The problem is to be solved, not by consulting the wishes of one group of women, but by earnest consideration of the possible results to the state of the imposition of the duties of government upon all women. If the law gives to woman the right to vote, then all women have the responsibility of voting. The burden, if it is put upon any woman, must be put upon all women. Never before has it been proposed to extend the franchise to a new electorate, the majority of whom are acknowledged to be either indifferent or opposed to it.

The suffragists make much of the cartoon representing a woman scrubbing, with a contrasting picture of a drunken husband. The cartoon is labeled "She can't vote—he can." Fortunately society is not made up of scrubbing wives and drunken husbands. Unfortunately both types exist, but to compare these two is neither fair nor just, either to the voting men

BAD BOYS

Captured While Stealing In West Newton Hardware Store

Karl B. Sanborn and John Meachen, the students at a private school at West Newton, who were arrested early Monday morning in the hardware store of W. E. Tomlinson on Washington street, by Patrolman Monaghan, were arraigned in the Police Court Tuesday morning, and the former was held in $1800 and the latter $1000 for the Grand Jury. The charges against them were breaking and entering and larceny, and carrying loaded revolvers. On the latter each was fined $50.

The police say that the young men have also admitted breaking into the store last March, and also a similar break into the drug store of George W. Hunt, which is but a few doors from the Tomlinson store.

Entrance in all three cases was gained by using a ladder in the rear. On Sunday night when patrolman Monaghan was making his usual rounds in the rear of the block, he noticed a ladder and open window in the Tomlinson store. Creeping softly up the ladder, he went into the store, and before the young men could escape grappled with young Sanborn, while Meachen ran toward the front door. The door being locked, the young man was unable to get out, and the patrolman's threat that he would shoot unless he stopped caused the young man to throw up his hands and come to the officer.

Both men were handcuffed and taken to headquarters, where charges of breaking and entering and larceny and carrying a loaded revolver were checked against their names.

Sergeant Kite and patrolman Monaghan searched the rooms of the boys and found quantities of goods, cameras, knives, revolvers and photographic supplies. The greater part of the goods was found in the room of young Sanborn, the police securing two waste baskets full, valued at about $200.

Sanborn sought to absolve Meachen from blame of the break, stating that he was responsible for the leading astray of the young student. Meachen is the son of a poor widow, and was working his way through the school, waiting on table, and helping out in other ways. He was a member of the baseball team, and both boys were popular with their fellow-students.

RECITAL

The first grade of the Pianoforte and Theory Students' Association gave the annual exhibition of their class work last week on Thursday afternoon at the studio of their teacher, Miss Helen Douglas, at 20 Foster street, Newtonville.

The ease and facility with which the pupils went through with their various drills and exercises, convinced all present of their thorough training in the fundamental principles of music.

The stories of the lives of the famous composers, written by the pupils were very interesting and the pupils rendered their pianoforte pieces and duos in a pleasing manner, and transposed them to other keys. Miss Hazel Cunningham, a pupil of the fourth grade, closed the program by playing Godard's Valse Chromatique in E flat major and a pupil, aged nine, played the accompaniment, while her little sister, aged seven, sang.

CITY HALL.

The new tractor for the truck at Newtonville was tested Monday morning, and so far has proved successful. The three-wheel device attracted much attention when viewed by Mayor Hatfield, in front of City Hall. The engine is 40 horsepower, and is capable of carrying the truck at a rate of 25 miles an hour.

ANNUAL FIELD DAY

Newton High School Girls Hold Interesting Event

The annual field day of the girls of the Newton High schools was held Tuesday on Clafin field, Newtonville and was a great success in every way. The grandstand presented a gay sight, with the senior class decorated with blue ribbons, the juniors with green, sophomores with red and the freshmen with yellow.

The affair was under the direction of Miss Grace Shephardson and Miss Elizabeth Westgate, directors of physical culture at the school, the teachers acted as scorers, referee and umpire.

The meet began with a four-inning baseball game between the juniors and sophomores, which was won by the former, 6 to 5. Several brilliant stops were made, and three were caught attempting to steal bases.

The junior team was Miss Fessenden, c; Miss Flanders, p; Miss Donovan, 1b; Miss Nash, 2b; Miss Eaton, 3b; Miss Condon, as; Miss Doherty, cf; Miss Voe, lf, and Miss McCallum, rf; and the sophomores, Miss Perkins, c; Miss O'Rourke, p; Miss McCarthy, 1b; Miss Farrell, 2b; Miss Leach, 3b; Miss Duncan, as; Miss Preble, cf; Miss Lyons, lf, and Miss DeFueha, rf.

In the first match in volleyball the freshmen beat the sophomores, 15 to 14, and the juniors the seniors, 16 to 15. In the final match between the freshmen and the juniors the latter won, 9 to 7. The players on the junior team were Miss Gustin, Miss Rane, Miss Palmer, Miss Allen, Miss Brooks, Miss Brigham, Miss Adams, Miss Buntin, Miss Chapin, Miss Hubbard, Miss Harvey and Miss McCallum. The freshman team was Miss Ames, Miss Blanchard, Miss Barker, Miss Parker, Miss Pray, Miss Keefe, Miss Howell, Miss E. Brewer, Miss Merrill and Miss Bacon.

The next event, the obstacle race, was a "scream." Each participant left the starting line with a suit case and umbrella and in the middle of the field stopped, opened the case, put on a sweater and gloves, closed the case put up the umbrella and ran 15 yards and back, removed the sweater and gloves, placed them in the case, and carried it to the next member of the team. This event caused the widest confusion, as some runners had difficulty either in putting on the sweater which was wrong side out, or in getting the umbrella up.

The freshmen defeated the sophomores and the juniors the seniors. The freshman team—Miss Horne, Miss Underhill, Miss Edwards and Miss Lawson—was defeated by the juniors in the final race by a slight margin. The winning team comprised: Miss Holmes, Miss Halloran, Miss Voe and Miss McCallum.

The tennis match between Miss Zinderstein, senior and Miss Brown, junior, was won by the former in two straight sets, 7-5 and 6-2. The meet was won by the juniors, who took first place in the baseball game volleyball and obstacle race.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

Tony Bonti, an employee of the Newton and Watertown Gas Light Company, was overcome by leaking gas Monday morning while working in a trench at the corner of Winchester and Boylston streets, Newton Highlands. When he was seen to fall, other employees carried the man to the street and gave him first aid until the arrival of the ambulance. He was taken to the Newton Hospital, and is not considered in a dangerous condition. He lives on West street, Nonantum.

Crawford Ranges

Any iron worker can make a box with a fire in one end and call it a cooking stove.

It may in outward appearance impress you favorably—and—if you want a cooking stove merely to look at it may be satisfactory.

But—if you want a cooking stove that will cook your food perfectly, that banishes toil and trouble, that is so easy to manage and so sure in results that cooking becomes a joy—its name is Crawford.

The Single Damper (patented) regulates better than two dampers; the curved Cup-Joint flues heat the oven in every part alike; there is an Ash Hod instead of the clumsy old ash pan. These are not found in any other range.

ARE THE RAILWAYS TREATED FAIRLY?

(Boston Evening Transcript.)

By WILLIAM Z. RIPLEY
Professor of Economics, Harvard University.

The most striking feature of the railroad problem in 1912 is the contrast with conditions ten years earlier. Instead of unexampled prosperity, a period of great financial depression in transportation business has supervened. In place of practical domination in the economic life of the country, the carriers now seem to be more or less at the mercy of circumstances. Organized labor under threat of general strikes has forced substantial concessions both in wages and conditions. The carriers have acquiesced manfully in the mandate of the people that they shall be subject to public control. But they find themselves now, by the pressure of increasing costs of operation and of ever greater demands from the public for more and better service, practically compelled to throw themselves upon the mercy of the Interstate Commerce Commission for relief. This relief is demanded, not alone in the interest of investors, but in order that much-needed improvements and extensions commensurate with the development of the country may be made. It is a self-evident proposition that unless the railroads are prosperous and protected in the exercise of their property rights, a healthy growth of transportation facilities cannot be had. Adequate service and the convenience of the public require that the present plight of the railways should receive the most earnest consideration.

Railway net income which culminated in 1910, has now declined from that level by about one-eighth, despite a considerable increase in gross earnings. The latest evidence shows a halting and uncertain movement. This condition of affairs makes it practically impossible for the carriers to raise funds by the sale of bonds, except at high rates of interest. Further continuation of hand-to-mouth financing by issuance of short-term notes is fraught with danger. A menace to continued prosperity also is the successful pressure of the railroad brotherhoods for substantial increases of wages.

VALUABLE COMPENSATIONS

(From the Milwaukee Journal)

A man stoops to pick a banana peeling from the sidewalk and throw it in the gutter, and his companion comments, "You are not paid to do that." Nor is he, nor paid for carefully depositing trash in the box provided for that purpose. Nor does the traveler who turns off the light when he leaves his hotel room find his bill reduced. So when a group of men or women have an enterprise to carry through, a few of them work hard in making ready; more come in at the end to appear with the workers, to share equally the credit. If indeed they do not attract even more attention than those who are behind the scenes running the actual machinery. A few people may know who have done the hard work, but for the most part it is not recognized. They are "not paid to do it." What is their compensation?

Their reward is the reward of every man who lives on an ideal. It comes from the satisfaction of meeting one's own standards, in the assurance of ability to maintain a course which he has laid down for himself, and which means effort, persistence, work that goes unrecognized. Because of these things, though no one knows of them, or though others know and smile, he feels himself a better man to live with. Yet there is more than this. Such a man or woman is building up a habit of accomplishment, is acquiring the invaluable quality of success in what he undertakes. Not in the particular thing that he does, perhaps, does practice bring its reward, but it has given him capacity. He becomes the kind of man who is known for his ability or his faithfulness. He did the things for which he was not paid because he wanted to do them, but his wanting to do them has brought him in the long run the name of the kind of man on whom society depends. His unpaid work brings other unpaid work, but eventually it brings also some recognition.

It is worth while to do the decent things, but faithful things. It means much work, but work is not an evil. It means also great rewards. And the greatest reward to such a man or woman is the consciousness of being in good company even when alone.

LAST WEEK OF "NEPTUNE'S GARDEN OF LIVING STATUES" AT KEITH'S. "Neptune's Garden of Living Statues," the sensational mythological water pantomime which has created so much talk and speculation during the past few weeks at B. F. Keith's Theatre, will begin the fifth and positively last week of its engagement at this popular playhouse on Monday. Surrounding this beautiful spectacle will be an excellent vaudeville bill of the genuine all-star variety. Valerie Bergere and her players will present that most amusing of comedy, "His Japanese Wife," with a beautiful Oriental stage setting; and another strong attraction will be the first vaudeville appearance in several years of Ethel Green, the dainty little prima donna and character comedienne, who last appeared in Boston in "Doctor De Luxe." Other features of the week will be John T. Murray, "The man in lavender"; Flanagan and Edwards in their latest behind the scenes skit, "Off and On"; Ronald and Ward, in songs and dances; The Kratons, hoop rollers; Eckhart and Francis, comedy acrobats; and the Edison Kinetophone.

Friends and Neighbors Express Their Regard For Mr. F. G. Melcher

The friends and neighbors of Mr. Frederic G. Melcher, who have just presented him with a signed testimonial of their esteem and regard, have fittingly expressed the general regret which has been felt by all of Mr. Melcher's acquaintances in this city, over his departure for another, and far distant home. It is usual to defer such expressions until after a man dies, and the tribute is all the more noteworthy from the fact that it is expressed while Mr. Melcher's life in this city ought to be held up as an example to all our young men. He was interested in all things which were of benefit to the community, in religion, in politics, and in social work. He was teacher and superintendent of the Unitarian Sunday School, president of the Young People's Religious Union and was a member of the executive board of his church. In a word, it may be said that Mr. Melcher gave the very best of himself to his church, and his associates in this respect are inclined to urge a well defined relationship between the religious faith he professed and the sort of man he is. In political life, he was an enthusiastic worker for what he believed to be right and he carried his well known energy into his every act as a member of the Republican city committee. His outlook in this respect was inspirational and unselfish and he was solely desirous of promoting the best interests of the community in the broadest sense.

When the Playground League was started he became one of its earnest advocates and served as its secretary. He recently became an incorporator in the Newton Centre Savings Bank and at once made some valuable suggestions about bringing the bank more closely in touch with the community. He was also interested in the history of Newton and prepared a series of interesting talks on the subject which he gave at various places.

In all his work he brought a splendid enthusiasm, as well as untiring industry. A good speaker, he had the faculty of inspiring others, and thus created an ever increasing influence for good. Newton Centre and the rest of the city will miss his presence, his enthusiasm and his work, tempered only by the hope of his many friends that some time will sometime prove strong enough to bring him back to the city which we know he still loves.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

We are proud of our schools and we follow their work with interest. Are we equally proud of our library, and do we follow its work and the work of its branches?

Some people are surprised to find that we do more than "hand a few books over the desk" each day. The library supplements the work of the schools, and children are sent to it every day with subjects to look up on short notice. School children are not the only ones who come to the library for help. Students and inquirers of all ages turn to it naturally and hopefully. We help them to the best of our ability, but reference work means large equipment.

One ward is working definitely for better conditions. For one thing, a long flight of stairs is a bugbear to many patrons, therefore to have the Branch Library on the ground floor would be an advantage. Can we not begin now in Newtonville to awaken an interest in improving "Our Branch" so that we may do a larger and more efficient work?

M. H. C. Newtonville.

—The Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held the annual meeting and gentlemen's night on Wednesday evening in the Y. M. C. A. parlors. A business meeting was held at 7.30 followed by a reception to the men. Mrs. Irving O. Palmer entertained delightfully on the Fourth of July and substantial progress has been made in plans already. The celebration will be held on the grounds of the Y. M. C. A., where there will be a band concert and sports in the afternoon and a band concert and fireworks in the evening. It is also hoped to have a horrible parade about the village in the morning. Every resident of the village is invited to contribute to the expenses of the celebration, and check or money can be sent to Mr. G. A. Aston, chairman, or to Mr. Fred A. Hubbard, president, or J. C. Brimblecom, treasurer of the Association.

FORMER NEWTON MAN HONORED

Citizens of Colorado Springs, Col., have caused a fine painting to be made of Dr. William Slocum, in honor of the completion of twenty-five years' service as president of Colorado College. The painting is by John White, a student of New York and is considered a most striking likeness. Dr. Slocum was born in Grafton and fitted for college at the Newton High School, with his brother, Mr. Winfield S. Slocum of Newtonville, city solicitor of Newton.

After his graduation from Amherst he went to Germany for post-graduate studies in history and philosophy. While in Europe he made special search in sociological questions and contributed more or less to English and American journals. On his return to America Dr. Slocum took the theological course at Andover. Upon his graduation he was called to the Congregational Church at Amesbury. Five years later he became pastor of the First Congregational Church of Baltimore, Md. Here, interest in sociological matters caused an activity in the organization of charities and led to his publishing pamphlets and articles which made him authority on problems of city work.

Since his presidency of Colorado College Dr. Slocum has been identified with the reformative affairs of the State and has had much to do with the drafting of important laws affecting prisoners and the dependent classes. President Slocum received the degree of doctor of letters from Amherst, in 1893, from the University of Nebraska, 1894, and from Harvard in 1912.

While letters and contributions from all the States and from Europe as well tend to make the celebration more than a local affair, the local interest is unflagging. The Gazette says, "Colorado College is our greatest asset and President Slocum is our foremost citizen. In richly honoring him for his achievements Colorado Springs will honor itself."

Dr. Slocum found Colorado College with but one building, no endowment, and a small enrollment. He made it by his energy and rare administrative ability, one of the leading colleges of the West. Commencement, June 11, has been deemed a fitting time for Dr. Slocum's friends, the faculty, the alumni, and the students to combine and leave a lasting memorial of his devotion and sagacity in the field of his labor.

EDITORIAL

I wonder if the taxpayers of this city fully realize the significance of the vote last week of the school committee for the request of the school committee for an appropriation of $377,233 for 1914. This action following that of last year, evidently means that no successful attempt can be made to stem the enormous increase in school expenses from which the city treasury is at present suffering. Some idea of the increase in school maintenance can be gathered from the following figures. In 1902 the cost of schools was $212,000, in 1906 it was $249,000, in 1910 it was about $335,000 and in 1914 it will approximate $390,000, all these figures including the cost of repairs on school buildings. In addition to this enormous total, the sinking fund charges, interest and serial bonds on our school house construction must be added, making a grand total of over a half million dollars.

It is high time that this rapid increase in school appropriations should be stopped, even if Newton is supposed to be a wealthy city, for there must be some limit to the amount which the city can afford to expend for education. Dr. Spaulding, our able and enthusiastic superintendent of schools, believes that nothing is too good for our children, and he has had sufficient influence with the school committee and the aldermen during the past two years to induce them to grant him the exact sum he believed necessary to maintain the schools. The school committee endorses the superintendent's figures, and the aldermen not being educational experts, and unable to find a satisfactory excuse to reduce the sum, acquiesce, with many protestations, to Dr. Spaulding's figures.

The school committee is the proper body to handle the matter of expense in the right way, and to restrain Dr. Spaulding's enthusiasm to a point where it will coincide more closely with the ability of the city to pay. But the school committee dexterously transfers this undesirable burden upon the aldermen and has refused to take perfectly proper and necessary steps to reduce the school expenses. I refer specifically to the plan for abolishing a grade school at Lower Falls, where the number of children is so small as to make it feasible to convey them to West Newton, with a saving financially to the city and a gain educationally to the children. A large expense might also be saved by abolishing the kindergarten system, a matter which is now being favorably considered by the educational experts and which the financial condition of the city would warrant adopting at the present time. These matters are within the province of the school committee and should be considered on their merits regardless of the popular feeling which might be aroused thereby. These two suggestions would reduce the school budget by $15,000 or $20,000 and are presented with the hope that other and equally economical measures may be also considered.

Advocates of our present school system believe that it is a good advertisement to the city and attracts a more desirable class of citizens. Undoubtedly this may be so, but unless these new citizens bring into the city a substantial increase in valuation (and there are very few who do) the great cost per pupil ranging from $37.00 in the kindergartens to over $140 in the extra technical courses, makes their advent a distinct financial loss to the city. I am aware that this is a narrow point of view, but it is worth considering in connection with this subject.

The matter of educational results is also worth consideration at this time. We have for some years complacently believed that our educational factory was the best and that its output was most meritorious. I have reason to believe that the children educated in our public schools do not have the groundwork which is essential to their success in the business world. My own personal experience and the opinions of others lead me to suggest that it would pay the city to have an unbiased educational expert make an examination into our curriculum and methods of teaching, with a view to obtain better results at a far less cost. This suggestion follows the recent recommendation of Superintendent of Schools Dyer of Boston, that the courses in that city be simplified and the teaching methods energized. Newton, in my opinion needs the same treatment.

The schools of Newton ought to be run on a business, not sentimental basis, with due regard to the product, and with the further factor that the public ought not to be required or expected to give more than a working educational foundation to its children, and anything further should be accomplished at private and not public expense.

Mayor Hatfield's suggestion to issue $215,000 in serial bonds for ten years to pay for certain street improvements raises several interesting questions. The first and most important, of course, is that of the propriety of issuing bonds for this character of work. The policy of the city in the past has been against incurring debt for what might be considered current expenses, and our street maintenance and reconstruction accounts have, with few exceptions, been charged to the tax levy of the current year. The exceptions were caused by the large expense incurred in widening Washington street, where the land damages were very heavy, the cost of laying out of Commonwealth avenue, and the widening of Tremont and Park streets, which were really caused by the Washington street widening. The work now under consideration, however, is purely reconstruction involving no land damages, and while an absolute necessity, can be classed only as a current expense. The argument that the method of work to be followed will be of a permanent character, will bear considerable analysis. In the first place it is admitted that this type of construction (an asphalt paving on a macadam base) has not been in use but a few years, and the oldest street of this character is but a few years of age. Hardly a test of real permanency. While I have no doubt that the opinion of the Street Commissioner is sound in the prediction that this method of construction will easily last the ten years it is proposed to bond the expense, it must be considered as an opinion, without actual knowledge, and in this connection the further fact ought also to be considered that the new methods of transportation, notably the heavier trucks, may create a condition of which the present has no knowledge, and which may tear all kinds of street surfacing to pieces in a short time.

It is also interesting to consider how the present condition of streets came about and what policy should be adopted in the future. For the past ten years the rapid increase in school expenses, the unavoidable increases in the police and fire department, has caused the city government to curtail in every direction, and by far the largest reduction in department estimates has come in the street department, notwithstanding the increase each year in the number of new streets and the great changes made by the advent of the automobile. The largest item in the street department, the cost for maintenance, has been reduced from what it was fifteen years ago, until the present year, when the deplorable condition of our streets induced the aldermen to make a slight effort to remedy matters. The city is now reaping the fruit of that policy, and must within a very few months expend large sums for street maintenance. This can only be done by increasing the tax levy, or by incurring bonded debt. Mayor Hatfield, realizing the financial condition of the city, where it is evident that something like $150 will be added to the present tax rate, believes that necessary expense can best be accomplished by a large bond issue, placing the important thoroughfares in the best condition, all at once. This involves the employment of a large number of men for a few months and the purchase of a large amount of equipment to enable all the work to be done at substantially the same time. The other alternative is to make a substantial appropriation for the next two or three years for this work, taking the most important streets, at first, and doing the work with the present street department force, and with but slight additional equipment.

It seems to me that the latter is the more sensible plan, although it is certain to make a still further increase in our tax rate. If the city governments in the past had handled the situation aright we would have had a higher tax rate for the past ten years, but we would have had far better streets than at present. To remedy the mistakes of the past by placing a heavy burden on the future, appears to me to be evading the plain duty of the present—which is to face the issue and continue the safe and sane financial policy of the city in authorizing funded debt only for permanent improvements.

Granting the school committee budget in full and cutting down the request of the city laborers, is a typical illustration of the burden the school expense place on other city departments.

NEWTON EQUAL FRANCHISE ASSOCIATION

In spite of the stormy evening, Bray Hall, Newton Centre, was filled Wednesday evening at an open meeting of the Newton Equal Franchise Association. Rep. Thomas W. White, the first speaker, told the audience why he was opposed to Woman Suffrage. Mrs. Teresa Crowley, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, answered his objections, and gave some telling arguments for equal suffrage. Mrs. Henry Pinkham of Colorado, spoke about the exercise of the suffrage in Colorado. Many questions were asked, and the greatest interest shown. Another meeting will be held Thursday afternoon on the grounds of Mrs. Mather's residence on Elgin street, when Mrs. Maud Wood Park will speak.

PARAGON PARK

The jubilant inauguration of the fifth season at Paragon Park with its famous Palm Garden and still more notable Cabaret will begin on a holiday this year, the same being next Friday, May 30th. Saturday, the 31st, will be just as spectacular in special features as the holiday preceding it, and Sunday is always a holiday at Paragon.

The big feature in the free open air circus every afternoon and evening on the Lagoon is headed by Nervo in his death defying chest dive. Other free circus features are: Lavastour, the world's strongest man, pulling against 60 horses; Aerial LaRues, Daley Brothers. Fireworks will be a special feature Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights next.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—The "Julius Caesar" which John Craig will present on Monday at the Castle Square, is undoubtedly the most popular of all Shakespeare's historical dramas. Its plot is taken from actual events in Roman history, it is thrillingly dramatic throughout, and its three leading personages, Brutus, Cassius and Marc Antony, have no equal on the stage in the way of concentrated dramatic power. This play has been chosen the part of Marc Antony, and he will play it for the first time, his previous appearances as "Julius Caesar" having been made as Brutus. To Mr. Carleton has been assigned the "noblest Roman of them all," Brutus, and as Cassius, Mr. Meek will again display his exceptional versatility.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE.—The Plymouth Theatre, Boston, will reopen its doors on next Monday. This time it will be for the purpose of housing a high grade stock company, headed by Miss Eleanor Gordon, and including such competent and well known players as Mrs. George A. Hibbard, Elizabeth Rathburn, Ida Jeffreys Goodfriend, Rosamond Carpenter, Francesca Rotoli, Cordelia MacDonald, Lauretta Hoadley, Douglas J. Wood, Wright Kramer, Edward Langford, Frederick Burt, Roland Rushton and Alfred Smith. For the opening bill Miss Gordon has selected Mrs. Fiske's version of Sardou's delightful three-act comedy "Divorçons," a piece in which Mrs. Fiske and Grace George have successfully appeared in. During Miss Gordon's engagement at the Plymouth the matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday only.

BOSTON THEATRE.—The Old Homestead still continues at the Boston Theatre with dear old Josh Whitcomb as the principal character. This play made famous by the late Denman Thompson is still arousing the greatest enthusiasm and making new friends daily. A special matinee will be given on Decoration Day.

THE ONLY WAY

THE DUST AND DIRT PROBLEM SOLVED BY

Aromatic Mist
This is a liquid compound used in vapor form, one minute use of an Atomizer so simple that a child can handle it, spreads a vapor over the floor, which sticks and holds the dust, and prevents the least particle from rising.

With a few strokes of a dry mop the dust is quickly lifted leaving the floor spotlessly clean, and easily wiped.

FLIES, MOTHS, ROACHES AND INSECTS
Will not remain in the house where Aromatic Mist is used. It is a use has been adopted by nearly all prominent Hotels, Clubs, Hospitals, Private Schools, as well as thousands of the modern homes in Boston and New England.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

At the time of going to press the annual convention of the Massachusetts State Federation is still in progress. A full account of the sessions will be given next week. The guests from outside Massachusetts have been Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation, Mrs. Henry I. Cushman of Providence, president of the Rhode Island Federation, Mrs. George H. Fowler, a former president of the same Federation and now chairman of Rhode Island Commission on Education, and Mrs. William Burlingame of Exeter, New Hampshire, a former president of the New Hampshire Federation and at present chairman of the New England Conference.

The New Hampshire Federation has been holding its annual meeting this week at Concord, N. H. The sessions opened on Monday evening and have continued through Wednesday. Mrs. Pennybacker was their guest before coming to Boston.

Report of Corresponding Secretary

At its first annual meeting the Federation was a union of 21 clubs, today, its 21st annual meeting, it has an enrollment of 2 federations and 252 clubs. During the year 1912-1913 one federation and 13 clubs have been admitted to membership in the Federation; namely, the Boston City Federation, the Half Century Club of Boston, the Monday Club of Wareham, the Current Events Club of Springfield, the Plymouth Woman's Club, the Ex-Regents Club (D. A. R.), of Boston, the Boston Parliamentary Law Club, the Quincy Women's Riverdale Club, the Wollaston Woman's Club, the Grotton Woman's Club, the Social Science Club of Ware, the Parliamentary Law Club of Newton, the Holy Club of Wrentham, the Menorah Club of Lynn. The total membership is now 47,177, a gain of 13,131 over last year. The Boston City Federation is a prominent factor in this increase.

For use at the regular meetings, nearly 8000 tickets have been distributed among the clubs. In addition to these, about 7000 tickets were sent out for the meeting in the interests of International Peace and Arbitration which was held in connection with the mid-winter meeting.

Grace Vose Hibbard.

Public Health Department

Early in the season the Public Health Department was called upon to hold two conferences. One by invitation of the Cabot Club of Middlebury, Vermont, at the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Lakeville and a second at Pepperell.

A conference of the Health Chairmen of the Clubs was held in December to consider the need of open-air schools and sex hygiene and to suggest lines of work.

The Traveling Health Library has been in constant circulation during the past year and a half. The wisdom on the part of the State Federation in forming this library is demonstrated in the interest which has been awakened and the efforts which are being made by the clubs toward better sanitary conditions. The use of the library is sought largely by the small clubs where there are not any or very few health books in the Public Library of the town. The library contains forty-two books on both civic and health subjects, one hundred pamphlets and thirty-five photographs of state tuberculosis sanatoria.

Twenty-eight clubs report having given lectures on health subjects. Many clubs report permanent work of maintaining visiting nurses or contributing to hospitals or other health organizations.

LILIAS FOLGER, Chairman.

NEWTON LADIES' HOME CIRCLE.

The last meeting of May 15 was a most busy and interesting one, an unusually large number being present. Plans for a useful year were made.

The circle is gaining in membership, activity and pleasure. After a long business session a dainty tea was served by the hospitality committee, Mrs. W. H. Brown, chairman, followed by a delightful entertainment, with Mrs. John Bean and Mrs. Joshua Seaver in charge. The Elliot Mandolin Club again charmed all by fine selections. There were piano solos by Miss Maude Rochefort and Mr. Harold Temple of Auburndale, and fine readings by Miss Lillian Jeffords of Newton Highlands.

The circle is fortunate in numbering among its friends artists of such talent to bring to the meeting so much of pleasure as a finale to a strenuous season. We highly commend the Elliot Mandolin Club as entertainers for clubs and meetings.

MRS. DOUBLEDAY DEAD

Mrs. Hannah Doubleday, widow of the late Truman Doubleday, passed away Sunday, after an illness extending over a period of about 18 months.

The funeral was held Wednesday at her late residence, 131 Sargent street, Newton. Impressive services were conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. Edw. L. Lacombe, pastor of the Methodist Church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and the floral tributes were many and very beautiful.

The burial was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery, Winchester. She is survived by one son, Mr. Carl Doubleday of Newton.

The burial was at Salisbury, Conn. Mrs. Reid is survived by one daughter.

MEMORIAL SUNDAY

Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., attended services in a body at the Central Congregational Church on Sunday morning, and listened to a stirring patriotic address by the pastor, Rev. Jay T. Stocking. A large section of the church was reserved for the veterans, and the platform was draped with flags. Chaplain Putnam read the scriptures, and the musical program was patriotic in character, the choir being assisted by a trumpeter, who also sounded "taps" before the close.

NEWSPAPERS AND THE POSTOFFICE

From Mr. Burleson's attitude towards the newspapers it is manifest that he has not yet realized the real problem before him and the postoffice. He need not waste his time and energy in enforcing an inquisitorial and most doubtfully constitutional rider to the appropriation bill, which could never have become law in a straightforward manner. The relations between the postoffice and the newspapers in the matter of second class mail have reached a crisis which will require all the energies of the new Postmaster-General.

Those newspapers published in New York and elsewhere enjoying any considerable out-of-town circulation are in despair. They cannot get the papers delivered in anything like reasonable time. Boston newspapers reach this office sometimes two days or more after they are published, and Philadelphia deliveries are nearly as bad. Many newspapers have abandoned hope of delivery through the usual channels, and have advised former subscribers to get their copies through the news agents, who possess the sense and system the postoffice lacks. Every important newspaper in New York is losing subscribers daily by reason of a postal service which would hardly be tolerated in the most backward country in Europe.

And what is the reason for all this? It arises out of Mr. Hitchcock's fake surplus. That arrangement of humbug was arrived at by holding back at least $9,000,000 rightfully belonging to the railroads, cutting down the already overworked railway mail clerks in numbers by at least 30 per cent., reducing the number of letter carriers in the constantly growing large cities, and especially New York, where the bulk of the revenue is earned, and by enforcing the eight hours' work in ten arrangement voted by Congress, which, with its usual fatality, omitted to make any provision for extra hands to make up for the reduced hours of labor.

Everything, in fact, has been sacrificed to rural free delivery, instituted to catch the farmer's vote, and the new parcel post, which was also expected to work wonders in the way of retaining Mr. Hitchcock and his friends in power. Without additional help, the letter carriers are required to handle the parcels, and also to give them the right of way over newspapers. The consequence is a condition which denies the out-of-town reader what he is paid for and has every right to demand—the delivery of his newspaper while its contents are still fresh.

Little can be gained for the poor subscriber by complaints to the newspapers, which have protested again and again. But if every reader so inconvenienced will make a point of writing directly to his Congressman, some hope may be held for, as our politically run public departments listen to the politician where the private citizen is treated with contempt.

PIANO RECITAL.

Regardless of the excessive downfall of rain during the evening of May twenty-third, a goodly number enjoyed the Piano Recital given by the pupils of Mrs. Carolyn R. Luard, assisted by Miss E. Louise Gehlert, reader, Mr. Edgar Tamplin Child, baritone, and Mr. Oscar Nadeau, accompanist.

Miss Gehlert is a graduate of the Leeland Powers School. Miss Gehlert's selections pleased both young and old. Mr. Child's career began when a boy alto in a London, England, church. Later on, he became a soloist in the Canterbury Cathedral. After taking up Garrison church work in India, he was appointed soloist at St. Peter's Cathedral, Petersburg, South Africa.

Mr. Oscar Nadeau is the director of the College of Applied Harmony in Boston. His work as an accompanist was much appreciated. Mr. Nadeau was formerly professor of Piano, History, Appreciation and Harmony at the New York Virgil Clavier School of Music.

Mrs. Luard was a pupil of Hiram G. Tucker of Boston, and was also supervisor of music at Miss Winsor's School now located in Longwood.

AMONG WOMEN

On Wednesday morning, April 9, Prof. Thos. N. Carver of Harvard concluded the course on Socialism with a lecture on "What is the next thing to do." He considered first what can be done by legislation and then by non-legislation. There should be a redistribution of the unearned wealth he said, and pointed out three forms of unearned wealth, namely that arising from increase in land values, inherited wealth, and the undue profits of monopoly. For the first, he advocated a special form of taxation, for the second, a stricter inheritance tax. In discussing the undue profits of monopoly, he said that the sole economy of the trusts is in its superior bargaining powers. In public service corporations the public fixes the price, and in the same way the people ought to fix the price in private commodities and thus prevent vast sums coming to the promoters. All these measures ought to be set in motion at once, is Prof. Carver's opinion.

More important than any of these measures is the redistribution of human talent. Many occupations are overcrowded while others lack workers. He would have something done to steer men from the overcrowded occupations to those where there is more opportunity. The great fault in education has been that too much attention has been paid to the individual and seeing what he can do, then to studying the world and finding out what is needed and then training men and women for the work that is needed. This work is just as truly social service work, as that which we call by that name, but is in reality philanthropic. Vocational education and vocational guidance will come to the front in the near future and will help to bring about this needed redistribution. A reversal of the educational theory is the first thing to be done. Then he would have people look to the use they make of their incomes, he would restrict immigration and marriage in certain cases. He would substitute literate immigrants for illiterate ones. Offer them enough instruction and they will come. Where we are paying the $1.25 a day, offer $1.50 or $2. It will slightly increase the cost of living, but it will pay. Prof. Carver cited the Kansas "Blue Sky Law," which allows no concern to offer stock for sale that has not been fully looked into by the state inspectors, and stated that such laws must be passed by all states.

For what can be done without legislation he said that is a matter of preaching and teaching. The theme running through his whole talk was this, "He who does less well than he can does ill." Inculcate the principles contained in "Poor Richard's Almanac." There has been too much preaching of the gospel of self-pity. The churches are not doing their work as effectively as are other organizations. There are fifty Sunday schools in Boston energetically teaching this gospel of self-pity.

The lecture was listened to with closest attention and at the close many questions were asked and the discussion lasted far beyond the usual time for closing.

G. F. S. KERMESSE

The Girls' Friendly Society of Grace Church will hold a Kermesse on the lawn in the rear of the Parish House on Thursday, June 5th, from three to ten P. M.

Among the various attractions will be a fancy, household, candy, ice cream and cake tables.

Mystery packages will be on sale at various prices.

At four o'clock a May Pole will be woven by the Candidates.

Cradle songs of the Nation will be presented by the members in the Parish House at 8.15 P. M.

The proceeds of the sale are for the work of the Girls' Friendly Society of Grace Church.

If it rains on Thursday the Kermesse will be postponed until Friday.

ALCOHOL CHAT.

Points for your consideration. We have always had a respect for our business, particularly that part of it which relates to the manufacture of Alcohol. We have earnestly tried since February 2, 1872, to make the products of our Still, (Alcohol and Spirits) the best types of their kind. It is possible now to obtain from leading family Druggists and Grocers, Graves' Grain Alcohol in sealed 8, 16, and 32 ounce bottles, each of which has over the cork a strip of label bearing our firm name signature. If your dealer can't supply you, he is missing an opportunity to give you the best thing made in Alcohol. If he wants to substitute on Alcohol, might he not want to substitute on something else? Ask for what you want and insist on getting it.

OPPOSE WOMAN SUFFRAGE

of today or to the women whom it is proposed to enfranchise. Compare like with like.

Man's work is concerned with affairs which are akin to government, with commerce, with finance, with defense, a realm which lies outside the experience of most women. Woman is vitally concerned with matters in the home or akin to the home. To imply that we need her vote in order to help our larger housekeeping bespeaks a misapprehension of what constitutes municipal housekeeping. As in the home the mother stands for ideals, so in the state woman stands for the creation of public opinion which the voter embodies in law.

It is no answer to say that the men have failed. If they are doing so poorly, what shall we say of the women who have trained them? We have made the men what they are. Our need today is not more voters, but better voters, and if the men have failed, it is because woman has neglected her part in training them to ideals of righteousness which shall be translated at the polls into votes for candidates who stand for that which is true and clean in public life.

WHAT SOME PUPILS LEARNED.

In an article in Suburban Life Magazine for June advocating vocational training in public schools, the following answers from written tests in a city school are cited as showing the lack of thoroughness of modern instruction:

"Panama is a town of Colombo, where they are trying to make an isthmus."

"The Pyramids are a range of mountains between France and Spain."

"The line opposite the right angle in a single right-angled triangle is called the hippopotamus."

"Queen Elizabeth rode a white horse from Kenilworth through Coventry with nothing on, and Raleigh offered her his cloak."

"Tennyson wrote a poem called 'Grave's Energy.'"

"The German emperor is called the Geyser."

"Ben Johnson is one of the three highest mountains of Scotland."
